

Homecoming Day October 21

Enrollment Expected To Hit Record 825; Freshmen Orientated

Orientation Week moved into high gear on the campus of Elizabethtown College Monday following the arrival of about 265 freshmen and 50 transfer students Sunday, September 17.

Freshmen got their first taste of registration lines Monday then hustled off to classes Tuesday, when about 500 upperclassmen reported for registration. Classes convened for everyone Wednesday.

While no registration figures will be available for a few days, it was estimated that total enrollment would reach 825.

A convocation program Sunday afternoon started the parade of planned activities. Supper, vespers, and a reception at the home of President Roy E. McAuley were also part of Sunday's agenda.

Other events scheduled during the week included a Dean's Party, a progressive hike, a square dance, a variety program, and a special program by the ECCA, a religious organization on campus.

Kampus Kapers Day, Saturday, and church services and a concert Sunday rounded out orientation week.

Giving Fund Passes Goal

Financial support received by Elizabethtown College through the College's Third Annual Giving Fund has surpassed the goal of $150,000.00, according to President Roy E. McAuley.

Contributions by alumni, business and industry, the Church of the Brethren, and friends of the College totaled $154,777.32 for the year-long drive, which closed August 31.

Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, Rexmont, served as general chairman of the campaign designed to raise funds to provide needed facilities for the College.

The Church of the Brethren, which owns and operates the College, provided $52,682.64 in support by individual congregations and other Church organizations during the year.

Giving by friends of the College totaled $46,992.02. Business and industrial support amounted to $29,324.71. A total of $25,777.95 was received from alumni of the College.

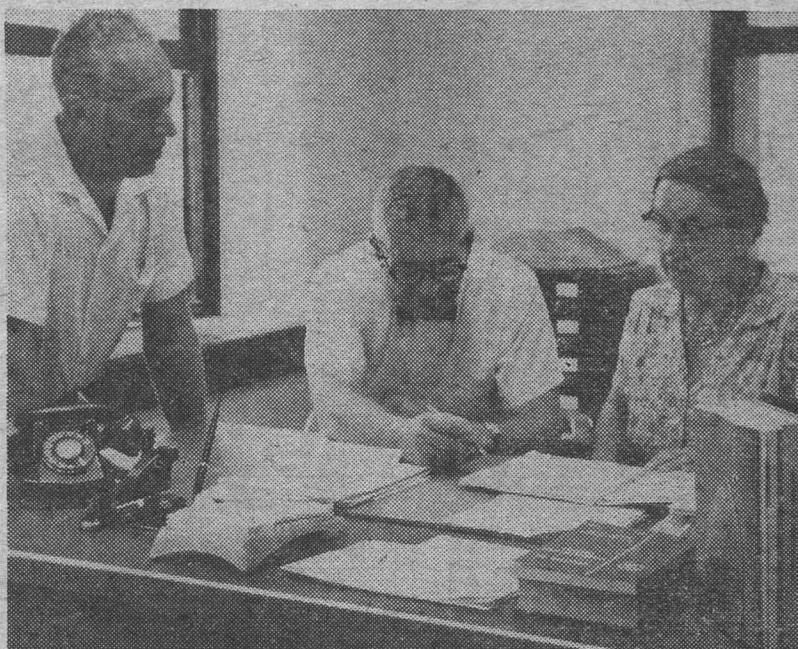

Gifts received during the previous year's campaign totaled $132,041.04.

College Gets Final Approval On Loan

The Community Facilities Administration, Washington, D.C., announced final approval recently of a $1 million loan to the College to help finance two buildings on the campus.

Construction of the buildings, a women's dormitory and a student union building, was begun in July (see page three).

The College received the loan early this year, but the recent action by the government agency was the final approval needed officially.

College To Experiment In Educational Television

Vosburgh To Teach One-credit Course, Intro to Sociology

Elizabethtown College will launch an experimental program of educational television for college credit this fall as part of the "College of the Air" series on WGAL-TV (channel 8), Lancaster.

The course to be offered, Introduction to Sociology, will be presented in 13 half-hour lectures to be telecast Friday mornings from 9:00 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. on channel 8. The first program in the series is scheduled for October 6.

One hour of college credit will be awarded anyone successfully completing the course, which includes two examinations at the College and selected readings.

Anyone wishing to enroll in the course may apply through the Office of Publications at the College before the first lecture.

Course enrollees will be sent a textbook, a book of selected readings, a course outline, a reading list, and instructions on how to get the most out of the lectures. Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh, chairman of the Sociology Department at the College, will conduct the course. Cost for the course will be $10, which includes charges for all books, materials, and administrative expenses.

College officials explained that the program is being undertaken as an experiment to gauge area interest in educational television.

Seventeen Join Staff This Year

Many new faces, an integral phase of every new term, will be seen in various classrooms and offices across the campus as students, professors, administrators, and all other college personnel once again begin the process of acclimating themselves to the college "Grind."

Seventeen people, 14 of whom are joining the faculty, have been added to the faculty-administrative family. A roundup of the recent fulltime staff additions, all announced by Pres. McAuley at intervals during the summer, include the following:

Eugene R. Eisenbise, formerly of Garden City Junior College in Kansas, assistant professor of physics; Paul T. Oliver, who recently completed twenty years of service with the United States Air Force with the rank of Major, assistant professor of business; Dr. H. V. Rao, a recent lecturer at the University of Mysoore and instructor at the University of Pennsylvania, assistant professor of Biology.

Full Day's Program Has Some New Twists

Homecoming Day, 1961, will feature a full day of varied activities, starting with a tug-of-war and ending with a dance, as old and new grads of the College return to campus, Saturday, October 21.

Alumni Head Speaks...

Alumni Everywhere! We are confident you will be delighted with the intensive effort in alumni publicity launched with this issue of the ETOWNIAN.

Ten more are scheduled for this academic year, says Jim Yingst, the college's director of public relations. If you had been with me in his office, when we visited with him last month, you would know Jim is really enthusiastic about this new program.

So keep on the lookout for these Etownians and, what's more, please make it your business to supply information on your own doings as well as those of other alumni. Remember, there is plenty of space to fill in these issues, so let's give out with the material.

This publicity effort caters to basic alumni interests, and should do much to dispel the notion that Alma Mater is mainly interested in financial support. Publicity on this subject has its place and an ever more important place, but it can't fill these issues—not if all of us are sending in the kind of news that all alumni like to read about.

Jim, and Clarence Enterline, our alumni secretary, have promised they will use everything worthwhile they receive from you. So let's put them to the test.

By the way, there will be an

In addition to some of the traditional Homecoming activities, the day's schedule includes some new twists, such as music by the College band and a buggy race by representatives of the various classes.

A luncheon and cafeteria supper will be available in the College Dining Room for returning alumni and parents. Advance reservations are being requested to facilitate planning for these meals.

The annual tug-of-war between the freshmen and sophomores on the shore of Lake Placida will start the day's activities at 10 a.m.

The crowning of the Homecoming Queen is scheduled for 11:15, prior to the women's field hockey game between Elizabethtown and Lock Haven State.

Afternoon activities include a soccer game with Susquehanna University, the buggy race, and music by the band.

Light refreshments will be served as part of the Auxiliary's Bazaar.

All alumni will be asked to register at one of several registration booths to be set up around the campus. The class with the greatest number of returning alumni will be recognized on a plaque denoting Homecoming attendance.

Young Adult Group Supports College

The Young Adult Organization of the Eastern District of the Church of the Brethren recently voted to adopt a proposal which would give financial aid to the College in the amount of $650 per year for two years.

Of this amount, $500 per year will be used toward the furnishing of five rooms in Ober Hall, the new men's dormitory, and $150 will be used to provide two parish grants ($75 each) for pre-ministerial students.

As we see it...

College Sports Require Control And Protection

Not long ago another chapter unfolded in the sorry story of big time gambling's assault on collegiate athletics. A young football player from Oregon University testified before a Congressional committee that he had been approached by gamblers and asked to fix a game against the University of Michigan.

This incident followed the highly publicized scandals that rocked big time collegiate basketball last season.

To their everlasting credit, a number of college athletes, such as the boy from Oregon, have had the courage to resist the pressures of gamblers and the lure of "easy money." The pressures and the temptations, unfortunately, appear to be closely linked to big time sports.

Small college athletics lack the lustre of the "big time." However, they also escape much of the pressure that turns athletes into bribe-takers. And for this we can be grateful.

Intercollegiate athletics, both big time and small time, should continue to occupy a place of prominence in the field of higher education. However, the athletic program of any college must be kept in perspective and not be allowed to become the tail that wags the academic dog.

College sports can serve important and useful purposes. But they must be reviewed critically, controlled carefully, and protected vigorously.

Otherwise we run the risk of breeding more disheartening and shocking gambling scandals.

Relativity Overplayed

We hear that the moral fiber of our society is rotting away. Our Nation's rate of crime and juvenile delinquency has never been so high. Citizens are alarmed to read articles stating that cheating and dishonesty among college students have become more widespread than ever before. They consider these to be the young, educated people of our culture . . . the leaders of tomorrow.

But let the student answer for himself. Cannot this moral degradation be largely explained by our emphasis today upon materialism and the relativity of values? Relative values are stressed to such an extent that it is easy to forget that relativity necessarily implies an absolute. The once eternal values of integrity, sincerity, and honesty are now only relative. Relative to what? To the only absolute left . . . the unconscious absolute value of individual self-will.

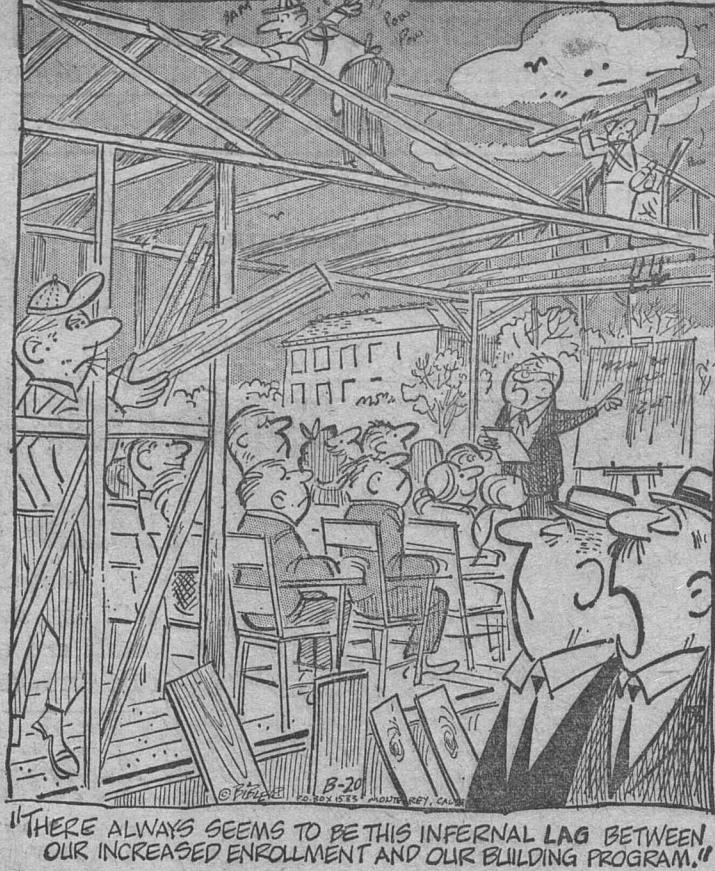

When all the noble values of society are considered to be only relative, how else can they be evaluated but by each individual, himself? Hence we have a society of individuals; each evaluating life for himself at the expense of the relative lack of value of every other individual.

The New Volume

Another school year brings another volume of the ETOWNIAN. Needless to say the staff will strive constantly to provide a newspaper worthy of the publics of Elizabethtown College. Publication schedules have been altered slightly; the staff has seen its yearly change-over; but the paper's purpose and, hopefully, its meaning remain the same.

Letters are welcome as comments, suggestions, and criticisms from faculty, students, administrators, alumni, and friends of the college are genuinely appreciated.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

How To Stay In College Without Much Hard Work

(Ed. Note: The following is taken from the State Press, the newspaper of Arizona State University. We present it as a service to incoming freshmen without comment on its merit.)

(ACP)—"1. Bring the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. Demonstrate fiery interest and give him timely items to mention to the class. If you can't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring any clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.

"2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.

"3. Nod frequently and murmur, 'how true.' To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.

"4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.) If you're going to all the trouble of making a good impression, you might as well let him know who you are, especially in a large class.

"5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell, if he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, that he has told a joke.

"6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.

"7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called by a friend at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.

"8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in Psychology class and vice versa, match the books for size and color.

"9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Conversely avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your younger brothers' second grade reader as that.

"10. Call attention to his writing. Produces exquisitely pleasant experiences connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it.

"As to whether or not you want to do some work, in addition to all this, well, it's controversial and up to the individual."

Alumni Giving Totals 25% of Education's Support in 1959-60

Almost one-fourth of the financial support of American colleges, universities, and independent secondary schools came from alumni, according to the annual report of the American Alumni Council.

The report covers 1959-60 and includes a survey of giving to 804 reporting institutions. Total alumni giving was $179,226,874.

The 690 colleges and universities participating in the AAC survey received $163,097,722 from 1,466,177 alumni.

On the average, private colleges received approximately 45 percent of their total gifts from alumni.

Search For Donated Sun Dial Successful

The case of the missing sun dial has now been solved.

A gift from the Class of 1933, the sun dial seemed to have been mislaid and was generally forgotten until the July, 1959 issue of the Alumni Bulletin. An article in the Bulletin listed all class gifts, and therefore made mention of the time piece.

The absence of such a dial on campus suggested a hunt for it. The search, instigated by Clarence Enterline, alumni secretary, revealed its location in a remote corner of a storage room.

The sun dial, with the inscription, "Moments make the year, and trifles life," was placed on the west side of Gibble Science Hall this summer.

Seven Departments Offer New Courses

Cultural offerings for students have increased for the 1961-62 college year.

A course in History and Appreciation of Art is being offered first semester. The course will be taught by Mr. Henry M. Libhart; credit for two semester hours is given for it.

In the Music Department, Church Music, which was not on the pre-registration schedule, is now being offered first semester. Professor Nevin Fisher will teach the two credit course. Part Singing and Sight Reading, to be taught by Dr. Carl N. Shull, is also being offered by the Music Department.

The new courses offered for the revised elementary education program are World Geography, Elementary Games and Activities, and Health and Hygiene. All are first semester courses.

Augmentation and Debate, a two credit course, will be taught by Mr. Jobie Riley; Mr. James Yeingst will be the instructor for Advanced Journalism.

Mr. Shu Chen Shen is teaching Intermediate Micro-Economic Theory, a new course in the field of Business Administration. New Testament Greek is to be taught by Dr. Carl W. Zeigler.

An additional course in Biology, Taxonomic Ecology of Plants is being offered; Dr. H. V. Rao is the instructor.

In order to ease the scheduling of educational requirements, Practice Teaching, Educational Psychology, and Introduction to Education will be offered both semesters.

New Course Outline Now in Effect For Education Majors

In keeping with the revised state standards, a new course outline is going into effect for members of the freshman class in the field of education.

Beginning this year, the number of semester hours required for a degree in education is similar to the hours required for other degrees.

Previously, requirements for degrees in education amounted to 136 semester hours while requirements for degrees in liberal arts, science, and other four year courses totaled 128 semester hours.

Language and mathematics are now included in the new elementary education program. Professional courses on the whole will come later in the program. This new course outline makes possible a shifting from other curriculum to education with less difficulty.

Upperclassmen in education may change programs but will be required to complete either one full program or the other.

Dr. Berkebile Named Scholarship And Fellowship Officer

A new service to students has been added for the coming year, Pres. Roy E. McAuley announced recently.

Students wanting information on graduate schools may now contact Dr. James M. Berkebile, newly appointed scholarship and fellowship officer. He will also aid students seeking to find ways and means of attending graduate schools.

Dr. Berkebile returned to Elizabethtown recently to resume his position as professor of chemistry. He had taken a two-year leave of absence to serve as a Teacher Education Advisor in Science in implementing and improving the school system in Formosa.

Committee Assignments Announced

Among changes made by Dr. Roy E. McAuley on becoming president of the college in July was a revision of the faculty-administrative committee structure. Committees and assignments were announced several weeks ago.

The Administration Committee, headed by Pres. McAuley, includes Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean of the college, Mr. Earl H. Kurtz, treasurer, Mr. James L. M. Yeingst, director of public relations, and Mr. Edward L. Crill, dean of students.

Other committees and their personnel include the following:

Admissions and Financial Aid—Mr. D. Paul Greene, chairman, Mr. Crill, Miss Emma R. Engle, Prof. Irvin L. Bossler, and Miss Vera R. Hackman.

Instruction—Dr. Hershman, chairman, Miss Engle, and Prof. Edgar T. Bitting.

Library—Prof. Clyde K. Nelson, chairman, Miss Anna M. Carper, Dr. Louise K. Kelly, and Dr. C. S. Apgar.

Athletics—Dr. James M. Berkebile, chairman, Mr. Lester C. Baum, Mr. Donald P. Smith, Miss Jean Anne Rogers, and Prof. Paul T. Oliver.

Cultural Programs—Dr. Carl N. Shull, chairman, Dr. Henry G. Hood, Prof. Mildred H. Enterline, and Prof. Henry M. Libhart.

Special Events and Academic Occasions—Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, chairman, Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh, and Prof. Edith H. Fellenbaum.

Other assignments include Prof. Armon C. Snowden as the Town-Gown representative and Prof. Eugene R. Eisenbise as the Automobile Committee representative.

College Will Share General Food Grant

Elizabethtown College will share in the 1961 grants of $540,000 made to educational institutions and organizations by The General Foods Fund, Inc.

This year's grants bring to more than $3.5 million the aid supplied to education since the Fund was established in 1953, according to Leonard F. Genz, Fund president.

The independent fund, supported by General Foods Corporation, provides financial assistance to colleges and universities, and to organizations fostering excellence in American educational standards. The Fund's support of education is prompted by the belief that the strength of the strength of the educational system is vital to our social and economic welfare, Mr. Genz said.

Since its inception, General Foods Fund has emphasized that the grants are, with few exceptions, unrestricted because it is recognized that educators themselves are in the best position to know how to use most effectively the funds they receive. Based on reports from institutions receiving grants, about half of the funds has been used for faculty salary improvement programs, he said.

A program for matching contributions made by General Foods Corporation employees to United States colleges, universities, and secondary schools also is provided for in the 1961 grants-in-aid program.

Truth is so precious that people seem to prefer to economize with it.

Campus Cultural Programs Begin With Lecture Nov. 8

A fine series of cultural programs will again be available to students, faculty, and the general public for the 1961-1962 academic year.

Retiring chairman of the Lyceum Committee, Professor Nevin W. Fisher, announced that the general setup of the series will be similar to that of last year.

Four of the programs are to be presented during the regular weekly Chapel assembly period in the fellowship hall of the Church of the Brethren. These will be open to Elizabethtown College students and faculty only.

Distinguished philosopher, author and professor at the Sorbonne, University of Paris, Dr. Paul Ricoeur, will be featured in the opening campus cultural program, November 8.

Dr. Ricoeur will visit the campus two days and will be available for informal meetings and lectures in addition to his public lecture.

Other art programs to be presented on campus include a series of studies on Russia by Ernest J. Simmons in February, a discussion on the fine arts by Grant Reynard early in April, and an appearance by the English Consort of Viols from London later in April.

In addition, two major programs will be presented in the Elizabethtown Area High School Auditorium, open to the general public as well as to college students and faculty.

The first of these two programs will take place November 16. The Shakespearean drama, "Taming of the Shrew," is to be given by the celebrated Dublin Gate Theatre of Ireland, making its first tour of America.

A return engagement by the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra is the second program on the agenda for the community programs. This concert is scheduled for March 22.

Construction Proceeding On Schedule

"It is hoped that the new women's residence hall will be under roof before cold weather begins," stated Earl H. Kurtz, Treasurer, in reference to the progress of construction on campus.

"Work on both the women's residence and the student union center is on schedule," continued Kurtz.

With the new residence under roof, progress will continue throughout the winter. The building, a three-story brick structure with facilities for 132 students, is expected to be completed September, 1962. It is located along the Mt. Joy Street edge of the campus at a right angle to Myer Hall.

The bulk of the work on the student union building will be done next Spring; the completion date for this structure is set for January, 1963.

Being built around the present Alumni Gymnasium, the student union center is to be a two-story brick structure with facilities for swimming, bowling, a snack bar, student publications, conference rooms and locker rooms.

From The Desk Of The Alumni Secretary

Let's Communicate

The return of the alumni secretary to campus in September, introduced him to new faculty members, new students, new challenges, a new administration, and extended opportunity to communicate with alumni.

The monthly issuance of the ETOWNIAN to alumni provides an opportunity for the college to keep in timely touch with its constituents. It provides a two-way communication; alumni can submit news articles to the editor, and the college can announce events which interested alumni might wish to attend.

It is hoped that alumni will respond generously to this opportunity with finished news stories, rough drafts, leads and tips about alumni and chapter activities.

The college in turn is now in a position to communicate more intimately and frequently on progress of building construction, changes or additions in curricula, faculty promotions, and college enrollments; in addition, alumni will be informed of new administrative set-ups, modernization of offices through new facilities and equipment, and progress of financial drives.

Informed alumni can always communicate to others more intelligently and enthusiastically about the college than the uninformed.

This first year of the sixties of the college year provides extended opportunities for sharing information.

FOUL LINE FIGURING—Newly appointed coaches of women's sports, Miss Allegra Hess and Miss Jean Ann Rogers, talk over possibilities for lining off the Jaygals new hockey field, located east of Ober Hall.

New Coach Optimistic With Nine Hockey Veterans Back

"I'm very optimistic concerning the coming field hockey season," admitted Coach Jean Anne Rogers.

Miss Rogers, previously head of the junior varsity team will take over the varsity squad formerly coached by Miss Julia Risser. Miss Allegra Hess will be at the helm of the junior varsity team.

Nine varsity letter winners, who helped record last year's impressive record of six wins, one loss, and one tie, are returning to make up a strong nucleus for the 1961 squad.

Competition will be especially keen on the forward line. Five varsity players will be back for more action while several freshmen girls are also expected to be capable of varsity ball.

Returnees on the forward line include: Lois Hartman, junior; Joyce Mease, sophomore; Jean Zarfoss, sophomore, all wings; Sally Wenger, senior, an inner; and Linda Eshelman, junior, center forward.

The Jaygals defense will be held together by four letter winners: Sylvia Ingham, sophomore; Sue Wood, junior, halfbacks; Lois Herr, senior; Janet Myers, senior, both fullbacks. Several junior varsity players and freshmen players of high caliber will be counted on to fill in the remaining defensive positions.

A tentative practice game has been scheduled for the Jaygals on Saturday morning, September 23, against the Blue Ridge Club Team on the college field. Inter-collegiate action will begin September 28 at Dickinson College.

Twelve Co-eds At Hockey Camp

Twelve co-eds attended the annual field hockey clinic at Camp Tegawitha in the Poconos early in September.

Coaches Jean Anne Rogers and Allegra Hess accompanied the girls, all likely prospects for varsity play during the coming season.

The week-end, consisting mainly of practice games against college and club hockey teams, provided an excellent opportunity for conditioning and improving various skills and techniques.

Members of the 1961 field hockey squad who attended the camp were: Martha Eppley, Linda Eshelman, Lois Hartman, Marcia Helms, Lois Herr, Sylvia Ingham, Joyce Mease, Molly Moore, Janet Myers, Sally Wenger, Sue Wood, and Jean Zarfoss.

Departure of Herr, Risser Causes Re-alignment in Coaching Staff

Retirement of Athletic Director Ira R. Herr and the resignation of Miss Julia Risser, coach of women's sports, necessitated a number of coaching changes at Elizabethtown College for the 1961-62 term.

Herr stepped down after serving the college as athletic director for 33 years. Miss Risser, instructor in physical education, is now serving in Europe as a recreation leader for the U. S. Army.

In the new alignment, Lester C. Baum, newly appointed director of athletics, will be coaching the Blue Jays in wrestling and cross country. Baum succeeds Herr in cross country and Dr. Robert A. Byerly, director of religious activities, who was serving as temporary wrestling coach.

Owen L. Wright has been named to fill the gaps left by Herr in baseball and soccer, while Don Smith continues as mentor of the varsity basketball and tennis teams.

Baum, a native of Lebanon County, graduated from Findlay College in Ohio and later received a master's degree from Oklahoma State University. Prior to joining the staff at Elizabethtown, he held coaching positions in wrestling at Kenyon College, Ohio State University, and Worthington (Ohio) High School.

Wright, an instructor in physical education, is an alumnus of Bridgewater College, Va. He has taken graduate work at the University of Alaska and is currently a candidate for the masters degree in physical education at the University of Illinois.

Miss Jean Ann Rogers will replace Miss Risser as head coach of the Jaygal field hockey eleven and Miss Allegra Hess will take over the reins in women's basketball. The two will act as assistants to each other in opposite sports. In addition Miss Hess will coach the women's tennis team and Miss Rogers, the cheerleading squad.

Both have joined the staff as instructors in physical education.

Miss Rogers, formerly a teacher in the Elizabethtown Area Schools, had been junior varsity coach in field hockey and basketball previous to this year. She graduated from this college in 1959 and is currently taking graduate work in physical education at Temple University.

Miss Hess attended Elizabethtown College but took her B.S. degree at Bridgewater College in 1959. For the last two years she had been a teacher at Manheim Central High School. She has begun graduate work at Indiana University.

Thinclads Open Away Sept. 30

Coach Lester Baum, with the help of eight returnees, will be gunning to improve last year's cross country record as the thinclads open at Lincoln U. September 30.

Wilber Gibble, a senior, and Mike Staman, a sophomore, who set the pace for the squad last year, supported by sophomores Bill Drean and Wally Macpherson will form the nucleus of the team.

Losses through graduation include Don Hosler and Lloyd Nyce.

College To Expand Grad Record Exams

The College has expanded its program of offering Graduate Record Examinations to graduating seniors.

These examinations are used to compare our students who complete four years of training at Elizabethtown College with students in similar courses over the country.

In a statement issued this summer, Pres. McAuley noted that our students compare excellently. "This is the first year we offered the GRE's to our education majors," he explained, "and we were especially happy at their fine showing—our education majors ranked well above the average for the country."

The president added that similar testing programs will reach into all major academic areas.

Publications Setup Revised

Several changes have been made in the College's publications setup for the 1961-62 college year.

Separate editions of the ETOWNIAN will be circulated on campus and among the alumni from September to May. A campus edition will be issued on campus only, twice monthly, while the alumni edition, with more emphasis on alumni news and information, will be mailed out once a month. During June and July one ETOWNIAN will be published for the entire circulation each month.

The CAMPUS CRIER has been dropped in favor of the campus ETOWNIAN, which, after today's edition, will be issued Fridays.

Academic Tiff Pits Students vs. Research

Dr. Raymond Pepinsky, research professor of physics at The Pennsylvania State University, blew up a bit of an academic tiff recently when he stated that "the function of the university is research. . . . Students are secondary to the purpose of the university."

The Penn State newspaper, the Collegian, replied in a feature article, which reads in part:

"In the past 75 years technological and theoretical research have expanded man's knowledge of his universe, and of himself, more than would have been dreamed of some 200 years ago."

"As the bounteous gifts of the fruits of research have reached greater heights so, too, has the esteem in which we hold the endeavor known as research."

"This growing esteem is to be fully expected. The growth of esteem becomes dangerous at only one point—when it reaches the stage of deification."

"When research attempts to replace other functions (such as teaching) by merely asserting its vast powers of the purse and of scientific influence, at this point it is time for a few well-considered objections."

Trustees OK Budget, Lease Cameron Estate

The Board of Trustees of Elizabethtown College approved a budget of $1,350,000 and approved a plan to lease the historic Cameron Estate October 7 during their annual meeting at the College.

The record budget for 1961-62 is $114,000 higher than the $1,236,000 budgeted for last year.

The Board gave formal approval to a 20-year lease of the Cameron Estate, near Donegal, to the Downingtown Special Schools, which give individualized training for mentally retarded children up to 12 years of age.

The Estate, an historic landmark in the area, was purchased by the College in June with the understanding that it would be used for educational purposes. The property, once the home of two cabinet members under Presidents Lincoln and Grant, is part of a William Penn land grant.

All officers of the board were re-elected for another year. They are: Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, Elizabethtown, chairman; Rev. Noah S. Sellers, Lineboro, Md., vice-chairman, and Miss Martha Bucher, Lancaster, secretary.

The Board heard reports by Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the College, and his chief administrative officers.

President McAuley reported that construction of two new buildings on the campus is proceeding well. One structure, a dormitory for 130 women, is scheduled for completion in September, 1962. The other, a student union center, will be completed later next year.

Members of the Board's standing committees for the next year are as follows:

Executive Committee—Dr. Kettering, Rev. Sellers, Miss Bucher, Attorney S. S. Wenger, Lancaster, and Dr. Horace E. Raefensperger, Elizabethtown.

Finance—Dr. I. Wayne Keller, Lancaster; Dr. Frank S. Carper, Cassel, Lititz.

Prodigal Son Story For Traveling Play

"And He Came to His Father," this semester's traveling play, will have its debut performance Sunday evening, October 22, in the York First Church of the Brethren.

The story of the prodigal son, Benjamin, is told through the eyes of his elder brother, Mordacai. Especially well-portrayed is the effect which Benjamin's unexpected return has on his brother.

William Fike will portray Mordacai; Henry List is cast as Benjamin. William Cave is the father; Elizabeth Hersherberger is Rachel. Linda Logan as Deborah completes the cast.

Other Churches of the Brethren where the play will be presented are: Quakertown, Oct. 29; Ephrata, Nov. 5; Myerstown, Nov. 12; Carlisle, Nov. 19; Codorus, Dec. 3; Huntingdon, Dec. 10; Pleasant View, Jan. 7; Midway, Jan. 14.

The play is directed by Professor Mildred H. Enterline. Itinerary was planned by Dr. Robert A. Byerly.

Palmyra; D. C. Stambaugh, Queens, N.Y.; Cyrus G. Bucher, Biglerville, and Eli Stoltzfus, Phoenixville.

Buildings and Grounds—Paul Grubb, Elizabethtown; Chester Royer, York; D. Kenneth Hollinger, Lemoine; Howard Merkley, Manheim, and Jacob Miller, York.

Nominations—Dr. Kettering, Dr. McAuley, J. Aldus Rinehart, New York; Norman K. Musser, Mountville, and Mrs. Franklin Cassel, Lititz.

Twenty-five Years of Service Rendered by Joseph Kettering

by LINDA ESHELMAN

Rounding out his twenty-fifth year as a member of the Board of Trustees for Elizabethtown College is Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, Chairman of the Board since October, 1954.

Dr. Kettering is a graduate of Elizabethtown College, Class of 1923. He was the first student to receive a B.S. in Economics here.

After graduate work at Columbia and New York Universities, Dr. Kettering soon entered the profession of Public Accounting. He received his degree of Certified Public Accountant in 1930 by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

In 1936, Kettering was called to fill the unexpired term of a member of the Board of Trustees who passed away, S. H. Hertzler. In 1954, Dr. Kettering succeeded Rufus Bucher as Chairman of the Board.

Only one other member of the Board of Trustees, Noah S. Sellers, is able to boast such a long, impressive record of service.

Until this summer, Dr. Kettering never missed a single meeting during his twenty-five years as a Trustee. A trip around the world accounted for his absence during the summer meeting. He received, however, four Air Mail letters while in Istanbul, Turkey, concerning the discussions made at the meeting.

Also quite active in the Alumni Association of Elizabethtown College, Dr. Kettering served as its Treasurer for twenty-five years as well as its President.

He received his honorary degree of Doctor of Commercial Science from Elizabethtown College in 1958 and is at the present time General Partner of the Harrisburg Office of Main and Company.

Community Play

Scheduled Nov. 16

The Shakespearean drama, "Taming of the Shrew," will be given by the Dublin Gate Theatre of Ireland on November 16 as the first of two community cultural programs sponsored by the college.

Making its first tour of America, the celebrated theatre group will present the play in the Elizabethtown Area High School Auditorium.

The production is open to all alumni and friends of the College at a cost of $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students.

A second community program is scheduled for March 22, when the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra will appear in the High school auditorium for a return engagement.

Curtain time for "Taming of the Shrew" is 8 p.m.

Scheduled for 10:45 a.m., the ceremony will take place in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren, adjacent to the college campus.

The inauguration will officially designate Dr. McAuley as the ninth president of the college. McAuley began his work as president July 1.

Dr. Derthick, former United States Commissioner of Education in the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare during the Eisenhower Administration, has been an active educator for 33 years.

Prior to becoming Commissioner of Education, a post he held from 1956 to 1961, Derthick served in an administrative capacity in the public schools of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Nashville, Tenn.; Clarksville, Tenn.; and Greene County, Tenn.

Some of his governmental responsibilities include membership on the United States National Commission of UNESCO, Vocational Rehabilitation and Education Advisory Committee to the administrator of the V-

Alumni Chapter Heads Meet To Plan Year's Program

Seventeen representatives from six alumni chapters and three members of the college administration heard K. Ezra Bucher speak on the "Image of Elizabethtown College" on October 7. These representatives met to share their experiences in program planning and to consider possible programs for the year 1961-62.

"Through alumni," said Mr. Bucher, "the public forms an image of Elizabethtown College and the graduate." There are many facets to this image: social, cultural, service, intellectual, and religious.

He indicated also that chapter programs should encourage not only fellowship, but strengthen inter-chapter relationships, define more clearly common objectives, share experiences, and improve in communication.

Following Mr. Bucher's keynoting, Dr. Norman F. Reber, president of the Alumni Association, conducted a buzz session. Numerous projects and programs were proposed. Among them were the selection of college department heads to bring alumni up to date on curricula; put a good program "on the road" to travel among the chapters; form student-loan committees; have college representatives tell what goes on in college counseling and how to keep students in college.

The group was interested, too, in exploring alumni talent. Chapters were encouraged to consider the general theme, "Alumni in the Making."

After the buzz session, representatives attended luncheon in Myer Hall as guests of the college.

From the Lancaster Chapter were Prof. Edgar T. Bitting, '50, vice president of the Alumni Association; Anna Carper, '41, secretary of the Alumni Association; Donald Ruhl, '55, member of the alumni council; Ralph Musser, '49, president, Lancaster chapter; K. Ezra Bucher, keynoter; Mrs. Mary Emenheiser, '38, secretary, Lancaster chapter; Mrs. Charlotte Garman, '41, member of the alumni council; Paul Grubel, Jr., '55, vice president, Lancaster chapter; Ed Ball, '47, member of the alumni council.

From the York chapter, Donald Neiser, '49, past president; Elmer Gleim, president; Dr. Norman F. Reber, '30, president of the Alumni Association; Mrs. Phyllis Poff, '53, secretary-treasurer, York chapter.

Queen To Reign At Homecoming

Homecoming Day, 1961, will feature a full day of varied activities starting with the traditional mud fest, the tug of war, and ending with a dance at the Treadway Inn, Lebanon.

Coronation of the Homecoming Queen is scheduled for 11:15 a.m. prior to the women's field hockey game between Elizabethtown and Lock Haven State.

The Homecoming Queen and her court will reign over the Homecoming Dance as well as the soccer and hockey games. Entertainment has been scheduled during halves of both games.

An all-campus Homecoming Queen election will take place Monday, Oct. 16, in the college store. Polls will be open all day.

The girl receiving the highest number of votes will be chosen as the Homecoming Queen. The other girls will compose her court.

The six candidates for the Homecoming Queen are:

Phyllis E. Gladfelter, '65, a medical secretarial science student from Merrick, Long Island, N. Y., is a member of the Student Senate and also the college cheerleading squad.

Joan A. Pell, '64, a medical secretarial science student from Abington, Pa., was a cheerleader in high school and also an active Thespian.

Susan J. Wade, '64, an elementary education major, from Merrick, Long Island, N. Y., is a member of the Student Senate and also the college cheerleading squad.

Molly K. Moerschbacher, '63, a business administration major from Camp Hill, Pa., and a talented pianist, is working toward a C.P.A. career.

Elizabethtown College this year has an enrollment of 801 fulltime students and 38 part-time students, the highest total in the history of the college, Miss Emma R. Engle, registrar, announced recently. Of the fulltime enrollment of 801, 605 are boarding students and 196 are commuters.

New students total 317, of which 51 are transfers. These facts and figures signify a higher percentage of returning students than in previous years.

Contrary to consensus of opinion, men students still outnumber women. This year there are 437 men and 364 women.

In class distribution, the freshmen lead with 274 students. The sophomores follow closely behind with 266 enrolled members. The remaining two classes, the juniors and the seniors, have 143 and 118 members, respectively.

Some 30 medical secretarial and secretarial science students are enrolled, this group being the last to begin this field of study.

The student body represents various sections of the United States and some foreign countries. Pennsylvania and New Jersey, with 676 and 89 students respectively, lead the state enrollments. Both Maryland and New York each have 10 representatives. The remaining students are distributed among eight states, Washington, D. C., Africa, and Japan.

A PROFILE

President Is Interested As Well As Interesting

By LOIS HERR

Enthusiasm, ability, hard work, long hours—these are by-words for Elizabethtown College's new president, Dr. Roy E. McAuley.

Dr. Roy E. McAuley

Very much a part of college life, he keeps informed on campus activities, but misses the actual contact he had with the students and faculty as dean of the college.

Difficult as it is for him to know every student, Dr. McAuley is interested as well as interesting.

Dr. McAuley's duties are now generally confined to the realm of public contact and in this Dr. McAuley enters what he calls the exciting world of selling the college. Appearing before many individuals and groups, he tells the story of Elizabethtown College.

Every college president has dreams for his institution. Dr. McAuley intends to make this the best school in the state for the type of students who attend it.

An impossible scheme? With the progress the college is experiencing and the promised developments, it would not seem so. The opportunity is here to really do things, according to Dr. McAuley. He believes that the school has every element essential to success, including the proper type of students.

Was this a long-standing dream? Did Dr. McAuley study with the ambition of becoming a college president? Although he did plan a career in college administration, he did not basically intend to become a president. He feels this opportunity that has come is a challenge.

In the spare time that he does find, Dr. McAuley keeps up in his academic field, English. He has a background which includes service in the ministry and in education.

His teaching experience began in the public schools of Omaha, Nebraska, where he taught for two years prior to joining the faculty of McPherson College in Kansas. He remained at McPherson from 1949-52 as assistant professor of English. After several years in the ministry, concurrent with graduate studies, he took a position at Northern State Teachers College, South Dakota, as assistant professor of English.

Dr. McAuley and his wife, the former Arlene Nicholson, have three children: two teenagers, Arthur V. and Mark R.; and a younger daughter, Anne C. In adjusting to his new life, Dr. McAuley has not found time for his hobby, carpentry, but he does find opportunities to relax and work on various outside projects.

ESPECIALLY FOR ALUMNI..

By DR. NORMAN F. REBER
President, Alumni Association

A college girl of our acquaintance argued it was not necessary to go to a church-related college to take courses in Bible and study religion. She could do this at a large non-Christian university. Her boy friend strongly agreed.

We granted this was undeniable, but that these were not the most vital contributions of a church-related college, important as these courses are. More far-reaching are the character and faith of the faculty, who teach all the subjects, we observed.

A faculty of skeptics and atheists will influence students adversely, even though they do not actually teach their own beliefs. By the same token, teachers who live by a Christian faith will help their students develop a faith in God, whether they are teaching science, mathematics or any other subjects. Even the faculty of a church-related college have a few skeptics or atheists, but at least the weight of the teachers' personal influence is Christian.

So alumni do share in the glorious task of passing down the Christian heritage when they support Elizabethtown College. You also have a legitimate and vital interest in knowing to what extent this heritage is actually emphasized on the campus.

Certain religious groups in this country seek substantial sums of federal tax money to operate their schools. This looks good on the surface, as it is stated that moneys will be available to all church schools, regardless of denomination. Reliance on such financing will inevitably lead to government control of the nature of the curriculum. Alumni support insures free and unfettered teaching and a Christian influence in the faculty.

Tax dollars, too, are always contingent on legislative appropriation of some kind or another, so they are never certain. Alumni interest, if it is properly cultivated by the college administration, will be there so it is a sure rock on which a college can build.

For example, there has been agitation for some years for a school of veterinary medicine at The Pennsylvania State University, but this cannot be a reality unless the State Assembly votes the funds.

But only several weeks ago we saw the results of support from alumni and friends of a university. We witnessed the ground breaking for two new buildings at the School of Veterinary Medicine, University of Pennsylvania. The combined estimated cost ran over a million dollars. There is great might in the combined strength of these alumni and friends.

WHERE THE BOYS ARE(IN MAINE OR FLORIDA OR TIMBUKTU)

In the dual role of placement director and alumni secretary, I have an opportunity to discover where alumni are. Meeting representatives of business, industry and government at regional conferences gives me the opportunity to meet employers and learn of alumni performances on jobs.

In a recent meeting of Middle Atlantic Placement Officers Association at Mt. Pocono, Pa., I learned about many of our alumni in business, industry and government. The Pennsylvania Institutional Teacher Placement Association meets annually in Harrisburg. Here, too, I hear about our alumni in the teaching profession.

On the local level, I secure information first-hand through the Lancaster County Administrators Association, which meets monthly. In representing Elizabethtown College at these meetings, I learn where our alumni are and what impact they are making in their communities, wherever "the boys are."

Here is some information about the class of 1961. On the basis of 43 per cent return of a questionnaire, 15 graduates are employed outside Pennsylvania; thirty-seven graduates are working within the state. Twenty-one of the 52 students reporting gave their initial salaries.

Concert Choir Set For Another Season

by ANNE KEUHNELIAN

The Elizabethtown College Concert Choir, under the direction of Professor David P. Willoughby, is a select music group on the campus. This choir sings primarily sacred music for presentation in the churches of the area, but it will also prepare some light, secular music for performance in high school assemblies during the second semester.

Music activities for the Concert Choir this year are many and varied. First semester the choir will provide special music for Dr. R. E. McAuley's inauguration; will, in conjunction with the Choral Union, present a concert on November 19, and during the Christmas season will present a Christmas concert and record a half-hour tape for use over television station WGAL.

The choir is also responsible for a vesper service at the Eastern District Conference of the Church of the Brethren.

Second semester the choir will begin traveling and will present four out-of-town Sunday concerts, a week-end tour, and a six-day tour. The choir will also participate, along with the other music organizations on campus, in a May Day Evening Music Concert.

Officers for the 1961-62 Concert Choir are Dale Kilhefner—President, Glenn Bucher—Business Manager, Marilyn Brubaker—Secretary-Treasurer, Lorraine Murphy, Ed. Beardslee—Representatives.

Matching Plan Provides Funds For U.S. Colleges

The number of corporate alumnus and gift matching programs organized by business and industry in the United States continues to increase to provide millions in funds for the colleges and universities of the nation.

The Aetna Life Affiliated Companies have introduced a plan of matching and incentive corporate payments. Under their program, Aetna Companies will match the contribution made by an employee up to a maximum of $500 in a calendar year.

The incentive feature provides that Aetna Companies will increase by 25 percent the matching payment to institutions which are receiving contributions from more than half of their alumni. The companies' contribution would then be $1.25 for each dollar given by an employee.

Aetna employees need not have attended the college to which contributions are made. Aetna will also match payments made by wives of employees in her own name, as well as by the employee himself.

The Ford Motor Company introduced a gift matching plan in 1960 which includes a special feature for certain institutions. Company contributions are made to eligible colleges and universities on a matching basis of one dollar for each dollar contributed by an employee up to a maximum of $5,000 each year.

As to any contribution made to a private college or university, Ford will contribute an additional dollar for each dollar contributed by an employee up to a maximum of $1,000 each year. Accordingly, the company's matching contributions relating to an individual employee's aggregate contributions to a private institution in any calendar year could amount to as much as $6,000.

The General Electric Foundation reported an amount of $304,738 in contributions matched by G. E. during the 1960 calendar year. A total of 6,638 G. E. employee-contributors were reported. The G. E. summary showed there are 33,617 potential employee donors who could qualify to have contributions to higher education matched by G. E.

The number of institutions which benefited in 1960 totaled 509, including 387 private and 122 tax supported colleges and universities.

According to the six-year summary of the General Electric Corporate Alumnus Program, there have been 625 participating institutions receiving a total of $1,412,886.43 in contributions matched.

Some 130 participating companies will be listed periodically in the alumni edition of the ETOWNIAN.

Brethren, which has gained wide circulation during the last few years.

In addition to her duties in the new position, Mrs. Fisher teaches courses in Christian education at Elizabethtown College where she is an assistant professor of Bible and philosophy.

The lure of gold induced an estimated 40,000 pioneers to cross the continent to reach California in the year 1849 alone.

Cassel, Dr. Horace E. Raffensperger, Noah S. Sellers, Chairman Dr. Joseph Kettering, Dr. Roy E. McAuley, Miss Martha Bucher, Mrs. Christopher Papson; second row

(l. to r.) Dr. Galen C. Kilhefner, Howard A. Merkey, Chester H. Royer, Earl H. Kurtz, J. Aldus Rinehart, Samuel S. Wenger, Norman K. Musser; third row (l. to r.) Carl G. Herr, Cyrus G. Bucher, Paul M. Grubb, D. Kenneth Hollinger, John F. Sprenkel, S. Clyde Weaver.

Drama Schedule In Full Swing; Rehearsals Start

Dramatic production for the fall semester is in full swing, according to Professor Mildred Enterline, director of dramatics. Most of the plays have been selected and three are already beginning rehearsals.

R. H. Ward's "The Figure on the Cross," last semester's Easter traveling play, will be presented at Bedford Springs on Oct. 15. The drama unfolds the seven last words of Christ against a modern background.

"And He Came to His Father," by Erna Kruckemeyer, tells the familiar story of the prodigal son from the not-so-familiar elder brother's point of view. So far 10 engagements have been planned, the first being Oct. 22.

"The Matchmaker," a comedy by Thornton Wilder, was selected and cast last May. It will be given Saturday, Oct. 28, in the Elizabethtown High School auditorium.

"The Blind Men," by Michel de Ghelderode, will be presented Saturday, Nov. 4, at a meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma (a women's honorary education fraternity) in the Harrisburg Hotel.

The Christmas play, which will be presented in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren, has not yet been selected.

Students interested in trying out for those plays not yet cast should watch the call board outside of Prof. Enterline's office in Memorial Hall for announcements of time and place.

Campus Prayer

Our Eternal Father, to thee we give thanks for thy love and compassion, truth and wisdom, and faithfulness and understanding. Beginning this school term, we seek thy help in finding wisdom for our academic work, patience for our understanding, and purpose for our lives. May our hope rest in thy love, for His sake, Amen.

MAN WITH LONG NAME

Americans Can't Pronounce His Name; New Biology Prof. Solves Problem

Few people realize that the full name of the new assistant professor of biology at Elizabethtown College is Dr. Honnudeke Venkobara Ramakrishnarao. Most student and faculty members know him simply as Dr. Rao. Dr. Rao, who shortened his name to simplify pronunciation for Americans, explained the derivation of his name.

Honnudeke is the family name derived from the locality where the family originated. Venkobara is the christened name of his father, and Ramakrishnarao is the name that would correspond to the English first name. Rama and Krishna stand for reincarnation of two Indian gods, and Rao is a term of respect which is often added to a name.

Dr. Rao came from Mysore, Mysore State, India, where he received his Bachelor's degree (1949) and his Master's degree (1950) in Botany and taught from 1950-55.

Dr. Rao came to the University of Pennsylvania in September, 1956. Here he completed his doctoral work in Developmental Botany. He will officially receive his Ph.D. in May, 1962.

Dr. Rao was recently joined by his wife, Padma, and their three children. They now live in Elizabethtown, where the boys, Ananth and Murali, attend first and second grades respectively, and the girl, Asha, kindergarten. Although none knows English as yet, Dr. Rao reports that they are picking up words and phrases quickly.

The Raos have been impressed by the informality and friendliness of the Americans. They find the people of Elizabethtown especially outgoing. They have encountered so many strange customs that they can't begin to name them all.

Mrs. Rao is learning to cope with modern appliances and to adjust to the problems of preparing and eating the food available.

Dr. Rao was educated in English, which gives him an advantage over many Indians. He is afraid, however, that he will grow careless of his pure English and lapse into American, a corrupted form of English.

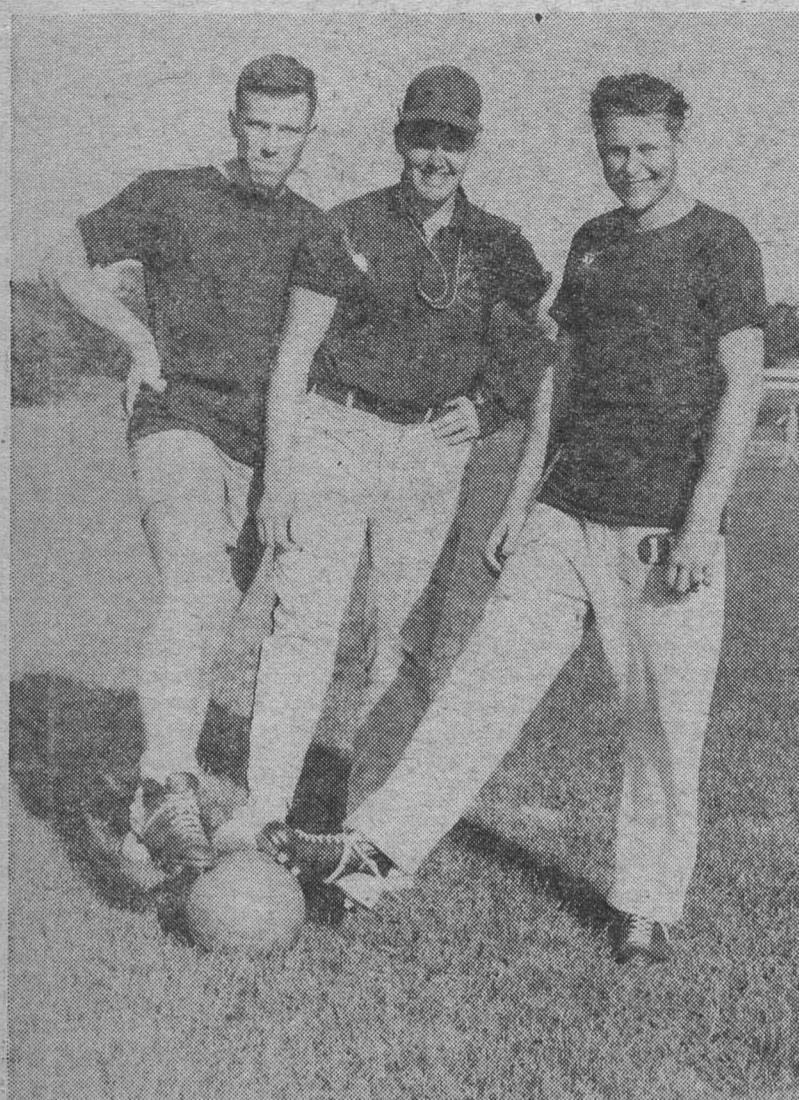

Dr. Rao's hobbies include tennis and photography. His principal subjects in photography are botanical specimens. He uses these slides for class work. At the moment he is enlarging his collection of slides of American plants.

BEST FOOT FORWARD—New soccer coach Owen L. Wright poses between two of his stalwarts, Ron Shubert and Bob Lash. Both of the veteran booters are seniors.

New Soccer Mentor Jack-of-all-Trades

by Ed Sieber

The welcome mat is out for Mr. Owen Wright, head soccer coach at Elizabethtown College.

by FISKE MARTIN

New faces are popping up all over the campus this fall.

We have a new President, seventeen new faculty members, and we are in the process of constructing two new buildings.

The men's Athletic Department claims two of the Institution's newest educators.

The soft spoken man with the tattered hat is gone. The affable coach is now teaching and coaching at the Patton School.

His position is now being filled by Lester Baum, formerly of Kenyon College, and Owen Lee Wright, who hails from Bridgewater College.

Baum is a dynamo of energy. The new Athletic Director is usually found somewhere between his office in South Hall and the far end of Gym Road.

When he is not marking off a new field or helping to revamp the College intramural program, he is working the cross country team into top shape.

Baum's new counterpart, Wright, is a quiet man with a ready smile. His first weeks on the E-town campus have been spent with the soccer team.

Wright is an advocate of the "run them into the ground school." Look for the Jay booters to be the best conditioned team in the area.

We may be perching on a thin limb, but we'll take a chance and predict another great year on the soccer field. Replacing All-Americans like Warner Cheeks and Carroll Her-

Mr. Wright is a native of Bridgewater, Virginia and a graduate of Bridgewater College where he earned a B.A. degree. He also attended the University of Illinois where he obtained an M.S. degree. Since then he has attended the University of Alaska.

Coach Wright is a jack-of-all-trades in the sports world, both in the participation and the coaching aspects of sports. In college at Bridgewater he played two years of football and four years of baseball.

In addition to this, he coached the JV basketball team for two years. He was awarded the sportsmanship trophy his senior year at the Virginia school. While he taught school in Virginia he also coached the baseball, football, and basketball teams. When he finds time, he plays sandlot baseball and football.

Mr. Wright is married and has a 2½ year old daughter. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wright belong to the Church of the Brethren and are very active in church affairs.

The Wrights are very fond of the out-of-doors and they do much traveling. They are keen campers and enjoy their trips immensely with the convenience of their own tent.

The coach has also served his time in the armed forces. He spent three years in the Coast Guard during the Korean Conflict and saw duty in Virginia and California.

Mr. Wright says, "I like Elizabethtown very much; it is very similar to my home town and college."

shey is not an easy job, but a year's experience for Frank Zimmerman, Al Hershey, and Jeff Bensing, plus the acquisition of several good freshmen, will help fill the gap left by graduation.

Three Fall Athletic Teams Bag Early Season Victories

Booters Win First 3; Jaygals Unscored Upon

Elizabethtown College's three fall athletic teams jumped off to fine starts in the new season, posting a combined record of eight wins and one loss as of October 11.

The women's field hockey squad is undefeated in four outings, the soccermen copped their first two decisions, and the cross country crew has lost once in three tries.

Coach Jean Ann Rogers' hockey Jaygals have fared best to date. In racking up victories over Dickinson, East Stroudsburg, Lebanon Valley, and Moravian in that order, they have yet to be scored upon. Their slate shows 25 goals to the opposition's 0.

MORAVIAN MAULED

Tuesday the Jaygals pounded out their most decisive win so far when they trounced Moravian 12-0 at Bethlehem. Linda Eshelman led the scoring rampage with five counters.

Miss Eshelman also racked up three goals in a 4-0 conquest of Lebanon Valley and five in a season-opening victory over Dickinson.

Freshman Charlotte Emich banged in the only tally in Elizabethtown's triumph over traditionally tough East Stroudsburg.

KICKERS GET REVENGE

The soccer squad of Coach Owen Wright gained sweet revenge Saturday when they swamped Bucknell 7-1 here. Bucknell had caused the only blur on last year's record.

Jerry Botdorf, junior from Millerstown, accounted for three of the markers, one of them unassisted. Tony McGloughlin, freshman from McClure; Al Hershey, Gordonsville sophomore, and Ron Shubert, Chambersburg senior, also netted goals.

In their opener the soccermen had pounded out a 5-2 victory over Lycoming.

THINCLADS WIN TWO

The Blue Jay cross country team, after dropping a 22-35 decision to Lincoln University in their first meet, came through with wins over Moravian (26-30) and Albright (20-39) to stand at two and one.

Bill Drean, sophomore from Norwich, Connecticut, has set the pace for the Blue Jay harriers in all three meets having finished first in the two victories. Mike Stamen, sophomore from Columbia, and Wilbur Gibble, York senior, have also posted early showings in the first three meets.

Jay Booters Rally To Nip LaSalle 3-1

Two fourth period goals, one by Al Hershey and one by Tony McGloughlin, broke a 1-1 deadlock enabling the Blue Jay soccer team to grind out its third consecutive victory of the young season, October 11 at LaSalle.

After a scoreless first half, Frank Zimmerman tallied in the third period to match a LaSalle goal and set the stage for McGloughlin's tie breaker.

Pressure Is On Blue Jay Soccermen

Although all athletic teams experience pressure at one time or another, it is especially felt this year in soccer by "rookie" Coach Owen L. Wright.

His team will be trying to live up to a pile of laurels garnered by Blue Jay soccer clubs during the last few years.

Last year the Jays banged out a 10-1-1 record enroute to the NAIA co-championship, which they now share with Newark College of Engineering as a result of a 2-2 four-overtime tie in the finals held at Slippery Rock State College.

Two years ago Elizabethtown had a 9-1-2 mark in capturing the Middle Atlantic Conference crown and narrowly missing the NAIA championship with a 4-3 loss to Pratt Institute in the finals.

Over the last four years the Blue Jays have compiled an over-all record of 35 victories, six defeats, and three ties.

Co-captains Al Hershey and Fred Seltzer lead a crew of eight lettermen who are back to form a nucleus of this year's squad. Hershey is a lineman and Seltizer, a fullback.

The other veterans include linemen Jeff Bensing, Gerry Botdorf, Ron Shubert, and Bob Lash and defensemen Frank Zimmerman and Ray Diener (goalie).

Some non-lettering holdovers and several outstanding freshmen are expected to fill the gaps.

"We have a real fine bunch of boys, and they've been working pretty hard," Coach Wright said Wednesday. "There have been a few muscle pulls, but I think we'll be ready for Lycoming."

During early rehearsals Wright has been stressing a running game featuring the short pass and ball control.

Ira R. Herr Named Coach at Patton

Ira Herr, recently retired coach and Athletic Director at E-town, has taken over the athletic reins at the Patton School here in Elizabethtown.

Herr, who spent thirty years developing the College's inter-collegiate program, will be coaching basketball and baseball and teaching history at the local school.

Alumni Council Accepts Three Committee Reports

Alumni Day, student loans, nominations, talented alumni, and continuing education were the chief items of business handled at Alumni Council Meeting held October 20, 1961, in the Alumni Office at the College.

The group took official action to share, for the first time, proceedings of the meeting with the Alumni Association's total membership.

Discussion centered primarily on the reports of three standing committees — Public Relations, Alumni Day, and Nominations.

President Norman F. Reber opened the meeting with prayer.

Council accepted the report of the Public Relations Committee, which recommended the following:

— Send summarized minutes to alumni.

— Student Loan Committee should promote its plans.

— Encourage integration of activities on Homecoming Day and Alumni Day — students, faculty, alumni.

— Find talented alumni; use them or exhibit their work on special occasions.

— Encourage "continuing education" among alumni. Campus instructors give lecture on Alumni Day or hold great books institute.

The Alumni Day Committee reported on activities scheduled for June 2, 1962:

Classes especially encouraged to attend Alumni Day in 1962 are '02, '07, '12, '22, '26, '27, '28, '37, '46, '47, '48, and '52.

9:30-11:30—Registration, coffee hour, music

10:30—Combined faculty and alumni exhibits

10:30—The curriculum at work — professors give overview of courses

12:00—Recognition luncheon for Dr. & Mrs. Ralph W. Schlosser

2:00—Baseball game
Campus slides

2:45—Dr. McAuley address

4:30—Class reunions:
Classes of 20's — Social Room, Alpha Hall

Classes of 40's and '52—Lobby, Myer Hall

Golden and Silver anniversary classes, disposition to be determined

6:00-8:00—Senior, Alumni Banquet

8:00—Social period—Lobby, Myer Hall

Dance to be determined

Nominations submitted by the Nominating Committee for the election of officers to be conducted in the Spring included the following names:

Vice President — Charlotte Markey, J. Albert Seldomridge, Hiram Frysinger.

Female Council Member — Patricia Kratz, Pearl (Brock) Rissner, and alternates Nancy Kurtz, Romaine Dusman, and Anna M. Kepner.

Male Council Member — G. Book Roth, Paul Rice, and Curtis Dubble.

Trustee — David Markey, M. Alexander Glasmire, and Jay Eshleman.

Secretary — Elsie Kilhefner, Mrs. Wilbur Weaver, and alternates Anna L. Schwenk, Cora (Spangler) Dubble, and Edna

2 New Members, Seven Returnees On Trustee Board

Two Lancaster County men, have been named to the Board of Trustees at Elizabethtown college, according to Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, chairman of the board.

Carl G. Herr, esquire, 1031 Woods Ave., Lancaster, and Rev. Norman L. Bowers, 60 Elizabeth St., Landisville, will begin three year terms on the board on January 1, 1962.

Herr, a lawyer since 1945, was elected to trusteeship by the Alumni Association of the College. He graduated from Elizabethtown in 1938 and Dickinson School of Law in 1941; he began his practice in Lancaster County after serving in the United States Navy.

Herr was president of the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association during the 1955-56 term.

Bowers, executive vice president of the First National Bank of Landisville, will represent the Eastern District of the Church of the Brethren on the Board of Trustees.

He has been with the Landisville bank since 1924 and was named to the ministry of the Church of the Brethren at Salunga, in 1942.

Seven present members were re-elected to the Board:

Paul M. Grubb, Elizabethtown; J. Aldus Rinehart, West Englewood, N.J.; D. C. Stambaugh, Queens, N.Y.; and Eli H. Stoltzfus, Phoenixville; were re-elected by the Trustees.

Rev. Howard Merkey, Manheim, and Rev. S. Clyde Weaver, East Petersburg, were re-named by the Eastern District of the Church of the Brethren.

Rev. Cyrus G. Bucher, Bigerville, was re-elected by the Southern District.

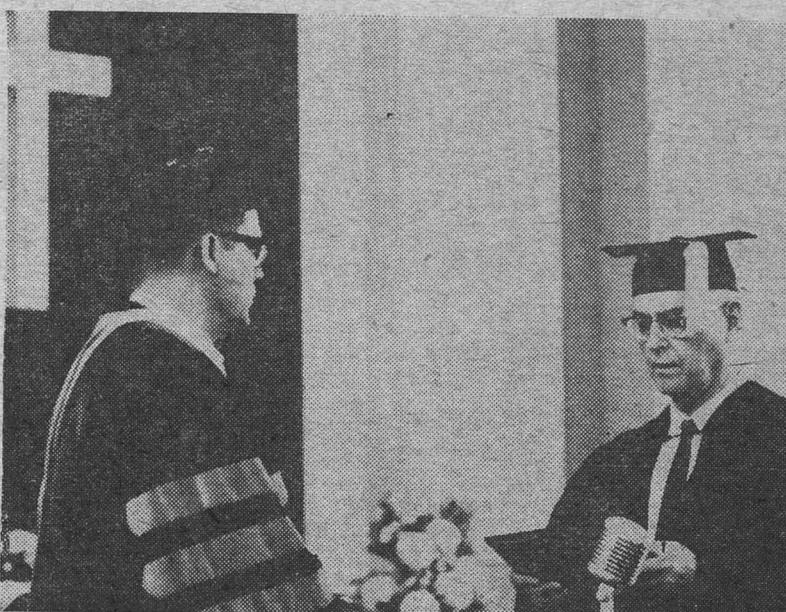

Knaub Gets Stage Role In Boston

Don Knaub, '59, is playing his first professional theatrical role in Eugene O'Neill's "The Great God Brown," which opened at the Charles Playhouse in Boston, October 11.

In addition to his acting, Knaub is a candidate for his master's degree in drama at Boston University. His thesis plays are "Michel de Ghelderode," "The Women at the Tomb," and "The Blind." They will be presented February 2 to 4 at the Charles Street Universalist Meeting House, Boston.

While attending Elizabethtown College, Knaub played leading roles in Graham Greene's "Potting Shed" and "Christ in the Concrete City."

He also directed student one-act plays and was president of the Sock and Buskin Club.

Rev. Noah S. Sellers, Lineboro, Maryland, reads the installation ceremony to Dr. Roy E. McAuley in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren as a final part of the inauguration.

College Receives Grant To Educate Teachers

Elizabethtown College has received a grant to be given over the next two years by the Hershey Chocolate Corporation for the training of teachers for service in Ghana and Nigeria.

Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the College, said that implementation of the program to be undertaken as a result of the grant will begin immediately. The amount of the grant was not announced.

Funds received for the program will be used to select and prepare American teachers for service in the two African countries, to underwrite administrative expenses involved, to provide additional materials for the college library, and to transport and support teachers trained under the project.

One of the first steps involved will be the naming of a director to give general supervision to the program.

The Board of Trustees of the College unanimously approved the program and the responsibilities to be assumed by the College, according to Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, Elizabethtown, chairman of the board.

President McAuley said that Elizabethtown College considers itself fortunate for having been chosen to carry out the project.

"We are undertaking this assignment with a sincere desire to do the best job possible in making this program an exemplary success," Dr. McAuley stated.

Elizabethtown College was chosen to receive the grant because it has the experience and qualifications needed to carry out the kind of educational program we have in mind, a company spokesman said.

The grant will be administered by a committee consisting of Dr. John O. Hershey, superintendent of the Hershey Industrial School; Dr. A. C. Baugher, president-emeritus of Elizabethtown College; and President McAuley.

Student Sponsor Loan Plan Setup By Council Group

Alumni Council officially approved a program for student loans during its Homecoming meeting, October 20.

The Student Loan Committee, a sub-committee of the Public Relations Committee, had formulated, at its October 6 meeting, a list of recommendations for securing financial sponsors for needy seniors.

A prime concern was geographical distribution; thus, chapters were urged to find sponsors in their own areas.

A complete listing of the approved recommendations follows.

Qualifying Conditions

— Applicant must have senior status.

600 Attend Inauguration

Dr. Roy E. McAuley officially became the ninth president of Elizabethtown College during the formal inauguration ceremonies Saturday, October 28 in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren.

Rev. Noah S. Sellers, Lineboro, Maryland, vice chairman of the College Board of Trustees, conferred the charge of office on President McAuley, 40, successor to President A. C. Baugher, who retired after twenty years in office.

Approximately 600 persons, including delegates from nine colleges, universities, and learned societies, witnessed the service.

Official greetings were expressed by Dr. Galen C. Kilhefner, Elizabethtown, a member of the Board. Dr. Baugher, now president-emeritus, offered the invocation. Benediction was pronounced by Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser, seventh president of the college.

Principal speaker, Dr. Lawrence G. Derthick, assistant executive secretary of the National Educational Association, praised President McAuley for his ability to organize and communicate, his sense of humor, and his human insight and understanding.

Derthick, in his address, outlined the need for a realistic program of expansion in all areas of higher education across the country and closed with a plea for better teaching.

Music for the service was provided by the College Choir, directed by David P. Willoughby. Dr. Carl Shull was the organist for the formal academic procession and recessional.

Shakespearean Play Slated For 1st Community Program

Dublin Gate Theater Booked For November 16

The Dublin Gate Theatre, a traveling Irish theatre company, will present William Shakespeare's comedy, The Taming of the Shrew, at 8:00 P.M., November 16, 1961, in the Elizabethtown Area High School Auditorium.

The presentation, directed by Phillip Pruneau, features Theodore Tiller II as Baptista Minola, the rich gentleman of Padua, whose main problem is finding a husband for his vile-tempered daughter Katherine, portrayed by Laura MacFarlane. Baptista's gentle daughter Bianca, who has an excess of suitors, is portrayed by Pamela King.

In 1928 the Dublin Gate Theatre was founded by Hilton Edwards and Michael MacLiammin. Its program include the drama of every period and every country, from Aeschylus to Shakespeare to Shaw.

One of the aims of the founders was to create a theatre with a standard comparable to that of the best in Europe. Recent successful visits to England, Egypt, and the Balkans are evidence of the Gate's achievements.

Admission for students other than those from Elizabethtown College will be $1.00; adult admission will be $1.50.

Immediately following the presentation, Sock and Buskin will entertain the cast in the Tea Room of Meyer Hall.

The presentation of The Taming of the Shrew is the first in a series of two Community Cultural Programs planned for the 1961-1962 school year by Elizabethtown College. The Baltimore Symphony will present the second program of the series in early 1962.

Inaugural Speaker Stresses Expansion In Education System

An Expanding College in an Expanding Universe, the address given by Lawrence G. Derthick for the Inauguration of President Roy E. McAuley, contained many significant remarks. Among other things Dr. Derthick said:

"The position of college president is an unenviable one. Today the college president is expected to be a scholar, teacher, diplomat, disciplinarian, optimist, pessimist, idealist, pragmatist, humanitarian, ambassador of good will, financier, businessman, and must have countless other skills and qualities.

"Dr. McAuley has been tested in numerous assignments. I know he is sensitive to student needs, that he keeps wide open the channels of communication with the president's office, that he stimulates the faculty with dynamic leadership and high scholarship, that his feel for organization and his effective public appearances fill all of you with pride, enthusiasm and eager anticipation for the bright future which certainly lies ahead.

"President McAuley is taking over the college administration at the moment when it has reached its peak in enrollment, in faculty, in plant, in accreditation, and in support," emphasized Derthick. "It is a time when all concerned can feel confident to tackle with vigor and high hopes the tremendous problems and opportunities of the times."

According to Derthick, the task ahead in higher education is a most formidable one. Seven factors point specifically to prove such a statement: the size of college and university professional staff must be increased by 60 percent; the average salary for faculty members, although rising, is still distressingly low; facilities must be replaced, refurnished, and/or expanded; plans must be made for the day when a college education will be within the reach of every qualified student; curriculums must be re-evaluated; services must be enlarged to cover total populations; education goals of the democratic way must be made ever-increasingly clear.

Challenging the audience, Derthick questioned, "Is there any doubt that what we do in the next ten years in fulfilling our purpose as institutions of higher education will turn or overturn the course of world history?" Continuing, Derthick said, "What are we going to do about it? We can bust, we can batter our birthright, or we can build."

"The only sensible course," stated Derthick, "is to build. We must put much more effort and much more money into our higher education enterprise than we are doing; at least $19 billion between now and 1970, three times our present annual expenditure. We must build buildings and we must build faculty to accommodate the enrollments in prospect."

"We are being challenged, on an unprecedented scale, in the most critical period in the whole history of mankind, to prove whether a system based on individual freedom of choice can measure up to the needs of the times."

"Will time tell a story of the triumph of individual initiative for America?" Derthick questioned. "If the answer is 'yes,' and it must be, it will come to pass because you and our colleagues in education at all levels help to make it so."

"Our colleges and universities play key roles as creators of attitudes, molders of thought patterns, and searchers after truth. They are the leaven in cultural understanding. Genuine scholarship is the by-product of truly great teaching. Let us never forget that our world of tomorrow is in the hands of our teachers of today."

Especially For Alumni...

DR. NORMAN F. REBER
President, Alumni Association

We have occasionally—and probably you have, too—returned to the Elizabethtown College campus on Alumni Day with a vague feeling of frustration, a sense of being at loose ends, at least certain times of the day.

For one thing, you saw only a few schoolmates, perhaps none.

Likely there was little opportunity to make new friends in an informal setting, planned to help overcome barriers of reserve or whatever it is that keeps people from talking

Dr. Reber to each other.

Another source of frustration could perhaps be traced to the lack of significant fare on the Alumni Day program menu.

So it has been our feeling if we could somehow create an atmosphere of informality and fellowship, and provide something mentally challenging along with it, you would have a fairly good formula for a successful Alumni Day. We are not excluding, of course, the usual entertainment and sports features, which some will prefer.

Your Alumni Day committee for 1961 tried to put this formula to work. Many alumni worked hard on this Alumni Day with, we feel, considerable success. The committee for the 1962 Alumni Day can achieve even better results, as we think they have gotten off to an excellent start in their planning.

The group is headed by Edgar T. Bitting, '50, your Alumni Association vice president, as chairman. Betty (Forney) Saylor, '41, Esther (Zug) Papson, '36, Donald Ruhl, x-'55, Shirley (Young) Uhazie, '54, and Dale Kilhefner, '62, are members of this important group. Their work will have a great bearing on your enjoyment of Alumni Day next year.

Among the plans of this committee approved by your Alumni Council last month for the day next year, was an all-afternoon punch period for all alumni, regardless of class membership.

This spot in the program provides the informality needed to make alumni feel at ease and wanted on the campus. There will be provision for classes who want to meet in their own groups.

However, fellowship that merely feeds on itself gets hollow without mental stimulation. So the committee recommended, and the Council approved, a spot for Dr. McAuley on the afternoon program. Here alumni can learn about college policies, where we are going and what we

Secretary's Angle

By C. G. ENTERLINE, Alumni Secretary

The Public Relations Director just handed me the final report of the Third Annual Giving Fund. You—alumni, friends, business and industry, church, foundations—reached "Our 1961 Goal, $150,000." In fact, contributions amounted to $154,000.

This 1961 goal appeared at the bottom of our official stationery as a constant reminder of our objective. We thrill with the joy of success and accomplishment. Now, C. G. Enterline what shall be the goal for 1962?

The needs for the coming year suggest that sights be set for $200,000. Alumni giving, it is estimated, will rise from $10,325 of 1961 to $15,000, an increase of approximately fifty per cent. This goal suggests that we write our objective not only on official stationery but also at the top of the page of serious intent. Behind a successful fund appeal, lie positive attitudes and confidence.

A positive attitude does not view participation of college support as a "round", but as a continued opportunity to share in the support of Christian higher education. A goal worth considering, then, for alumni is to regard annual giving as a recurring, on-going activity.

Thus, we may assume that year by year a larger proportion of alumni will participate in the annual giving fund. As alumni prosper and as their appreciation of the work of our college grows, contributions should increase proportionately.

The goal is set. We have the successful record of 1961; we have the contributors and the resources; we have the personnel to keep records; the college has its needs. The will to achieve remains.

Construction Progress Is Slow But Sure

By VIRGINIA COLLEY

Construction is progressing rapidly on the two newest additions to the Elizabethtown College campus. The new women's dormitory should be finished by late July, 1962, and the Student Union Building is scheduled for completion by the end of October, 1962.

The construction is under the supervision of three men: Mr. Frank Israel, Shermansville; Mr. Paul Swearingen, Lancaster; and Mr. Herb Frey, Lancaster. These three supervise the assembling of amazing quantities of cement blocks, bricks, boards, and pipes into a maze from which definite form almost magically emerges.

Israel's pipe-laying crew have been kept busy digging and then re-filling and seeding the trenches for pipes for the swimming pool. Six-inch pipeline, tapering to three-inch at the building, will bring water from College Avenue. Two 500-gallon tanks will drain the pool, and from them the water will be led through corrugated, pitch-covered pipes to the lake.

The pool itself will be a steel tank welded to steel beams on cement columns, lined with gunnate and glaze-faced tile. It will measure 75' 1" by 40', and range in depth from 10' to 4'. Steam pipes under the pool will heat the water, and there will be room to get underneath for repairs or patching.

The Student Union Building housing this pool and many other improved facilities will be brick faced with limestone columns, much like Ober Hall. It will be two stories high, with a flat roof joining the present roof about one-third of the way up. All the doors and windows of the gym except the four side entrances are being filled with cement blocks.

An adequate stage will be available for student productions in the new building. The present stage is being extended at the sides and the ceiling will be torn out to make a loft for "flying" scenery.

Swearingen, general contractor, says the building is a little behind schedule due to difficulty in obtaining materials. However, he hopes to get the walls up before bad weather makes outside work impossible, so that he can continue working through the winter.

The new woman's residence will be a three-story building with recreation rooms, storage rooms, and a boiler room in the basement. Like the other new buildings, it will be brick-faced, with a continuous window sill and a pitched roof.

Mr. Herb Frey, general contractor for the dorm, hopes to continue work into the winter. "Brick can be laid in winter," he explained, "if you mix the cement with hot water and add a compound similar to antifreeze. This compound, plus canvas covering, helps the cement hold its heat long enough to set properly. The same process can be used for plastering."

Campus Prayer

My Divine Father, for the blessings you give me everyday which I take for granted, thank you. Grant to me the understanding to acknowledge Your hand in my life that I may grow stronger through You. Be with me through this day and throughout the coming days that all that I say and do will be to Your name's honor and glory. Through my personal Savior, Jesus Christ. Amen.

CAN'T WIN THEM ALL—Frosh sailors home from the sea, not with whale oil or exotica from the Indies, but with soggy brooms. Spirits and clothes dampened from having been defeated by the Sophs in the greased pig scramble and the boat race, the Frosh lost the first pull to the Sophs. On the second and third pulls, however, the Frosh won, thereby not having to wear dinks till Thanksgiving. Disappointed Sophs had the last say when the girls won the cheering contest. Linda Stover, last year's queen, crowned Elaine Showalter and the girls field hockey game started. E-town naturally won. Despite rain and mud, E-town soccer team stomped on Susquehanna 12-2.

Homecoming Registration Interesting

Registration at annual Homecoming Day, October 21, revealed some interesting facts and statistics, according to Alumni Secretary C. G. Enterline.

Despite the inclement weather, numerous alumni chalked up a good bit of mileage to get here. Vying for greatest distance traveled were: Doris (Hostetter), '61, and Jack Hedrick, '59, Pittsburgh; Donald H. Hosler, '61, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Sara W. Robinson, '42, Cardiff, Maryland; and Ronald Varner, '59, Canton, Connecticut.

The oldest classes represented were the Class of 1911, Mrs. Enos A. Fackler, Elizabethtown, and the Class of 1920, Ruth (Taylor) Fry, Terre Hill, Pennsylvania.

The Class of 1958 will have its name etched on the Homecoming Plaque hanging in the office of the alumni secretary. Nineteen percent of the class returned for the activities.

Second place in largest representation went to the Class of 1961, which had 17 percent attending.

A varied range of comments were submitted also. Among these were the following:

"Great to be back."

"Appreciate the dance very much. It's good for E-town."

"First time at Homecoming."

"I love it. Decorations superb."

"A happy day."

"Well planned program."

"Thanks."

Baltimore Chapter Reports On Meeting

Pearl M. Risser, secretary of the Baltimore Area Chapter of the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association, recently forwarded the minutes of their various meetings to the alumni office.

Included in this mailing, were mailing pieces, such as reservation cards, letters, and a corrected mailing list of alumni in the area, which were used in reaching Baltimore alumni.

The Baltimore chapter was organized on May 13, 1960. Their 1961 meeting was held March 10 in the Fellowship Hall of the Messiah United Church of Christ, 5615 The Alameda, Baltimore. The 1962 spring meeting is scheduled for Saturday, May 5.

Current officers of the association are: President, David J. Markey '47; Vice President, Clyde R. Shallenberger '49; Secretary, Pearl M. Risser '40; Treasurer, Leon E. Henise '50.

This organization serves approximately fifty alumni in the greater Baltimore area.

The morning schedule includes something on the new curriculum at work with professors lecturing in science and mathematics.

We understand that Professor Henry Libhart has consented to show an art exhibit and Paul Eshelman, '29, has accepted an invitation to present his wood carving work.

These latter plans remind us of something Joe Kettering, '23, Trustee Board chairman, suggested to us at Harrisburg several months ago. He felt prominent alumni in various fields could be invited back to speak on a subject of current interest in their vocational field. This is an excellent idea and we would surely like to see this attempted on our campus.

Several of the ideas approved by the Council for Alumni Day were also recommended by our Public Relations Committee, which is headed by Jean (Roland) Moyer, '54. Serving on her committee are Carlos Ray Ziegler, '53, Carl G. Herr, '38, Edwin Boll, '47, and Anna (Heisey) Snowden, x-'53.

This committee also recommended for an afternoon activity a "Great Books" Institute. The institute would be conducted in a way similar to the Great Books Club with the discussion directed by a leader.

Alumni would be notified of several books and would be asked to select one and read it before Alumni Day. Those who read a particular book would then join their group in discussing it. This idea may perhaps be included in some future Alumni Day program.

All of the foregoing is aimed at one purpose alone, to provide both fellowship and mental stimulation so that more alumni will find, not frustration, but enthusiastic satisfaction in returning to campus.

Alumni reading this column who wish to share their thoughts are invited to write us at the Alumni Office on campus. Above all, we need your ideas and reactions to plan a better Alumni Day. If you demand it and help us work on it, you are bound to get it.

Attends Meeting

C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary, attended a meeting of the alumni secretaries of Eastern Pennsylvania at Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, on November 13.

AN APPEAL

Alumni will help the preparation of the ALUMNI DIRECTORY greatly by returning the "Elizabethtown College Alumni Questionnaire" which was sent within the past six months.

We APPEAL to you. Return the Questionnaire!

Administrative Organization Now Functions In Four Areas

Four areas in the new administration at Elizabethtown College have been established by Pres. Roy E. McAuley as a four-way thrust into the future. Each with specific duties and responsibilities, they are intended to streamline the administration in communication and coordination both on and off campus.

E-town Alumni Present At Other Inaugurations

The months of October and November bring not only falling and rustling leaves but also a stir on college campuses in the inauguration of college presidents. One of the activities related to this event is the sending of alumni as representatives of given institutions to these inaugural ceremonies. A number of Elizabethtown College alumni attended these events this fall.

Franklin E. Wolf, Jr., '46, Flushing, N.Y., represented Elizabethtown College at Saint John's College Jamaica, N.Y., on November 1.

Dr. and Mrs. Luke Ebersole, '40, of the University of Tennessee, represented Elizabethtown College at Maryville College, Maryville, Tennessee, on October 26.

At this writing, a representative from Oklahoma is being sought to represent Elizabethtown College at Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, Oklahoma, on December 10.

The following Elizabethtown College alumni represented other institutions of higher learning at the inauguration of Dr. Roy E. McAuley as president of Elizabethtown College on October 28.

Foster Grosh, 41, University of Pittsburgh, (1948).

Mark C. Ebersole, '43, Crozier Seminary, B.D., (1946), University of Pennsylvania, M.A. (1948), Union Theological Seminary Ph.D. (1952) represented Bucknell University.

Dr. A. G. Breidenstine, '27, Temple University, M. Ed. (1934), Ed. D. (1936), represented Millersville State College.

Pauline Campbell Drumm, '43, Temple University, Ed. M. (1954), represented Kutztown State College.

Paul F. Leicht, '46, Franklin and Marshall College; represented Jefferson Medical School, M.D. (1951).

First is the academic realm, presided over by Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, Dean of the College. Under this division come all matters relating to the academic—the admissions program, the Registrar's Office, the faculty.

Next come all non-academic affairs including student personnel, counseling, Deans of both Men and Women, Residence arrangements, and athletics. Responsible for this area is Edward L. Crill, Dean of Students.

Third is the area of business and finance headed by Earl H. Kurtz, Treasurer. This division supervises the business office, maintenance, the college store, and all non-academic personnel hired by the college. Also important to the functioning of this area is Miss Martha Farver, Office Manager.

The fourth group is generally known as the Office of Public Relations. Within this office directed by James L. M. Yeingst are varied programs. Alumni Relations are handled by the Alumni Secretary; Publications and Public Information are responsibilities of the Director of Publications; Development and Fund Raising busies both Yeingst and the Administrative Assistant.

For problems of common concern, the heads of these four areas, with the president, form the Administrative Committee. The president acts as chairman.

LIBRARY NOTES

L. D. Rose Presents Large Book Collection

L. D. Rose, emeritus librarian and professor of German, has presented to the Zug Memorial Library a gift collection of over 100 volumes, announced Miss Anna Carper, librarian.

The collection includes complete works of Goethe, Schiller, and Heine; complete holdings of the Pennsylvania German Folklore Society; proceedings and publications of the Pennsylvania German Society; and "Bibliography on German Settlements in Colonial North America" by Emil Meynen. The latter is of extreme importance to scholars of Germanic influence in America.

Among recent acquisitions to the library is the McGraw-Hill Encyclopedia of Science and Technology (Ref. 503, M147) 1960.

The following list of books, chosen from recent acquisitions, were selected by the librarian for their interest to students.

Enterline New Member

Prof. C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary and college placement director, was recently granted membership in the Middle Atlantic Placement Officer's Association.

Among other functions, the association publishes the College Placement Annual and the College Placement Journal.

Have something you want to sell? Want to buy something? Did you lose anything? Need a ride somewhere? For ten cents a line and a minimum of thirty cents, you can tell (or ask) the whole Alumni Association.

Hockey Team Ends Perfect Season; Booters Hoping for Tourney Berth

A perfect field hockey campaign shares the spotlight with the tournament-conscious soccer squad as the Elizabethtown College fall athletic teams draw their seasons to a close.

The Jaygals are finished; the booters were to close out their regular season at East Stroudsburg Nov. 11; and the cross country team was scheduled to end things the same day at Penna. Military College in a triangular meet with Johns Hopkins.

Coach Jean Anne Rogers' unconquered field hockey co-eds made it unanimous at Shippensburg Nov. 7 when they whitewashed their eighth consecutive foe, 6-0.

Linda Eshelman, high scoring center forward from Elizabethtown, accounted for three of the goals to put her season's total at 18, the team high.

Joyce Mease, Landisville sophomore, scored twice, and Charlotte Emich, freshman from East Petersburg, added the other against Shippensburg.

The win marked the first undefeated season in field hockey since the sport was begun at the college in 1951.

The overall slate shows the Jaygals scoring 41 goals to the opposition's 0—goalie Martha Eppley of Harrisburg getting all eight shutouts.

Sally Wenger, senior from Paradise, was second in team scoring with a total of 12.

Play in Tournament

Over the weekend of Nov. 3-5, the Gals had participated in the Central Penn Tournament at Dillsburg, beating Lock Haven and tying the Keystone and Blue Ridge Clubs of Harrisburg.

As a result of their play in the tournament, Linda Eshelman, Sally Wenger, and fullback Lois Herr, Elizabethtown, were named to the first all-star team of central Pennsylvania. They were to play in the Mid-East tournament the following weekend.

Sylvia Ingham, halfback from Harrisburg, and Joyce Mease were given berths on the second team. Jean Zarfoss, Elizabethtown wing, Martha Eppley, and Charlotte Emich were given honorable mention.

Booters at 8-0-1

Coach Owen Wright's soccer men captured two crucial decisions recently on the home turf. Jerry Botdorf, Millerstown junior, scored twice and Al Hershey, Gordonville sophomore, scored once in a 3-0 triumph over Hofstra, Nov. 4.

On Nov. 1 Hershey, and Tony McGlaughlin, freshman from McClure, each hit the net once in a 2-1 squeaker over St. Joseph's of Philadelphia.

The Blue Jays stood at eight wins, no losses, and one tie. A 2-2 deadlock with Drexel is the only blemish on the record.

The Hofstra win was goalie Ray Diener's second shutout. He is a junior from Fredericksburg.

With a total of 39 goals on the campaign to their opponents' eleven, Wright's kickers are currently paced by Hershey, who has eleven tallies, Botdorf with nine, and McGlaughlin with eight. Hershey has scored at least once in every game.

The Jays are entertaining high hopes of a post-season tournament invitation as they go into the finale at East Stroudsburg.

Harriers Hit Skids

The Blue Jay Harriers of Coach Lester Baum have enjoyed limited success to date.

After coping two out of their first three decisions, they have failed to come up winners against the last five foes.

They went into the Nov. 8 meet at Gettysburg with a 2-6 mark and will close out the season Nov. 11 with the triangular affair.

Council directed the alumni secretary to write a note of appreciation to Mrs. Walton Moyer for her work. Son, Richard Paul, arrived shortly after her committee meeting.

The secretary was further instructed to give separate coverage in the ALUMNI ETOWNIAN of the Student Loan Committee Report.

College clubs were encouraged to keep a record of their membership and make them available to the alumni to facilitate the integration of activities in later years.

Council expressed some concern about the retention of the name "alumni" in the field house or forthcoming building. President Norman Reber was asked to discuss the matter with President Roy McAuley.

Vice president Edgar T. Bitting took the chair at this point and reviewed the program for Homecoming Day. Meeting adjourned from room 168, Library, at 9:30 p.m.

But it didn't stop there. The E-towners had a victory parade through town that stopped more traffic than a fish dinner in the cafeteria. It's even rumored that some of the Black Horse's faithful, at the sight of that cheering, horn-blowing mob, jumped on the wagon that day.

Voice--- from the Sidelines

No one can say it now. No, no one can ever say that E-town students don't have spirit.

It all started on that now-famous Friday night.

We had a pep rally where the only thing hot was the fire.

We, the students, were dead. We cheered, but not very enthusiastically; we yelled, but not very loudly.

Why not? We had the best reason in the world to Take the Lid Off E-town. The Jays were going to play the only team to defeat them since the championship game at Slippery Rock in 1959.

But, we goofed! And Zip McPherson let us know it in no uncertain terms.

Then something happened to the students of Ol' E. C.

As the clock tolled off twelve bells, the pumpkin turned into a carriage, someone found paper and paint, and one of the greatest stories to ever hit Jaytown began.

They decided they were going to Take the Lid off E-town. Four A-3 boys and an A-2 stalwart started it. The spark turned into a fire.

By noon Saturday, the campus was covered with signs and banners; organized cheering sections were ready and waiting. The P.A. system was set up on the field, and the Isley Brothers were standing in the wings.

The cheering started on the front porch of Ober Hall at 12:30—it didn't stop until the victory parade through Elizabethtown was over.

The Jays played inspired ball that afternoon. No team in the country could have stopped them. The Bucknell team laughed at us when they arrived . . . they weren't laughing when they left.

The Bisons were a defeated club. They were drubbed by the Jays 7-1, and received an equally severe beating from the students.

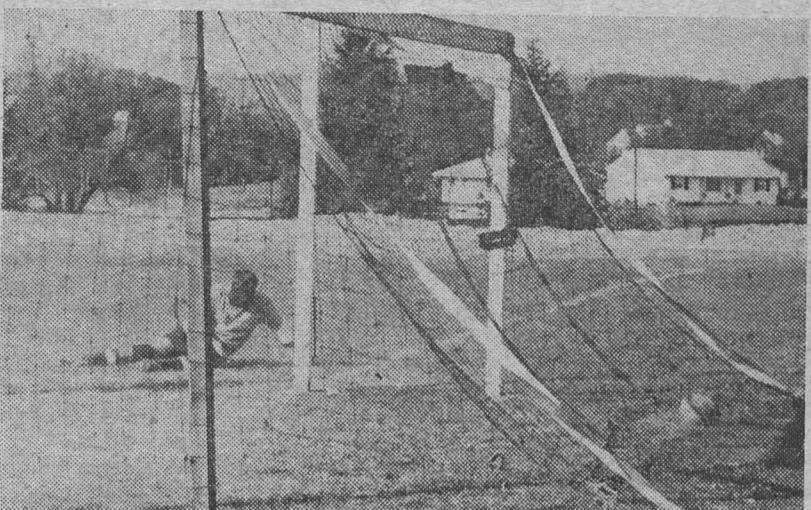

The gun sounded ending the game, and Coach Owen Lee Wright received his first E-town free ride across the field.

But it didn't stop there. The E-towners had a victory parade through town that stopped more traffic than a fish dinner in the cafeteria. It's even rumored that some of the Black Horse's faithful, at the sight of that cheering, horn-blowing mob, jumped on the wagon that day.

It was a complete victory for Elizabethtown College. The Jay soccer team learned that the students were behind them, and the students knew they had quickly and completely lost the "spiritless" label forever.

Yes, we did take the lid off E-town.

tegrity, character, and reliability.

—Financial need of applicant for the loan will be established by investigation.

The Sponsors

—Each chapter is to seek five (?) sponsors from its area.

—A sponsor will serve as accommodation endorser on the applicants note (applicant presumably twenty-one years of age).

—Loans shall be made through a bank, mutually agreeable to parties concerned.

—Loans shall be limited to $600 a semester and repayable in a maximum time of five years.

Alumni Council and Chapters

—Each chapter will forward the names of consenting and potential sponsors to the executive secretary of the Alumni Association.

—Referrals for need will originate out of the office of the business manager of the college and communicated to the office of the alumni secretary.

—The alumni secretary will serve as liaison officer between the needy student and financial sponsor after the "need" has been established.

—Each chapter is urged to assume responsibility of designating a person to contact potential sponsors and submit these names to the executive secretary of the Alumni Association.

Student sponsors are now new at Elizabethtown College. Several, similar to those described above, served three students for each of the past three years, according to Mr. Earl Kurtz, treasurer of the College.

Mrs. J. Wilbur Garman, '41, is chairlady of the Student Loan Committee. Other members include Paul Grubb, Jr., '55, C. G. Enterline, x-'31, Dr. Benjamin Musser, '43, and Charlotte Markey, '41.

With sights set on moving their winning percentage above .500, Coach Don Smith and his basketball hopefuls at Elizabethtown College are preparing for the opener of a 20-game schedule, which begins December 2.

Twenty men now working out will be bolstered by a few additional cagers at the termination of the soccer season. Owen L. Wright, soccer coach, will also join the squad at that time as junior varsity mentor.

Coach Smith is counting heavily on four returning lettermen in the drive to improve on last year's break-even (11-11) season.

Barry Boyer, a 6' senior forward from Brandywine Heights, poses as the Jay's main offensive threat. He paced the scorers last year with 369 points good for a 16.2 per game average and a field shooting percentage of 47.6.

The other lettermen include Sam Gruber, senior from Middletown; Ray Deiner, Fredricksburg junior; and John Neely, Harrisburg sophomore.

Deiner at 6'5" is the tallest man on the squad.

The schedule follows:

Dec. 1, Rutgers, S. J., home; Dec. 5, Lebanon Valley, home; Dec. 7, Penna. Military College, away; Dec. 9, Millersville State, home; Dec. 13, Juniata, away; Dec. 16, Albright, home.

Jan. 6, Lycoming, home; Jan. 11, Moravian, home; Jan. 13, Drexel, away; Jan. 17, Millersville State, away; Jan. 20, Lebanon Valley, away.

Feb. 8, Dickinson, home; Feb. 10, Juniata, home; Feb. 14, Western Maryland, home; Feb. 16, Wilkes, away; Feb. 17, Scranton, away; Feb. 21, Gettysburg, home; Feb. 23, Lincoln, away; Feb. 28, Susquehanna, home.

March 3, Lycoming, away.

Alumni Talent Solicited

Within the alumni chapters and areas at large lies hidden talent which can be used to spark programs. Musicians of numerous accomplishments — vocal and instrumental — await a call for performances. Hobbies for exhibits and addresses to challenge and to entertain remain unexploited.

If the alumni office or the local clubs had a list of alumni who would be willing to share their hobbies and skills, programmers could draw from this pool to build up activities. Here is an opportunity to identify yourself and others with talent, who are willing to perform and to travel.

The form below is for your convenience. Council is interested in involving more alumni in activities, and it is using this means to share its concern. Fill in, detach, and mail to the Alumni Office.

BETTER RESEARCH FACILITIES

Women's Auxiliary Votes Funds for Library Use

The Zug Memorial Library at Elizabethtown College will benefit from a five-year project of the college's Women's Auxiliary, according to Pres. Roy E. McAuley.

Auxiliary president, Mrs. Wallace A. Baldwin, Palmyra, announced that the group will donate a total of $5,000 over five years for the purchase and binding of back issues of periodicals.

In expressing appreciation for the gift, Miss Anna M. Carper, librarian, emphasized the need for improved research facilities.

She added, "Periodicals no longer available on a current basis are more expensive because it takes more checking, more searching to find them, and binding is always expensive."

The grant will be made in five yearly $1,000 payments.

The Elizabethtown College Women's Auxiliary was organized in March, 1956, to undertake projects for the betterment of the College.

Other officers of the group include Mrs. Clifford Huffman, Lancaster, vice president; Mrs. Arlene Bucher, Lebanon, secretary; and Mrs. Walter Mellinger, Witmer, treasurer.

Harrisburg Chapter To Meet April 7

Miss Frances Mary Trombino, '35, president of the Harrisburg Chapter of the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association, reports that the club is planning a dinner meeting at Allenberry on Saturday, April 7, 1962, 6:30 p.m.

Other officers of the club are Frances Bishop '54, secretary; Albert Richwine '49, treasurer.

N. J. Baugher Given New Post On World Council Of Churches

Rev. Dr. Norman J. Baugher, '40, formerly of York county and now general secretary of the Church of the Brethren, Elgin, Ill., was elected to the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches at its Third Assembly at New Delhi, India.

The Central Committee's 100 members govern the Council in the six-year interval between assemblies. A total of 21 churchmen from the United States were named to the committee.

Dr. Baugher, in addition to serving as head administrator of the Church of the Brethren, is a vice president of the National Council of Churches.

Following the New Delhi Assembly, which closed December 6, he and Mrs. Baugher, who accompanied him to the meeting, are visiting Christian centers in India, Laos, Indonesia, Hong Kong, Formosa, and Japan. They will return to the States early in February.

Dr. Baugher is the son of the late Dr. J. I. Baugher and Mrs. Baugher, the latter who now resides in York. He is a nephew of Dr. A. C. Baugher, president-emeritus of Elizabethtown College.

College Will Initiate Program For Qualified High School Juniors

1954 Graduate Gets Michigan State Post

EAST LANSING — Francis L. McConkey, '54, was appointed specialist in motion picture production in the Audio Visual Department at Michigan State University, effective November, 1961. He first joined the MSU faculty in July, 1961, as a film technician

The University of Alaska granted him the M.Ed. degree in 1958. Mr. McConkey was active in Alaskan education, spending four years as a principal-teacher in Eskimo villages where he was employed by the Bureau of Indian Affairs. For two years he was an elementary teacher in the schools of Pennsylvania and California.

He has produced four films which concern Alaskan subjects: "Shop Town," "Sleemute, an Alaskan River Village," "Tundra School" and "Travelogue."

His memberships include Phi Delta Kappa, education fraternity, and the National Education Association.

Elizabethtown College will initiate a new program under which qualified students may begin their college work at the end of the junior year in high school, Dean Jacob E. Hershman announced recently.

Presidential Greetings

This is the season of the year wherein we joyfully remember by various methods our many friends and acquaintances. So it is that I take this opportunity and means to express my sincere happiness as I call to mind the many alumni and others whose circles of love and concern include Elizabethtown College. May this holiday season be a fine one for you, and may the New Year be a year of good things in your life!

Roy E. McAuley
President of the College

Students selected for the program will skip their senior year in high school and, upon successful completion of their freshman year at the college, receive a high school diploma in addition to the college credits earned.

Dr. Hershman explained that the program, which has the backing of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, is designed to assist those students who have the desire and the ability to accelerate educationally. Accepted students will begin their college work next fall.

"Great care will be exercised in selecting students for early admission," Dr. Hershman said. "We'll give strong consideration to the student's academic ability, high school performance, and social maturity."

He added that the recommendation of the student's high school guidance counselor and the complete approval of the parents are necessary before a student can be accepted.

All applicants will be processed on an individual basis, with heavy emphasis on personal interviews.

"Students accepted under this program will be enrolled as regular members of the freshman class. There will be no special courses set up for them," Dr. Hershman stated.

"We've set up no limit as to the number of qualified students we will enroll under this program, but we want to keep the number small enough so we can counsel them on a very personal basis," he added.

Local area high school guidance counselors are being asked to react to the program and to suggest students who may qualify for early admission to college.

AAUW To Offer Unique Service

A unique locator service which will assist colleges and universities to find trained, able professional personnel will be developed by the AAUW Educational Foundation, according to an announcement by Dr. Anna L. Rose Hawkes, President.

A $20,000 grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education is making possible a two-year expansion and development program for the Association's Roster of Women Holding Earned Doctorates. The project has been undertaken as a result of the response by educational administrators and of women holding doctorates to the limited service offered by the AAUW since 1958.

Detailed information about the roster service may be had by writing to Mrs. Lorraine B. Torres, Roster of Women Holding Earned Doctorates, AAUW Educational Foundation, 2401 Virginia Avenue, N.W., Washington 7, D.C.

Forty Seniors Spend Eight Weeks Teaching

Twenty-five Students To Teach in High School, Fifteen in Elementary

By LINDA ESHELMAN

Forty seniors are now busily participating in the student-teaching program offered by the college in cooperation with area elementary and secondary schools.

Professor Elmer B. Hoover, Director of Teacher Training, stated that nowhere else in the college program does a student have as much individual attention given to him as in this course.

He continued that the cooperating teachers in the various public schools are usually selected because of their training and demonstrated ability.

The supervision and guidance given by the cooperating teacher in daily experiences is intended to supplement and complement that offered by the college supervisor.

Fifteen women are teaching in the area elementary schools. Four of these girls, commuters to Londonderry School, are: Janet Dahms teaching grade 4; Janet Espenshade, grade 1; Joyce Ritter, third grade; and

A Joyful, Happy Holiday Season To All

A PROFILE

Mr. Earl Kurtz Controls College Purse Strings

Elizabethtown College's trailer-traveling treasurer may not be personally well-known on campus, but he is familiar to all of us through his role in the college finance structure.

Mr. Earl Henry Kurtz deals with both the big business and the minute requisitions that are part of the college's financial program. Depending upon circumstances, requisitions such as "build some shelves" or "send a janitor" give Kurtz headaches or laughs.

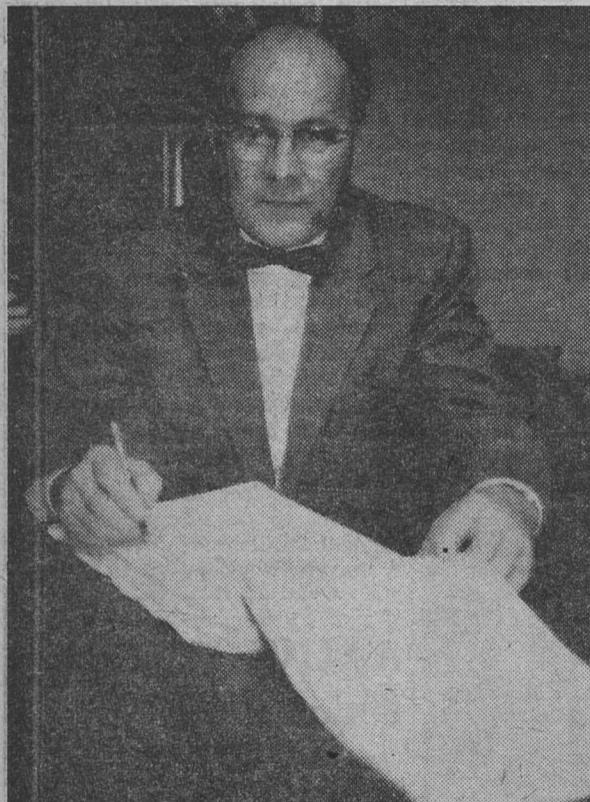

Transferring the college program into dollars is a complicated procedure, according to Kurtz. Income and allocation of funds can rarely be categorized.

As costs go up, one of Kurtz's headaches is the institution's responsibility to its students in terms of loans, aid, and work. The problem is still a matter of debate and an issue of specific interest, Kurtz admits.

Although his administrative duties draw him away from actual student life, Kurtz is no stranger to this campus. After attending the combined choir program, he observed that there were about as many in the combined choir this year as there were in the entire school when he was a student here.

Have students changed? On this issue, Kurtz believes that discipline and study are on a higher level now. Kurtz admits that he slept during the noisy hours from 8:30 p.m. until 2:30 a.m., then studied!

Having graduated as an education major, Kurtz taught English, history, and business at New Cumberland High School before attending graduate school at New York University.

EARL H. KURTZ

After receiving his M.A. degree in 1938, Kurtz went to Wilmington, Delaware where he held "the best job I ever had" in teaching. Although he enjoyed teaching and lay preaching, Kurtz moved to Elgin, Illinois, to serve for 17 years as manager of the Church of the Brethren Publishing House.

In 1957, Kurtz returned to his home campus with Mrs. Kurtz, the former Esther Myer, and three children, John, Suzanne, and Kathryn.

The Kurtz family, however, does not always stay in Elizabethtown. Because they are enthusiastic travelers, the Kurtz family has made three trips to the West Coast with their own trailer. This, Kurtz said, is their most important family hobby.

As for himself, Kurtz joins the many well-intentioned home carpenters whose tools lie idle in the basement. With work to be done in the treasurer's office, energetic Kurtz must let his carpentry tools lie idle while he makes sure that the business of the college runs smoothly.

Especially For Alumni . . .

DR. NORMAN F. REBER
President, Alumni Association

"I got your letter today." My alumni businessman friend referred to the latest year-end Elizabethtown College appeal for contributions that was sent out over my signature.

Then—half joking, half serious—he added, "Is that all you can think about—money?"

"I guess so." I agreed after a long, somewhat embarrassing pause.

Dr. Reber

Down the street a little later I encountered an alumnus in the making. I recognized him as a companion in the academic procession at Dr. McAuley's inauguration. He said, "I got your letter, but I haven't read it yet."

Down the street a little later I encountered an alumnus in the making. I recognized him as a companion in the academic procession at Dr. McAuley's inauguration. He said, "I got your letter, but I haven't read it yet."

"Well, I asked for money," I confided with what might have looked like a sheepish smile. "A friend just told me we're always asking for money."

"That's what we need the most," was the student's rejoinder; "so why shouldn't we ask for it?"

His cheery comment summed up the reasons for all college fund drives, namely, students, and the provision of better facilities for them. So the askers need not hesitate for the soundness of their cause. This includes the president of the Alumni Association who is asked to sign fundraising letters that go out to members.

I do not mind signing letters requesting funds for so deserving a cause; in fact I really consider it a privilege to be of some small service to our Alma Mater, who has done so much for me.

However, I could have defended my fund-raising letter to the business man with more agility and more of the student's enthusiasm, but I lacked one thing—knowledge. This is an ingredient a college alumnus is supposed to have in liberal supply.

In this case, though, I knew nothing of the details of the needs for funds for which this particular letter was written. Perhaps I would have been told, if I had asked, but the fact remains I did not know enough facts to give satisfying answers either to the business man or the student.

This is intended more as a statement of fact than it is a criticism. But we have to start with facts to improve a situation, and that is the purpose of this column.

All of this leads me to the plea that Alumni Association officers participate not only in fund raising but in the college development program for which funds are sought. Then the president would be in a position to give quick and enthusiastic answers when alumni "josh" him about his fund-raising letters.

This plea is not for present officers. It looks ahead to an improved situation for future officers of the Alumni Association. There are brilliant possibilities for the Alumni Association participation in the college development program.

ALUMNI AS HUMAN RESOURCES

An intangible asset on the balance sheet of Elizabethtown College is the alumnus as a human resource. Let us consider briefly some ways in which alumni serve as resources to Elizabethtown College.

A maturing alumnus serves as a steady, stabilizing influence in whatever community he happens to be. He can be a morale builder for the wavering student who looks upon the graduate as his academic hero; the waverer can have a change of attitude in "He did it, so can I."

In civic affairs the mature, sober, judgment of the alumnus commands respect and reflects favorably his Alma Mater. The bystanders see the college in an increasingly important perspective through alumni.

In another area, an informed alumnus who is alert to the needs and problems of higher education can make a distinct contribution through his representation on the college board of trustees.

His voice and opinion when pooled with other board members, should lead to reasonably satisfactory decisions and conclusions. In fact, access to alumni resources which lead to cooperative effort in many areas is desirable.

One should not overlook the contributions which alumni can make on Homecoming or Alumni Day. In such activities as music ensembles, drama, athletics, lectures, demonstrations, exhibits, alumni can join undergraduates in presenting programs.

Furthermore, it demonstrates a continuity in academic, cultural, and recreational life. After all, an alumnus is a grown-up or growing up "college freshman."

Of inestimable value, too, on the balance sheet of the college is the disciplined and exemplary Christian living of an alumnus. This Christian leaven is value not only to the College but also to the community in which he serves.

His broadened view accepts all men as brothers and sees also the academic stature of alumni of other institutions.

This understanding of the meaning of Christian higher education whets the sense of appreciation of higher education and encourages his support of education generally. His appreciation can extend also to the public school system, which likely nourished him through the larger part of his educational career.

What an asset to the college it is, too, to have leaders promote club programs which provide in-

Million Gallons of Fuel Needed To Keep College Fires Burning

By JIM OBERHOLTZER

With the advent of cold, wintry weather, many complaints can be heard about campus concerning cool, cold, or even frigid classrooms and dorms. Statements like, "Leave my window open, it's warmer outside than in here," or "I'm using those ice cubes to heat my room," are indicative of some opinions of the heat at EC.

After visiting several heating plants on campus with Mr. Ray Sweigart, custodian-in-charge-of-heating, and gazing awfully at the maze of pipes, wires, valves, and circulating pumps required to heat just one dorm, one is amazed that there are as few cold rooms as there are.

Sweigart, a small fellow with a friendly smile and cheerful "Hello" for everyone, spends all his time keeping our rooms warm and comfortable. Every morning Sweigart arrives at school before any of us are awake and checks each of the 26 heating plants which he maintains.

With many years experience installing and servicing heating systems for a large heating contractor in Elizabethtown, Sweigart can tell if a heating system is working properly by glancing at a few gauges, listening to the motors, and taking a look into the fiery burner.

"Usually I can spot trouble before it starts and fix it so there is no interruption in the heat," Sweigart stated. Throughout the day he is kept busy making minor repairs and adjustments to one heating system or another.

The five largest heating plants on campus are the two which heat Ober Hall, one which heats Memorial and Alpha Halls, one in Gibble Science Hall which heats Gibble and the library, and one in Myer Hall. Together these plants consume over a million gallons of fuel oil every heating season.

Each spring Sweigart spends almost two months cleaning and overhauling boilers so they will be ready for the next heating season. The new electric heating system being installed in Alpha Hall is, according to Sweigart, almost maintenance-free and will operate nearly as economically as the present oil units. It is intended to be only a helper system to provide extra heat on those cold days when the main system cannot keep Alpha rooms cozy enough for their occupants.

The next time you awake at 6 a.m. and decide to catch a few minutes of extra sleep in your cozy room, just think of Ray Sweigart who is probably, at that very minute, checking the system which keeps you warm.

Church Of Brethren States: Peace, Yes; Fallout Shelter, No

Members of the Church of the Brethren were advised not to build family fallout shelters, in a statement adopted by the General Brotherhood Board.

"Mankind can find security neither in war nor in Civilian Defense," the statement read. "The fallout shelter program is but another aspect of war's impingement upon our total life... We believe it is our witness to dedicate our efforts to prevent war rather than to the more negative task of trying to protect ourselves against the eventualities of war."

The statement maintained that Civil Defense is a cause of fear as well as a result of fear. It further said the church must be ready to render service to all who suffer in disaster.

Over 150 Attend Conference Here During Vacation

Over 150 attended this year's Brethren Conference which was held on campus during the Thanksgiving vacation.

In addition to the seven Brethren groups there were 12 other colleges and universities represented. Elizabethtown had 28 delegates in addition to staff members.

Visiting students expressed their appreciation of the fine facilities offered by Elizabethtown College. Many facilities available now were not available at the last conference held at E-town.

Contrary to previous plans the speaker for the conference was Dr. Everett Tilson of Delaware, Ohio. Dr. Edmund Perry had been originally scheduled to speak.

Next year the conference will be held at McPherson College, Kansas. Newly elected BSCM president is Don Jordan of Chicago, Illinois.

"The York Nativity" Given at College Under Co-op Effort

As a climax to campus Christmas activities, John Baird's "The York Nativity" was presented Monday, December 18, at 8 p.m. in the Church of the Brethren.

The production was a cooperative effort of the dramatics department, the music department, and the ECCA.

Larry Sauder narrated the production. Members of the cast were: Mary, Debbie, Jones; Joseph, Ralph Clouser; Herod, Philip Bufithis; The Three Kings, Herbert Smith, Neil Cunningham, and David Herbster; Herod's adviser, Glenn Wenger; Angels, Nancy Newcomer and Shirley Watters; Messenger, Henry List. Professor Hoover's son Donald will play Herod's son.

The Dufay Singers, a newly formed vocal ensemble, also participated in the production.

Student directors for the production were Jo Ann Wilson, Judith Wise, Stanley Delp, and Debbie Jones. Joe Moore is in charge of staging; Elizabeth Hershberger, sound; and Mary Ann Poljanec, costuming.

Assisting in the production were Mrs. C. G. Enterline, Dr. Carl N. Shull, and Professor David P. Willoughby.

Honor Dorms Well-Liked

Maple Hall, located directly across from the Main Entrance on College Avenue, is the first of the three honor houses which are to be explored.

This converted double-house, accomodating fifteen senior and junior girls, has two senior proctors, Ilse Langer and Doris Bushong.

The members observe the same hours as the women students on campus; male visitors are permitted in the modernistic living room. Vesper services are held every two weeks and parties are given during the various holiday seasons.

Occupants of Maple Hall find that they can accomplish more studying in this quiet atmosphere and many cannot understand how they were able to study in the somewhat noisy dormitories.

Another favorable aspect of the honor house is the relative lack of authority. The girls are very self-sufficient and find this responsibility to be of great importance in their more mature outlook as juniors and seniors.

Draw straws to see who goes to college? Could be. In ten years the number of college applicants may double. Many of our colleges and universities are already crowded. And unless we start right now to expand our college facilities and attract more and better instructors, many bright youngsters may soon be refused an education.

Prof. Fisher Will Leave On Sabbatical

By RICHARD LYTHE

After 40 years in college teaching, Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, head of the Music Department at Elizabethtown College, will take his first sabbatical leave next semester.

Fisher said that he is taking the leave, which will last seven months, from February through July, not because he wants to rest, but because he wants to do "something different, to do something creative" in order that he might "increase (his) proficiency and value to the institution." He emphasized that he wants to use the time to become a "better teacher in the future."

His plans for the seven months are anything but plans for rest. They include reactivating his techniques and repertoire, both in voice and piano; doing concert work; studying composition and composing some music himself; and writing.

In his youth, Prof. Fisher did a "great deal" of concert work. Now, after a long interval of teaching others to perform, he would like to return to the stage himself.

In addition to preparing for publication some of the compositions he has written, primarily vocal and piano solos, Fisher plans to produce some new material. He especially wants to try his hand at composing choral music, a field with which he is familiar as a director but not as a composer.

Fisher plans to study composition at the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore one night a week.

Finally, Fisher would like to write a series of magazine articles on the fine arts in education and in life. His 40 years experience in music education and courses which he has taken in comparative arts and aesthetics at Northwest and John Hopkins Universities give him a wide background from which to draw material.

Fisher came to Elizabethtown College in 1951. He had taught previously at Blue Ridge College, Maryland; his Alma Mater, Bridgewater College, Virginia; and McPherson College, Kansas, all schools affiliated with the Church of the Brethren. At all four schools he has directed choirs and has given lessons on piano and voice.

Weaver Named Vice-president of United Church Men

Wilbur E. Weaver, class of 1937, was named a vice-president of the Department of United Church Men, Pennsylvania Council of Churches, at its fifth annual conference, held in Harrisburg, November 17 and 18.

One of three vice-presidents elected, Weaver will represent the Church of the Brethren in the statewide group.

Weaver is assistant to the treasurer and an assistant professor of business at Elizabethtown College. He also is a member of the public relations committee of the Department of Vocational and Practical Arts of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

He edits the semi-annual newsletter of the Pennsylvania Business Education Association and serves as secretary-treasurer of the Eastern District Council, Church of the Brethren, Men's Fellowship.

At the college Weaver also serves as manager of the college store and college post office.

Jaygal Courtsters Start Early Preliminary Drill

BY LINDA ESHELMAN

Although the Jaygal courtsters do not officially begin their season until January 11, Coach Allegra Hess has begun preliminary drills primarily for the benefit of the forwards.

Four letter-winners are returning to bolster the hopes for a successful basketball season for the E-town gals.

Returnees include forwards Sue Wood, a junior, and Anne Sharpe, a sophomore. In last year's schedule of eleven games, Miss Wood averaged 6.7 points per game while Miss Sharpe racked up a total of 10.4 points per contest.

Varsity guards back for more action include juniors Kady MacGregor and Mary Mumma.

Coach Allegra Hess is beginning her first year as head coach of the basketball squad. She has, however, great familiarity with the game, having played the year she attended Elizabethtown College as well as her three years at Bridgewater College. Of her three years of basketball at Bridgewater, the team boasted two undefeated seasons.

Teaming with Coach Hess will be Coach Jean Anne Rogers, who will be in charge of the junior varsity squad.

Graduation cut rather deeply into the squad who last year accounted for a record of 7 wins against 4 losses under the coaching of Julia Risser. Forwards Lucy Clemens and Sandra Swann and co-captain guards Kay Jones and Ruth Tice were all lost through graduation.

The season begins January 11 for the courtsters with a home contest against Moravian College.

Stamen, Drean Compete In Cross Country Meet

Mike Stamen and Bill Drean carried the Blue and Grey into the MAC cross country Championship run at Muhlenberg.

Stamen finished in the 38th position and Drean 87th out of the 110-runner field.

Elizabethtown did not qualify for the championship, as five runners must enter from each team.

Linda Eshelman Plays In National Tournament

Linda Eshelman, high-scoring center forward of the Elizabethtown College women's field hockey team, was named to the Mid-East All-Star team as a result of her play in the Mid-East tournament, held at Dillsburg, November 11 and 12.

On December 11, Coach Lester Baum's grapplers pinned Western Maryland 21-13 for their initial win of the young season. They had previously lost to Juniata and Dickinson.

Bob Wolf, Pottstown; Tom Ott, Reading, and Gerry Greiner, Manheim; recorded falls in the triumph as Galen Lehman, New Paris, and Jim Weaver, Manheim, added points by decisions.

The Jay matmen took their 2-1 mark to Chester on December 14, where they faced Pennsylvania Military College in the last scheduled meet before the holiday layover.

Coach Don Smith's Cagers took a 3-1 record to Juniata December 13 and returned with a 4-1 mark.

Big Dan Reitmeyer continued to impress Jay followers when he rammed through 25 counters in the 75-54 victory over the Indians.

The Smith men closed out their pre-holiday slate Saturday afternoon (December 16) with a home game against Albright.

The week before they won two of three, besting rivals Lebanon Valley and Millersville while losing to PMC. The 106-71 decision over Millersville marked an all-time high in points scored in that series which goes back some 28 contests.

Barry Boyer, senior and captain from Topton, was leading the Blue Jays offensively prior to the Juniata game, with a 20.7 average. Freshman Dan Reitmeyer, Boyertown, was close behind with a norm of 20 points per game.

After Saturday the Jay basketballers won't see action again until January 5, when they're scheduled for a Friday night battle at Lincoln.

The Albright battle was the first of several Saturday afternoon dates this season. Game time in those: varsity, 3:30 p.m.; junior varsity, 2 p.m.

Elizabethtown basketball opponents, BEWARE! Inside that gym is the Blue Jay basketball team.

They're a hot, upset-minded squad that is planning on a lot more wins than losses.

If you are scheduled to face them on the E-town court, be cautious. They have won 13 out of 14 games on their home floor over a two year period.

LVC decided to try their luck last Tuesday.

Dan Reitmeyer poured every imaginable shot through the basket and wound up with 27 points.

Ray Diener swept the boards time after time, while John Neely, Barry Boyer, and Jim Schlichter set up the plays and came through with clutch baskets.

The Jay defense sparked. LVC had trouble getting a shot off inside the 15-foot mark.

Diener and Reitmeyer blocked the inside shots—the Dutchmen didn't know what to do.

Locker room reports say that Coach Don Smith called this "the happiest victory" he's had at Jaytown.

Both Ruth Geiselman with grade 2 and Helen Brubaker with grade 4 are teaching at Grandview Elementary School in Florin.

Washington Elementary School, also in Florin, provides teaching opportunities for Jean Apgar in grade 2 and Doris Bushong in grade 3.

Judy Nesbit and Donna Osborn both teaching third grade and Evelyn Strause teaching grade 2 are all located at Seiler School in Mt. Joy.

Mill Road School, Elizabethtown, is the "teaching home" of Mary Gladfelter, teacher in fifth grade, and Kathryn Obold of sixth grade.

Sally Wenger is teaching third grade at Rheems while Naomi Lucabaugh has grade one at Elizabethtown.

Of the twenty-five student teachers on the secondary educational level, eleven are located at Donegal Area High School or the Donegal Annex.

These student-teachers include: William Adams, Marilyn Brubaker, Doris Large, all in Business Education; Linda Hollinger, Linda Itzoe, George Lott, Nancy Markey, all teaching English; Dale Kilhefner, William Sigler in the Math Department; Robert Heckman teaching Biology; and Tony Oskam teacher in Social Studies.

Milton Hershey provides teaching experience for Georgianna Egresites in Business Education, and Lawrence Farver and John Grove in English.

The seven college students located at Middletown include Brenda Berry, Janet Myers in the English Department; Barry Boyer, Russel Hay, Carl Rishel, teaching Social Studies; Earl Boyer in Business Education; and Sam Gruber in the Science Department.

At Elizabethtown Area High School are Ilse Langer teaching German, Robert Lloyd, teacher of History, Sonora Prosser in Biology, and Lynn Saylor in Business Education.

Physics To Be Available Next Year As Major

A major in physics will be added to Elizabethtown College's course offerings starting next fall, Dean Jacob E. Hershman announced recently.

Dr. Hershman said the College has three basic objectives in expanding the physics department, headed by Prof. R. Lee Byers, to a major status. These are:

- (1) to train students in the area of physics with graduate school as the ultimate objective.
- (2) to train students in the area of teaching with work leading to secondary school certification in the field of physics.
- (3) to strengthen the pre-engineering program of the College.

Dr. Hershman explained that the role of the physics department in the past has been to serve other departmental majors and to assist in the training of students in a cooperative pre-engineering program with the Pennsylvania State University.

Students successfully completing this new program will receive a Bachelor of Science degree.

In preparing for the expanded program, the College will add eight new courses and two laboratory sessions to the present curriculum in the field. In addition, new faculty members will be added to the physics department.

The new courses are:

Introduction to Theoretical Mechanics—including statics, kinematics and dynamics of particles and extended bodies, vibration and wave motion, Hamilton's and Lagrange's equations of motion and methods of vector analysis.

Kinetic theory and thermodynamics—including kinetic theory of gases, change of phase, and laws of thermodynamics and heat transfer. (Revision of present course, Heat and Sound.)

Electricity and Magnetism—study of electrostatics and electro-magnetics based on Coulomb's Law, Gause's Law, Ohm's Law and Kirchoff's Law. (Extension of present course, E and M.)

Atomic Physics—including study of electron theory, atomic structure, spectra, X-rays, and introduction to quantum theory.

Nuclear Physics—including study of nuclear structure, radioactivity, particle accelerators, and nuclear reactions.

Atomic and Nuclear Physics Laboratory—including selected experiments to accompany atomic and nuclear physics courses.

Seminar—including special topics course in which student

Lebanon Chapter Plans Meeting

Alan L. Whitacre, '53, 801 South Railroad St., Myerstown, has announced a tentative meeting date for the alumni in the Lebanon area for Saturday, April 7, 1962, at the Blue Star Diner on Route 422.

Details of the meeting will be cleared during a planning session, February 2.

Officers of the Lebanon Chapter are Paul Bashore, '54, Myerstown, president; Rev. William Gould, '39, Lebanon, vice president; and Mrs. Gerald Seiler, '57, Myerstown, secretary-treasurer.

Whitacre is the immediate past president of the chapter.

College Seeks Old Music Books For Research

Got any old music books gathering dust in your attic?

The Music Department of the College is looking for copies of old hymnals, music books, and sheet music to be used in building up research files for music students here.

If you have anything you would like to send to the Music Department, please send it to Dr. Carl Shull at Elizabethtown College.

Or, if you live in the vicinity and would like to have someone come to your home to look over your old music, please contact Dr. Shull.

College Faculty Sponsors Talks On Chemistry

Dr. William A. Mosher Was First Speaker For Annual Lectures

Dr. William A. Mosher, head of the Department of Chemistry at the University of Delaware, Newark, was guest lecturer for the first annual A. C. Baugher Lectures in Chemistry held on campus, January 16, 17, and 18.

Dr. William A. Mosher

Sponsored by the faculty of the college, the series is to become a yearly event in honor of Dr. A. C. Baugher, president emeritus of Elizabethtown College.

A native of Salem, Oregon, Dr. Mosher received his B.A. degree in chemistry from Willamette University, Salem, in 1935; M.S. from Oregon State University in 1936; and Ph.D. in organic chemistry from The Pennsylvania State University in 1940.

Prior to joining the staff at the University of Delaware in 1945, he served as a research chemist for the Hercules Research Center, Wilmington, Del.

Twelve To Graduate In Midyear Exercises

Ten bachelor's degrees and two, two-year certificates will be awarded by Elizabethtown College during the annual Winter Commencement exercises to be held February 7, 8:00 P.M., in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren.

Dr. Bittinger

College To Offer English Comp Via WGAL-TV

Elizabethtown College will continue its program of educational television for college credit during the second semester as part of the "College of the Air" series on WGAL-TV (channel 8), Lancaster.

The Method of Written Language, an English composition course, will be presented in 14 half-hour lectures to be telecast Friday mornings from 9 to 9:30. The first program in the series is scheduled for February 2.

One hour of college credit will be awarded to those successfully completing the course, which will include weekly compositions, two examinations at the college, and selected readings. Anyone wishing to enroll in the course may apply through the office of publications at the college before January 30.

Prof. Henry M. Libhart, assistant professor of English and director of freshman composition at the college, will conduct the course.

Course enrollees will be sent a textbook, a book of selected readings, a course outline, and instructions on how to benefit most from the course. Cost of the course will be $10.00, which includes charges for all books, materials, and administrative expenses.

The college launched its program of educational television for college credit in September with the course, Introduction to Sociology.

The success of this course prompted the continuation of the program, according to college officials.

Women's Auxiliary Sets February Date For Annual Luncheon

The Women's Auxiliary of Elizabethtown College will hold its annual luncheon on February 10, at 12:30 p.m. in the Palmyra Church of the Brethren. Mrs. Wallace A. Baldwin, Auxiliary president, announced recently.

Highlighting the affair will be a one-act comedy "The Marriage Proposal," by Anton Chekov, to be presented by student dramatists at the College, under the direction of Mrs. C. G. Enterline, associate professor of English and dramatics instructor.

Included in the program will be a brief business session.

Last month the Group announced its decision to undertake a five-year project under which it will donate a total of $5,000 to the College for the improvement and enlargement of periodical facilities in the college library.

Two In 'Who's Who'

Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president, and Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean, have been listed, with brief biographical sketches, in the Marquis "Who's Who in the East," 1962-63 edition.

Circulation 6,300

Headline speaker for the occasion will be Dr. Desmond W. Bittinger, president of McPherson College, McPherson, Kansas.

Degrees to be given include: Bachelor of Arts—3, Bachelor of Science—3, Bachelor of Science in Education — 4. Dr. Bittinger will receive the honorary degree, Doctor of Litterarum (Letters).

The candidates for degrees will be:

Bachelor of Arts — Lynne V. Hablett, Hatboro, history and political science; Linda V. Itzoe, Elizabethtown, French; Ilse Langer, West Palm Beach, Florida, French.

Bachelor of Science—Mrs. Mary F. Myers, York, nursing; Robert P. Peters, Jr., Dover, biology; Lynn L. Saylor, Red Lion, business administration.

Bachelor of Science in Education—William Adams, Jr., Carney's Point, N. J., business education; Helen J. Brubaker, Lancaster, elementary education; Doris R. Large, Waynesboro, business education; Judy B. Nesbit, Dillsburg, elementary education.

Diane B. Corbin, Lansdowne, and Miss Large will receive two-year certificates in Medical Secretarial Science.

Pres. Roy E. McAuley will preside at the ceremonies and confer the degrees.

The college's Concert Choir, under the direction of Prof. David P. Willoughby, will present special music. Dr. Carl N. Shull will be organist; Dr. O. F. Stambaugh and Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh are to be marshals for the academic procession.

A reception for Dr. Bittinger will be held in Myer Hall following the commencement exercises.

Dr. Bittinger, a missionary to Africa for eight years, is an alumnus of Elizabethtown College. He obtained his A.B. here in 1929, his A.M. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1934, and his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1940.

President of McPherson since 1950, Dr. Bittinger formerly taught on the elementary, secondary, and college levels; he has held numerous offices in the Church of the Brethren in addition to pastorates in four states and Africa; he has had several of his writings published.

Chapter Plans April Meeting At Allenberry

Miss Frances Trombino, '35, 6 South 15th St., Harrisburg, Pa., president of the Harrisburg Chapter, has announced a dinner meeting at Allenberry on Saturday, April 7, 1962, at 6:30 p.m. Guy J. Swope, Deputy Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, will be the speaker. Alumni are requested to make reservations through their officers early.

Other officers of the chapter are Frances Bishop, '54, secretary; Albert Richwine, '49, treasurer.

Varied College Duties
Keep Dean Crill Stepping

By JIM OBERHOLTZER

Keeping abreast of world affairs, reading science fiction stories, painting, and collecting shells are only a few of the ways in which the Dean of Students at Elizabethtown College spends his few hours per week of spare time.

Edward L. Crill, from whose office windows one sees an unusual picture of campus life, is responsible for the athletic, social, and cultural activities which make life at Elizabethtown College a more enjoyable experience.

Crill, in addition to teaching psychology, is either directly or indirectly responsible for the planning and coordination of the entire non-academic program of the college. This program is made up, in part, of events such as concerts, athletic contests, and dances.

Dean Crill

Crill is also responsible solely, or in part, for the student financial aid program, student housing, food service, and automobile control. Last, but very important, is his duty as counselor for the many problems that arise as students adjust to and live in a college atmosphere.

Every day he is called upon to help solve the problems of students who, for example, do not know how to study or have difficulty getting along with a roommate or a professor.

Dean Crill, his wife Helene, and their four children, Carol, Linda, Anita, and Jay, live at 437 College Avenue, Elizabethtown. Dean Crill makes it clear that he tries to spend as much of his free time as possible in activities that include his whole family. He has taken a number of camping trips throughout the United States and Mexico.

On these trips he not only puts into practice his extensive knowledge of "roughing it" but also gets new ideas about outdoor life which he incorporates in articles and pamphlets which he occasionally writes. Nevertheless, with this busy schedule, Crill devotes much time to community and church affairs.

Crill's educational background includes a bachelor's degree from Manchester College, Indiana; a master's degree from Manchester; and a master's degree (in education) from John Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Before coming to Elizabethtown College in September, 1959, Crill was Director of Youth Work at the Church of the Brethren headquarters in Elgin, Ill. He also taught leadership courses at Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago.

Crill's plans for the future include taking a few more graduate courses in psychology in order to be a qualified school psychologist, taking a course in geology, and taking a trip to the state of Washington for a camping expedition in a remote section of land which abounds in rocks, flowers, and wildlife.

Crill's future plans for Elizabethtown College are centered about turning over to the students the control of many facilities and activities which are for their benefit and which are now controlled by his office. This will occur, according to Crill, as soon as the students demonstrate that they have the ability and good judgment to effectively coordinate such activities.

FEEDBACK — THE 50 PERCENT CLUB

Recently I discovered in my personal file a packet on which I had written, "Do not destroy". Apparently the cover page captured my attention strongly enough to give the body of material closer consideration later.

That was six weeks ago. This packet contained a questionnaire of considerable importance; it remains unanswered.

On the discovery of the true nature of this packet, I immediately identified myself with an E. C. Alumnus who overlooks requests from the College for information.

Approximately 50 percent of E. C. alumni responded to three different questionnaires. After two appeals, 50 percent of the alumni returned questionnaires for the purpose of gathering information for an Alumni Directory.

The class of 1961 received a congratulatory note on their graduation and a self-addressed card which was to be mailed as soon as they were employed. Fifty percent of the class responded. Again, 53 percent of the officers of former classes responded to the request to assist in the Fourth Annual Giving Fund.

Pray for peace.

If we are followers of the teachings of Christ and believe in God to whom we pray for His blessings, we certainly can pray to God to give us world peace.

During this time of the Berlin crisis, Laos, and bomb shelters, perhaps we talk and worry too much. We neglect to consider the possibility that God may be vitally interested in our welfare and may bestow on us His blessings in the form of world peace if we would only ask Him.

President Joins Students On Clarification Mission

"Inevitably, any high official gets the complaints first, the praise later," Park Mellott, Student Senate president, said President Roy McAuley is certainly no exception.

With this, the question and answer session with President McAuley began Thursday, January 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the Brinser Lecture room.

"This is not a debate," said President McAuley. "This is simply an opportunity to clarify many of the policies of the administration."

Mellott then read the questions to Dr. McAuley and the 41 listeners. Questions from the audience supplemented the written ones.

Q. What is the present policy on chapel cuts?

McAuley: The allowed number of cuts is, of course, two. Anyone taking more than the allowed number becomes a question for individual administrative action, which, incidentally, has happened this year.

Q. What are the immediate plans for Elizabethtown College in regard to size, variety of courses, etc.?

McAuley: As far as the courses go, we expect to offer a music major and a physics major as soon as possible. This is not, however, as easy as it sounds—the courses must be accredited. These new courses do not represent a trend toward specialization. We must maintain our standing as a liberal arts college. We see an enrollment increase of about 75 next year. In 10 years, the students will number no more than 1000—thus, the values of a small college will be maintained.

Q. In the future, will A-grade and B-grade students be allowed to use their discretion in the number of cuts?

McAuley: This is bound to come—soon, I hope.

Q. Some think that there is discrimination in the selection of new students because of religion. Does the college favor one student over another because he is Brethren?

McAuley: There is no discrimination whatsoever. In fact, statistics show that only 20% of all students here are Brethren.

Questions about the limited number of courses in several of the departments here came from three students. President McAuley answered all the questions the same way: "We don't have qualified teachers for all the desired courses; we are, however, trying constantly to rectify the situation."

PHYSICS

Three other additional courses are: Mechanics and Fluid Flow for Teachers, Electricity and Magnetism for Teachers, and Atomic and Nuclear Physics for Teachers.

The decision to initiate a major in physics was made in the light of the interest displayed in such a program during the past several years, Dean Hershman related.

"From 1958 to 1961 we had twenty students enrolled in our pre-engineering program, which of course has a heavy emphasis on physics. Of this number, nine transferred to other institutions after their junior year in order to complete a physics major," he stated.

A report from the physics department states that a strong and balanced science department is essential to a well-rounded liberal education.

"Our biology and chemistry departments are well-recognized, and we feel we have the potential, both in professors and students, to develop an excellent department in physics. We serve mostly first generation college students from the farms and villages of southeast Pennsylvania. Surely there are many potential scientists here who are deserving of the opportunity of developing their talents at this place," states the report.

Roughly $32,000 will be involved in purchasing new equipment for the physics department. Some of the major items to be purchased are: spectrometer, grating spectrograph, potentiometer, oscilloscope, oscilloscope camera, nuclear training system, propane bubble chamber, thermonuclear fusion reactor, neutron beam irradiation facility, scale, and two AC and DC control panels.

Although a physics major will be available, Elizabethtown is still involved in a cooperative engineering program in which a student attends Elizabethtown for three years and then transfers to The Pennsylvania State University for two years.

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK

Where Does the Money Come From?

Costs of a college education have risen sharply in the post-war era. As costs to educate rise for colleges, tuition and other expenses have risen for students. The interesting thing is that the ratio of monies furnished by the student, to the amount made-up to meet actual costs on the part of the college remain about the same throughout the years.

At Elizabethtown College students pay just less than 60% of actual costs for their education, and the College seeks and finds in other areas just more than 40% of the money.

Where does this money not paid by the students come from? The Church of the Brethren is the largest single constituent giver. Industry, foundations, alumni, parents, and friends all help pay for your education.

Seeking this extra money requires the time and energies of several people. Mr. Robert Young, Administrative Assistant, spends his full time in this effort. Mr. James Yeingst, Director of Public Relations, coordinates all fund-raising efforts. President-emeritus A. C. Baugher, and the President of the College all spend considerable time in the effort to interest individuals and groups to invest their substances in young lives.

We are happy to tell you that many fine people and a number of excellent business enterprises believe in the kind of education you are receiving here, and thus are willing to help with the expenses of an education of which we hope you may be justly proud now, and in the years to come.

President Roy McAuley

Debating Team Will Meet LVC, F & M

Two tournaments are scheduled for the college debate team. The two tourneys are the First Annual Presidential Tournament at Franklin and Marshall College, February 9 and 10; and at Lebanon Valley College, March 17.

The meet at F&M will include approximately 40 colleges and universities. Six schools, all in their second year of debate, will participate in the meet at LVC.

Letters have been sent to a number of nearby colleges inviting them to participate in informal, practice-type debates. They will be held in the evenings, either on their campus or ours, with several debates being held concurrently. No replies have been received, stated Prof. Jacob Riley, director of the College debate team.

Debate Team Is Available For Meetings

Elizabethtown College now has a number of debaters willing to appear before service clubs, high school groups, and similar organizations, according to Professor J. E. Riley, director of forensics.

The debaters will present arguments for both sides of the national intercollegiate proposition, "Resolved: That Labor Organizations Should Be Under the Jurisdiction of Anti-trust Legislation."

A popular extra curricular activity during the early days of the College, debating has returned this year in the form of classes, a club, and intercollegiate competition.

Anyone wishing to engage the student debaters may contact Prof. Riley at Elizabethtown College, Elizabethtown, Pa.

They did not limit themselves to what they could hear and see and prove through their senses and they were not ashamed to pray to an infinite Creator.

As we alumni apply this motto to our lives, all who have accepted Christ have an example of Ultimate Worth in the form of a Man, who gave his entire life in service to mankind. We need not fear that our education will satisfy merely selfish ends, if we follow His example.

But to return to the professor's "religious conversion" theme, we don't think a person's turning from selfishness to ultimate worth will just happen. It takes a changed heart inside to make individuals turn away from selfish living.

We think this is where acceptance of the Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour comes in. Whether it takes place in a revival meeting or otherwise, it is highly pertinent to unselfish direction in getting and using and education. Christian colleges are indispensable to this purpose.

We would like to hear more from Professor Phenix, or from like-minded collaborators. Why not have him, or an associate, address a group of interested alumni on campus. His views are in a field in which the College has labored for more than half a century. We are sure many alumni will welcome new light on this all-important subject.

ENTERLINE

(Continued from Page 2) about the desirability of forming a northern and a southern alumni chapter in their state. The feedback here was 15 percent.

The promptness and extent of feedback is of concern to the college.

Through responses of alumni, the alumni office assembles information analyzes and interprets data, discovers trends and determines procedures. Through feedback, the college is in a position to answer questions for the departments of education on state and federal levels.

Of real concern to the college, too, is the number of alumni who pursue post graduate work and the number who enter particular vocations. Thus, feedback has value to the college—internal and external.

Now, one is not compelled to answer questionnaires. In fact, too many become a nuisance. We question, however, whether there can be too many of the right kind.

A private Christian liberal arts college thrives on information and support. The private school is a "privileged" school; it lies beyond the "public."

A strong feedback suggests morale, interest, and belief in the private institution on the part of alumni and others. Thus, response to the private school should be interpreted as a privilege.

Of this privilege, alumni should be particularly sensitive. It is through responses in many different ways that the private Christian liberal arts college perpetuates itself.

We appeal to you, "privileged" alumni, to respond to questions which relate to the college and the alumni association. A 33 percent return in business may be good; 50 percent in college is definitely better. Process the form you have marked "Important." Join the club of those who "do."

SAT Test Center Established Here

Geographical Location, Need For Extra Centers Stated As Reasons

Elizabethtown College has been chosen as an official testing center by the College Entrance Examination Board (Educational Testing Service), Princeton, N. J., according to Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean of the college.

Dr. David I. Lasky, head of the psychology department and director of testing, will be in charge of administering the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and the Achievement Tests taken by prospective college students during one of four yearly sessions.

Hershman said that geographical location and the need for additional centers as a result of increasing numbers of high school students taking the tests were the principal factors in choosing Elizabethtown.

Lasky announced that students taking the tests here would meet in the Brinser Lecture Room and be assigned to smaller rooms with more desirable testing conditions.

Elizabethtown has been designated as testing center no. 2B-294.

$500 Donated For Purchase Of Artwork

Elizabethtown College will enhance its collection of fine arts with the purchase of some 100 fine reproductions, Pres. Roy E. McAuley announced this week.

The acquisition, according to McAuley, has been made possible by an anonymous donor who contributed $500 for this purpose.

Prof. Henry M. Libhart, assistant professor of English and instructor of the College's course in the history and appreciation of art, was appointed to purchase the reproductions and supervise their mounting, framing, and hanging.

"What we're trying to do," Libhart said, "is embrace as much of all periods and schools of European and American painting as possible."

The reproductions will be of the rotogravure variety and are to be distributed among all buildings on campus.

Libhart added that the ultimate aim is to attract enough donors to enable the purchase of enough paintings and reproductions so that one good print can be framed and hung in every room on campus, dormitories included.

"Stretch" Bruckhart Joins BVsers In Belize

Glen J. (Stretch) Bruckhart, '61, Palmyra, and John W. Hoover, Elizabethtown, have joined Brethren Volunteer Service students in rescue and reconstruction efforts in Belize, British Honduras, after the capital of the British Caribbean colony was ravaged by Hurricane Hattie.

Former Etownian Editor, Joyce L. Miller, Weds

Joyce L. Miller, '61, now of Ann Arbor, Mich., last year's editor of the ETOWNIAN, became the bride of Kenneth G. Holmes, also of Ann Arbor, Monday, December 25, at 7 p.m., in Memorial Presbyterian Church, Lancaster, with the Rev. Richard Kirk officiating.

The couple will make their home at 797 Textile Road, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Joyce is employed as research assistant at Park Davis and Co., Ann Arbor, Mich.

Sports

Freshmen, Sophomores Dominate Jaygal Squad

Coach Allegra Hess' women's basketball team was to test its strength when Moravian journeyed to the campus as opponent number one for the 1962 season Thursday afternoon, January 11, in the Alumni Gym, but the Moravian girls never came.

The Jaygal courtsters entered the season with a comparatively young and inexperienced team. Janet Myers, the only senior on the squad, playing guard, is one of the four returning letter-winners.

The remaining members of the squad, now numbering 22 players, include three juniors, and the other 18 all sophomores and freshmen.

In addition to Miss Myers, junior Kady MacGregor returns in the guard position as a letter winner while junior Sue Wood and sophomore Anne Sharpe return for more varsity action as forwards.

Susanne Markey saw action on the junior varsity team last year in addition to her high school experience. Miss Moyer, Miss Idel, and Miss Taylor, all freshmen, also boast high-school experience in basketball.

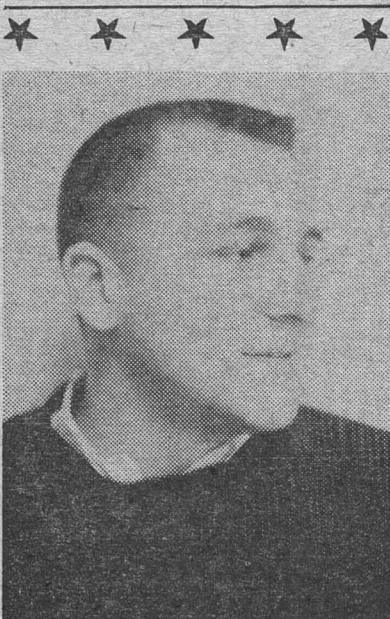

Three EC Players Make All-MAC Team

Elizabethtown College placed three soccer players on the all MAC team.

First team honors went to Jerry Botdorf, Junior lineman. Honorable mention went to Senior Ron Shubert and Freshman Henry Pownall.

In MAC play, the Jays finished second to Rutgers, with a record of 7-0-1.

Al Hershey finished third in MAC scoring with 10 goals, while Botdorf finished fifth. Tony McGlaughlin ended in the number seven spot, and Shubert grabbed the eleventh position.

Fred Seltzer Gets All America Mention

An Elizabethtown College soccer player, Fred Seltzer, has been given an honorable mention at left fullback on the 1961 All America Soccer squad.

The 5'8", 185 lb. junior from Annville attended the Annual Awards Luncheon of the National Soccer Coaches Association in New York City, Saturday (Jan. 13), along with his coach, Owen L. Wright.

Seltzer was a defensive mainstay on the Blue Jay team which ground out an 8-1-1 record over the past season to finish second in the Northern Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference.

A 1959 graduate of Annville-Cleona High School, Annville, Seltzer is a Business Administration major at Elizabethtown.

By FISKE MARTIN

Hostetter's Inn in Mount Joy hosted the Blue Jay soccer, hockey, and cross country teams last Tuesday night at the Fall Sports Banquet.

After the Jay performers did complete justice to the excellent meal, Publications Director Ken Bowers handled the M.C. duties.

As the various team members walked to the speaker's table to receive their due rewards, we sat back and reminisced.

We took out our pencils, grabbed one of Hostetter's napkins, and attempted a little basic math.

After adding three times, and deriving the same answer all but twice, we came to the conclusion that the guys and gals from Jaytown had great fall seasons.

All tolled, Blue Jay teams amassed a 23-9-4 record, received one write-up in the New York Times, and had an All-American selected. Not too bad, eh?

Have you ever heard of the "Clyde Award"?

It is a difficult award to win, as some disaster must strike a well-intentioned person.

We think we've discovered E-town's first "Clyde Award" of 1962.

It goes to Jim Balmer.

Last week Tom Wolfe hurt his shoulder, leaving the Jay wrestling team without a 123 lb. grappler.

Balmer volunteered to try to lose twenty-three pounds and wrestle against LVC.

From Friday until Wednesday, Balmer ate only a few orange slices, and drank one cup of tea. He consumed nothing else, not even water.

If this story ended as all good stories end, one James Balmer would have pinned one LVC wrestler in ten seconds of the first period.

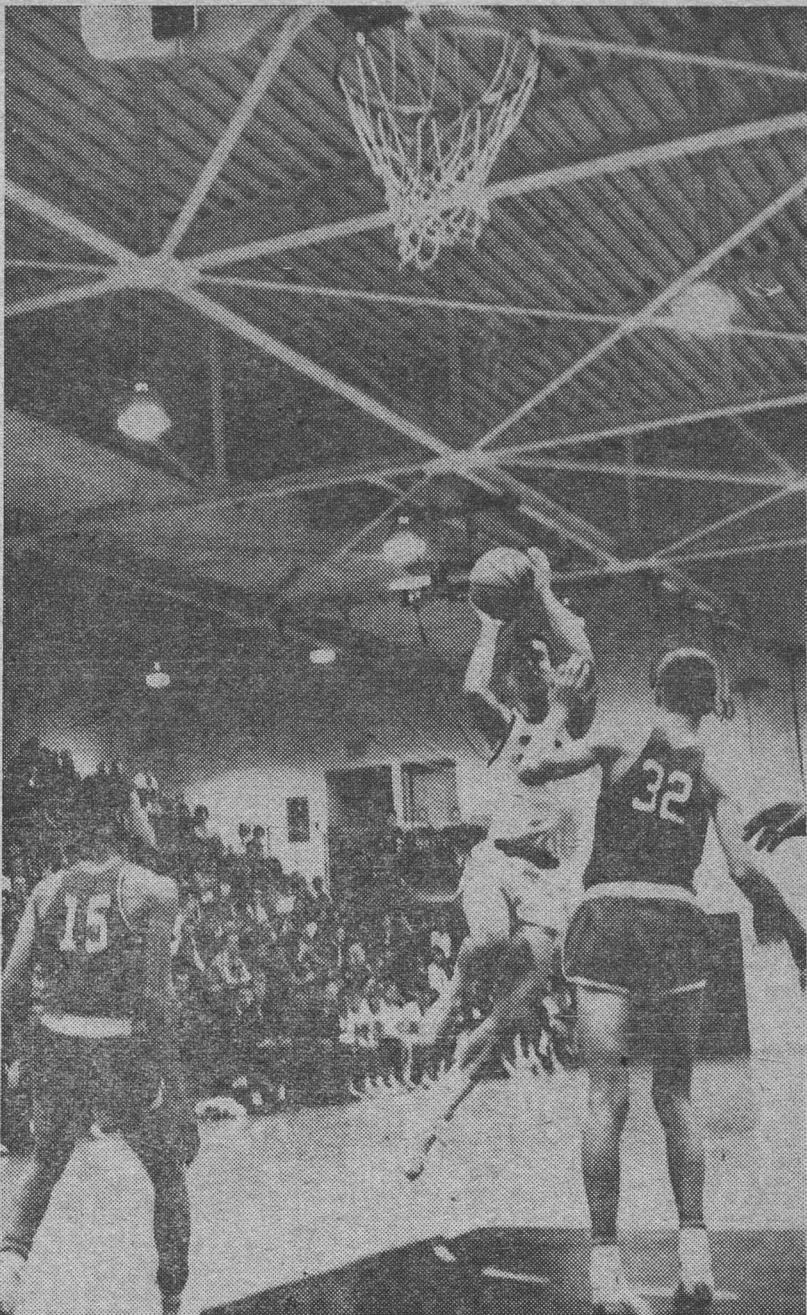

But, alas, Jim's weight dropped only twenty-two pounds. That last pound would not disappear unless they cut off his arm.

After much deliberation, Coach Les "That's One" Baum left Balmer's arm untouched and the Blue Jays started the evening with a five point deficit.

Balmer's Clyde Award bears this inscription: "To Jim Balmer, A Guy With A Lot Of Heart—Perhaps One Pound Too Much."

Jays Squeak Past Marauders, 65-64

Grapplers Drop Two; Now Have 2-4 Mark

The varsity basketball team won 2 of 3 decisions, the wrestling squad dropped two, and the women's basketball team found themselves without an opponent in recent athletic action at Elizabethtown College.

Only Coach Smith's cagers (7-3) had any action remaining this month as the grapplers and Jays layover now until the start of the second semester.

The Blue Jay basketball team, having won a squeaker at Millersville January 17 when Captain Barry Boyer sank a technical foul with one second remaining, was scheduled for a grudge battle at Lebanon Valley January 20 before closing the books on the first semester.

With ten seconds remaining, a Millersville field goal seemingly sealed the Jay's fate, but a full court pass from Larry Evans (subbing for the fouled-out Reitmeyer) and Boyer's driving layup tied it at 64 all.

Then a Millersville player called time out, and that resulted in the technical since the Marauders had already used their allotment of times out.

Boyer, who had six fielders and six fouls, was the Jays' top point man. Reitmeyer backed him up with 17, and Schlichter added 10.

The victory marked the first time in the series that Elizabethtown trimmed Millersville twice in one season and the first time they won three in a row. The Jays had copped the second of the set last year.

On January 11 the Smithmen had a fine showing against Moravian here when they trounced the Greyhounds 92-70, but were caught napping at Drexel when the Dragons handed them a 75-62 pasting two days later.

Captain Barry Boyer boosted his scoring average with 36 points in the two, which put him at 17.0 through the first nine games.

The Jays' other big scorer, freshman Dan Reitmeyer accumulated 30 points on the week and saw his average dip from 17.5 to 17.

Coach Les Baum's matmen dropped from the 500 mark in won-lost percentage when they dropped both meets scheduled for last week.

On Wednesday Lebanon Valley won out by an 18-11 count, and Gettysburg copped a victory Saturday, 19-9. A forfeit in the 123-lb. weight had the Blue Jays in he decided both opponents.

Jerry Greiner, 167-lb. Blue Jay kept his victory string alive when he decided both opponents last week.

Now at two wins and four losses, the local grapplers will see action next on February 3 at Moravian.

State Grants College Permission to Offer B. S. Degree in Music

Elizabethtown College will offer a bachelor of science degree in music education starting in September, Dean Jacob E. Hershman announced recently.

The College was granted permission to add the major to its course offerings by the State Council of Education on Wednesday, January 31.

Dr. Carl N. Shull, assistant professor of music, who designed the curriculum, said the major is framed primarily to prepare students for elementary and secondary teaching positions in the vocal and instrumental music fields.

He stated that courses will be offered in four basic areas—theory, history and literature, education, and applied curriculum.

The new music curriculum will consist of 67 credit hours in music. A total of 128 credit hours, many in general education, will be needed for graduation.

Prof. Nevin W. Fisher, head of the department of music, noted that 67 credit hours in music are 31 more than the 36 considered to be a minimum requirement by the state.

West Hall, now a dormitory located on the corner of Mt. Joy Street and College Avenue, will be renovated to provide new headquarters for the music department.

It will contain offices for the members of the department in addition to practice rooms, classrooms, and studios for private study.

Prof. David P. Willoughby is the third member of the department.

Between 15 and 20 students are expected to enroll as music majors in September.

College Concert Choir Begins Concert Series

The Elizabethtown College concert choir began a series of thirty-three concerts February 11 that will include appearances in churches and high schools in southeastern, central, and midwestern Pennsylvania, and Maryland.

The 35-voice mixed choir, directed by Prof. David P. Willoughby, will present a program including both religious and secular music.

In addition to selections by the full choir, the concert program will include numbers by a ladies' ensemble and a mixed ensemble, the Dufay Singers.

The featured soloist will be soprano Mary Gladfelter, senior. Miss Betty Markley, junior, will be the choir's accompanist.

Included on the choir's schedule is a six-day tour through midwestern Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Willoughby, now in his second year as choir director at the College, is a native of Harrisburg.

Comprehensive Fee Raised To $1,725

Elizabethtown College has announced its comprehensive fees for students, effective at the start of the 1962-63 academic year in September.

Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the college, indicated that under the new rate scale resident students will pay either $1,675 or $1,725, depending upon their dormitory facilities. The comparable rates this year are $1,575 to $1,625.

The comprehensive fee for non-resident students next year will be $1,050, compared to $1,000 currently.

Dr. McAuley indicated that the new rates were voted by the Board of Trustees in an effort to improve basic facilities for students, raise faculty salaries, and absorb the rising costs of operating the College.

Prof. Nelson Has Article Published

Prof. Clyde K. Nelson, head of the department of history at Elizabethtown College, wrote an article carried in the January issue of Foundations, a quarterly Baptist journal of history and theology published by the American Baptist Historical Society.

Nelson's article is entitled "Russell H. Conwell and the 'Gospel of Wealth'."

College Women Give $1000 To Zug Memorial Library

A check for $1,000 was given to Elizabethtown College Saturday during the annual luncheon meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the college, at the Palmyra Church of the Brethren.

The gift is part of a $5,000 pledge to be given by the auxiliary to strengthen the periodicals section of the college library. Dr. Roy

E. McAuley, president of the college, accepted the check from Mrs. Walter Mellinger, Witmer, Lancaster County, treasurer of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Wallace Baldwin, Palmyra, president of the auxiliary, presided during the business session.

Two officers were elected to three-year terms. They are Mrs. John Hershey, Litz, second vice-president, and Mrs. Rufus Bucher, Jr., Lebanon, recording secretary. Mrs. Hershey succeeds Mrs. Paul Grubb, Elizabethtown, who was named an area representative for the auxiliary. Mrs. Bucher was re-elected.

Other officers are Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Mellinger, and Mrs. Stanley Dotterer, York, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Clifford Huffman, Lancaster, first vice-president.

Mrs. Baldwin reported that total membership in the organization is now more than 1000. She indicated that a new membership drive will begin in April.

Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, Rexmont, past president of the auxiliary and one of its founders, was an honored guest. Miss Ann Carper, Palmyra, librarian at Elizabethtown College, reported that a copy of "Who's Who in American Women," which lists Miss Wenger, has been placed in the library in her honor.

Drama students from the college presented a one-act comedy entitled "The Marriage Proposal," by Anton Chekov. Several vocal solos were presented by Mrs. Arthur M. Smith, Carlisle.

Several officers of the college spoke briefly. They included Dr. Joseph W. Kettering, chairman of the board of trustees; Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean of instruction; and James L. M. Yingst, director of public relations.

Dr. Ernest Simmons, Russian Specialist, To Lecture on Campus

Dr. Ernest J. Simmons, a specialist who has played a major role in developing Russian-area studies in the United States, will be on the campus as a Danforth Visiting Lecturer February 21 and 22. His visit here will mark the second of four campus cultural programs sponsored by the College's Lyceum Committee during the academic year.

'51 Grad Gets Appointment At Harvard

Dr. S. Richard Heisey, '51, has been appointed to the Faculty of Medicine at Harvard, according to Dr. George P. Berry, dean of the Harvard Medical School.

An associate professor of Physiology, Dr. Heisey is a native of Elizabethtown. He received his B.S. here in 1951 and the Sc.D. degree in physiology from the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health in 1959.

Prior to joining the staff at Harvard, he was a predoctoral fellow with the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases, Bethesda, Maryland.

meetings with students and faculty, he will discuss "The Possibility of Change in Soviet Policy" and "Education's Challenge to Youth."

Dr. Simmons has received three Milton Grants for Foreign Travel. He has made six trips to the Soviet Union over the last 30 years, the latest being in 1958. All of these but one were for research purposes.

The teaching career of Dr. Simmons began in 1929 when he became an instructor at Harvard University. He later became professor, and chairman of the Board of English Tutors. He also taught in the fields of Russian Literature and Slavic Languages at Cornell and Columbia Universities.

Dr. Simmons has served as managing editor of the "American Slavic and East European Review," associate editor of the "English Slavonic Review," and general editor of the "Columbia Slavic Studies."

He was a Phi Beta Kappa Visiting Scholar in 1959-60, and has lectured under various other auspices. In Western Europe he has lectured at the Universities of Paris, Munich, Copenhagen, Aarhus, London, Oxford and Cambridge.

Since 1935 Dr. Simmons has been the editor, co-author and author of numerous books. Among them are "U.S.S.R., A Concise Handbook," "Through the Glass of Soviet Literature," "Continuity and Change in Russian and Soviet Thought," "English Literature and Culture in Russia," "Pushkin," "Leo Tolstoy," "Dostoevsky: The Making of a Novelist," and "Russian Literature and Soviet Ideology." He is currently working on a study of Chekhov.

Dr. Simmons' appearance at Elizabethtown College is made possible by a project sponsored jointly by the Association of American Colleges and the Danforth Foundation.

Dr. Carl N. Shull, assistant professor of music at Elizabethtown College, is chairman of the college's Lyceum Committee.

College Adds Reproductions With $500 Gift

By LOIS HERR

Through an anonymous $500 gift, 125 reproductions are being added to the fine arts collection of Elizabethtown College.

Rotogravure in type, the prints were chosen by Professor Henry M. Libhart. Reproductions of the works of famous artists, including Vermeer, Rembrandt, and Cezanne, are among his selections.

Representing art from pre-western to modern painting, the collection consists of ancient Mediterranean mosaics as well as works of Picasso and Pollock.

A great variety of periods and styles have been chosen by Mr. Libhart. These paintings will be studied particularly by the Art Appreciation classes.

According to Libhart, the paintings are now being measured and prepared for framing. By May Day or Alumni Day of this year, most of the reproductions will be on display in all campus buildings.

Consistent throughout, the frames will be cut and assembled by the maintenance staff supervised by Walter Brown. Having this work done on campus will make possible a total of 125 paintings; whereas only about 30 could have been purchased with frames for the same price.

Eventually, paintings will be distributed throughout the College buildings. Future donations could enable the purchase of a painting for every dormitory room as well as for offices, classrooms, and lounges.

After all of the reproductions have been numbered, Libhart will keep a catalog by which pictures can be systematically rotated every term.

An Alumnus Returns To Speak At Graduation

Dr. Desmond W. Bittinger, president of McPherson College, McPherson, Kansas was the headline speaker for the annual Winter Commencement exercises of Elizabethtown College, to be held February 7, 8:00 P.M., in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren.

An alumnus of Elizabethtown College from the class of 1927, Dr. Bittinger obtained his A.M. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1934 and his Ph. D. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1940. He is widely known as an educator-minister, traveler, lecturer, and author.

Dr. Bittinger is cited in Who's Who in America, Who's Who in Clergy, Who's Who in Education, Who's Who in the Western Hemisphere, and Who's Who in the Midwest. Just recently he was made a lifetime member of the International Association of Arts and Letters, which has its headquarters in Switzerland.

President of McPherson College since 1950, Dr. Bittinger formerly taught on the elementary, secondary, college, and university levels. He has been a minister for more than 35 years, serving in pastorates in New York, Missouri, Virginia, and Ohio, and was a missionary in Nigeria, Africa, for eight years.

A professor of sociology and anthropology, Dr. Bittinger spent eight years in Africa where he did anthropological studies in addition to his missionary activities. He has also traveled widely in Europe and has lectured in most of the United States and in foreign lands.

Offices in the Church of the Brethren which were held by Dr. Bittinger are numerous. He served on the National Board of the Church of the Brethren for twenty years and was editor of the Gospel Messenger, the official Church of the Brethren paper, for six years. Twice he was elected to serve as the National Moderator of his denomination.

He has been a delegate to the National Council of Churches and to the World Council of Churches at Evanston, Illinois, and at Nyberg, Denmark. He is presently a member of the Western Regional Board of the Church of the Brethren.

Numerous writings of Dr. Bittinger have been published. He is the author of In the Land of the Monkey Bread Tree, Black and White in the Sudan, Soudan's Second Sunup, The Church of the Brethren, Sno-Ball, a story for children, and several book reviews.

In his commencement address Dr. Bittinger warned the graduates that they are entering a world full of "strange, new knowledge."

He urged them to have (1) faith in themselves, (2) faith that they are needed as individuals ("God didn't make us in the mass"), (3) faith in the continuous improbability and redeemability of mankind, and (4) faith in the goodness and eternal power of God.

In speaking of improbability, Dr. Bittinger said, "Mankind does not advance in a steady climb, but rather from one plateau to another. And there is no assurance that man will always go forward. He can also go backward, depending upon the kind of people living in the age involved and how they use the opportunities that are presented."

From The Secretary's Angle

By C. G. ENTERLINE, Alumni Secretary

IT CAN BE DONE

On January 24, Professor Edgar T. Bittinger, '50, vice president of the Alumni Association, and C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary, drove to Pocono Manor Inn to take the pulse of activities in District II of the American Alumni Council (the Middle Atlantic States, of which we are a part).

To attend a conference of this type and to participate in group discussions is to catch front-line action in many sectors of alumni activities. Everyone engaged in discussion of subjects like public relations, fund raising, alumni activities, admission of freshmen to college, publications, and the like.

Some of the suggestions and activities can appropriately be applied to the E. C. Chapters and the Association as a whole.

Here are a few suggestions which we captured from our two-day stay. Creative and energetic alumni can apply some of the ideas presented.

1. Alumni chapters without detaching themselves from their Alma Mater can become increasingly independent and self-operating: collect dues, develop programs, exploit alumni talent, provide scholarships for capable, needy students in their areas.

2. Alumni can relate themselves more intimately with their Alma Mater by appointing committees to evaluate co-operatively such areas as instruction, placement, athletics continuing alumni education, publications.

3. To get an alumnus point of view, the editors of the various college publications can solicit articles on timely subjects from alumni. A "column" can be re-

Especially For Alumni . . .

DR. NORMAN F. REBER
President, Alumni Association

We came away from a meeting on campus early this month with a feeling that we had sat in on an historical occasion in alumni participation and influence at Elizabethtown College.

The important event was a meeting of class agents, each of which will contact his or her own class members in the College's Fourth Annual Giving Campaign. This was the first such occasion in E. C. alumni annals, at least as far as we can recall.

Slippery highways reduced expected attendance, but, even so, the interest was good and morale high. We were especially delighted with the information from Jim Yeingst, college public relations director, that more than 40 class agents had signed up to help. This, we feel, is an auspicious beginning to a vital undertaking. We compliment all class agents on their school and class spirit!

This undertaking is so important because only a small percentage of alumni are participating in this kind of effort. Really, we are doing quite poorly. Only 528 alumni out of a total of 4,400 or slightly more than 10 percent took part in the 1961 campaign.

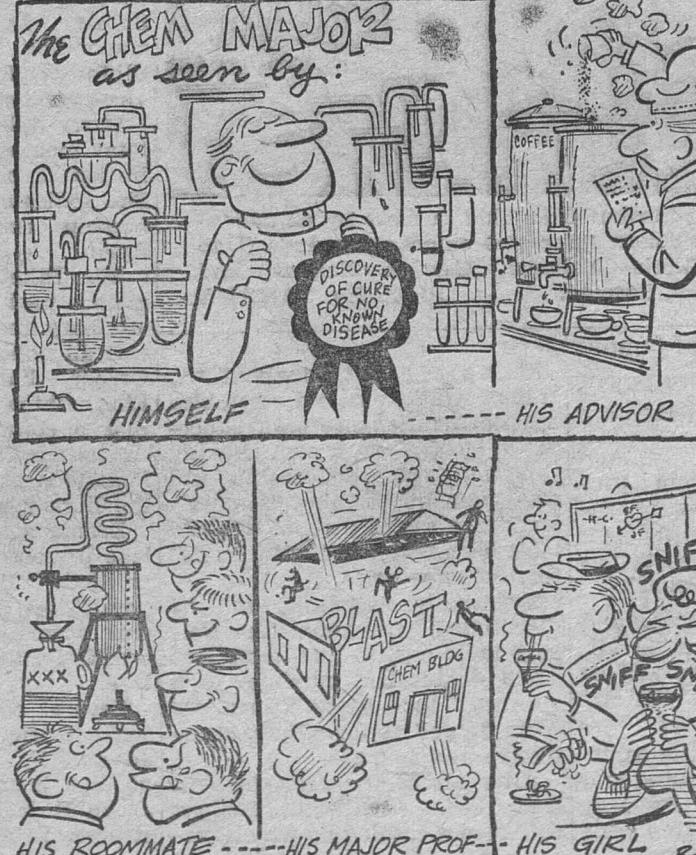

Lest we jump to the conclusion that all our college can cultivate is "dollar" relations with its alumni, just ponder strong recent evidence to the contrary:

You are now receiving an ETOWNIAN alumni edition every month. These issues are giving you more news about the doings of schoolmates.

Sophomores: David Brownback, Jenny Harbison, Caroline Heimerer, Virginia Heisey, Robert Kerr, Anne Keuhnelian, Albert Koch, Jay Lehman, James Oberholzer, Virginia Rudy, Scott Swank, Betty Wenger, and Linda Young.

College to Share in Legislator's Extra Pay

St. Francis, Keystone Junior and Elizabethtown Colleges will each receive checks for $333.33, thanks to Pennsylvania House Speaker, H. G. Andrews, D-Cambria County.

Andrews split his $1,000 extra compensation for the recent special legislative session on reapportionment. The speaker will retain the odd penny, he advised the house.

Elizabethtown and Keystone were chosen by lot out of the 23 colleges submitted to Andrews by the house membership. He chose St. Francis College of Loretto, Cambria County, himself. His home is in Johnstown.

Andrews and Sen. Anthony J. DiSilvestro, senate president pro tempore, were the only legislators who received extra pay for the special session.

DiSilvestro said he would divide his $1,000 among student loan funds at four Philadelphia colleges and universities.

Alumni Association
Elizabethtown College
Elizabethtown, Pa., U.S.A.

Dear Friends:

The fact that I have not received any mailings from the college in the last half year reminds me that I failed to keep the Alumni Association posted on my activities and whereabouts.

Last June I received the Master of International Service degree from the American University, Washington, D. C. During the two and one half years in which I did part-time study for this degree, I was Associate Secretary of the National Service Board for Religious Objectors, half-time position.

At the beginning of last July my wife (the former Carolyn Ressler) and our year-old daughter Suzanne and I arrived in Italy to take up some language study. In August I became director of the Sardinian project of the Brethren Service Commission.

The project was initiated in 1957 under the direction of H. E. L. P. (Homeless European Land Program) founded by actor Don Murray and interested friends for the express purpose of resettling from the refugee camps those refugees which were unable to emigrate or to find a permanent integration in their country of asylum.

Most of these refugees belong to the so called "hard core" cases, that is, when the International Refugee Organization had terminated its work and when immigration authorities from various countries had combed the camps for prospective immigrants, these persons remained.

They were unacceptable for various medical reasons or perhaps had a police record, or even political reasons might be the cause for rejection. The Brethren Service Commission in 1959 took over the administration of the project from H.E.L.P.

On a 140-acre farm we are attempting to establish a means of livelihood for the eleven cases for which we are now responsible. (Including families the number of persons is thirty). This also means rehabilitating them from the damage done by ten and more years of life in the horrible conditions of a refugee camp. It is proving a very interesting and challenging work.

Incidentally, E-town alumnus Ken Kreider was here in the initial stages of this work on his tour of duty with BSC. His brother Robert is now on our staff.

Sincerely,
Ellis Shenk '53

College Receives Gift From Mountville Firm

A $500 gift has been received by Elizabethtown College from Musser's Potato Chips, Inc., Mountville, according to Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of the college.

The money is to be used for undergraduate research, conference attendance, improved facilities in the science department, and general development.

The calendar presented reflects a good spring showing. In the incubation stage, at least in the thinking of the alumni office, possibilities for chapters are in Reading, south central Pennsylvania, New Jersey and others. Alumni in these areas are encouraged to communicate their ideas to the alumni secretary. Leadership and "followership," sprinkled with a keen interest in alumni activities perpetuate existing chapters and encourage the organization of new ones.

Harrisburg Chapter To Hear Guy Swope At Annual Meeting

Mr. Guy J. Swope, Deputy State Treasurer and former governor of Puerto Rico, will be the principal speaker at the Annual Dinner Meeting of the Harrisburg Chapter of the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association, according to Miss Frances Mary Trombino, '35, chapter president.

Scene of the meeting will be the Bosler Room at Allenberry near Boiling Springs on Saturday, April 7, 1962, at 6 p.m.

Pres. Roy E. McAuley will bring greetings from the College; C. G. Enterline, Alumni Secretary, will officially represent the College; and Jack Bolton, '53, will be master of ceremonies.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Walter M. Schell, '55.

During a brief business session, officers for the following year will be elected. Members of the nominating committee include Mr. Albert Richwine, '49, chairman, Miss Hilda Gibbel, '41, Mrs. Carl Martin, '51, and Mrs. Benjamin Musser, 'x43.

Hosts and hostesses for the affair will be Carl Martin, '51, Ray Cobaugh, '35, Jacob Kuhns, '35, Rev. Roy S. Forney, '31, Richard Falk, '58, Dr. H. G. Grandone, 'x41, Mrs. Elizabeth Axe May, '35, and Miss Helen Gross, '30.

Mrs. Albert Richwine, Mrs. Hazel Bowman, '55, and Miss Gail Deimler, 'x58, will register the members who attend the meeting.

In addition to Miss Trombino, the chapter officers include Albert Richwine, treasurer, and Miss Frances Bishop, '54, secretary.

In addition to serving as governor of Puerto Rico in the past, Swope served as Budget Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; he was a member of the U.S. House of Representatives, the Auditor General of Puerto Rico, the Director of United States Territories, a member of General MacArthur's staff in Tokyo, and a special assistant of the United States High Commission in Germany.

Dr. Byerly Elected To Two Committees

Dr. Robert A. Byerly, head of the department of Bible and philosophy and director of religious activities, was named to posts in two statewide associations recently.

He will serve on the Education Committee of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association and in the Division of Christian Education of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches.

E-town College to Offer Program of Study Abroad

Elizabethtown College will cooperate with five other colleges affiliated with the Church of the Brethren in a program of undergraduate study abroad to begin in the fall of 1962, according to president Roy E. McAuley.

The program, designed to accommodate approximately 25 students each year, is set up so that the participating students can take their junior year course work at Philipps Universitat, Marburg/Lahn (Marburg University, Marburg, West Germany).

Student quotas for each of the cooperating colleges will be derived by assigning to each college the same proportion of the 25 openings as the total full-time enrollment of the college bears to the combined enrollments of the six colleges.

Dr. McAuley stated that any number of students may apply; applications are being handled by Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean of the college.

No quota has been designated as yet for Elizabethtown.

Each year a professor from one of the six cooperating colleges will be selected to serve as the director of the program in Europe. He will also serve as one of the teachers in the program, along with several German professors.

Students interested in the program will be expected to have had at least two years of college level study in the German language.

According to the committee on higher education of the Church of the Brethren, the objectives of the program are:

"To provide a qualitative educational experience in depth in certain subject areas which can be taught more effectively in a foreign environment than in the typical American college.

"To provide knowledge and appreciation of a foreign culture, and to enhance the student's appreciation of his own cultural heritage through direct contact with a differing culture. To give him a broader perspective upon his own society and a new understanding of human society in general.

"To introduce the student to an educational experience which will stimulate a more rapid development of self-reliance and maturity than is provided in most American colleges.

"To further world understanding and world peace.

"To bring to our campuses a bit of the flavor of a European educational experience.

"To satisfy requests from Brethren students who desire a study-abroad experience.

"To strengthen ecumenical ties."

It is hoped that participating students will have the opportunity to live in a university dormitory during half of the term and in German homes during the other half.

By careful selection of courses from those available at Marburg University and those offered directly under the auspices of the cooperating colleges, each student will be expected to earn sufficient credits to equal an academic year of work at his American college.

Invited guests to the class dinner were Dr. and Mrs. Roy E. McAuley, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Schlosser, '11, sponsor of the 1927 class, and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Enterline, '31, Alumni Secretary.

Following the dinner, the class assembled in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren to hear Dr. Bittinger deliver his commencement address "By Faith." A remnant of the class mingled with the graduates, parents, faculty, and friends at a reception in Myer Hall after the graduation exercises.

Wenger Sparks Class of 1927

Smiles spread by the mile as members of the class of 1927 gathered at the Clearview Diner to honor Dr. Desmond W. Bittinger on Wednesday evening, February 7. Some of the members of the class had not seen each other for a quarter-century and smiles of recognition broadened at the class reunion.

Dr. Bittinger, President of McPherson College, McPherson, Kansas, came east to deliver the mid-year commencement address, and Samuel S. Wenger made this the occasion to bring the class of 1927 together. Members present were:

Mr. & Mrs. H. R. Sauder, 231 S. Harlan St., York, Penna.; Mr. & Mrs. Samuel S. Wenger, R. D. 1, Paradise, Penna.; Mr. & Mrs. Ralph H. Clopper, R. D. 6, Carlisle, Penna.; Miss Anna M. Lansdell, 1807 Old Phila. Pike, Lancaster, Penna.

Miss May E. Gross, 109 E. Park St., Elizabethtown, Penna.; Mr. & Mrs. John Tennis, and their two daughters, McAlisterville, Penna.; Dr. & Mrs. Aaron Breidenthal, 715 Pleasure Rd., Lancaster, Penna.; Mr. & Mrs. C. Ronald Groff, 214 Barrington Rd., Upper Darby, Penna.

Cagers Spark Winter Sports With 11-3 Mark; Jaygals 1-1; Matmen 2-7

The varsity basketball team was riding on a five-game winning streak; the wrestling team was stumbling to the tune of a five-meet losing skein; and the Jaygal court crew was at the .500 level with a 1-1 mark as athletic action at Elizabethtown College reached the mid-month point in February.

Coach Don Smith's cagers completed a three-game home stand unscathed and boosted their season's log to 11-3 on February 14 when they toppled an aggressive and sharpshooting Western Maryland quintet by an 85-61 count.

They had defeated Juniata, 68-62, and Dickinson, 81-68, the preceding week.

Hitting 52.6 percent of their shots from the field, the Blue Jays outlasted Western Maryland through three quarters with some fine marksmanship of their own and then pulled away when the terrors had to loosen their defenses.

BOYER LEADS WAY

Captain Barry Boyer, who was in foul trouble during most of the second half, paced the Jays offensively with 21 points. He was 10 for 15 from the field.

Freshman Larry Evans helped brace the attack with 18 counters; Jim Schlichter and John Neely added 16 and 15 in that order.

The Smithmen headed for northern Pennsylvania Friday and Saturday (Feb. 16 and 17) for a set with Wilkes and Scranton and were next scheduled at home against Gettysburg on February 21.

Their final home appearance will be against Susquehanna on February 28.

GRAPPERS HIT SKIDS

Coach Les Baum saw his grapplers drop their seventh decision in nine outings on February 14 when Muhlenberg slipped by them, 18-17, at Allentown.

The Jay matmen, who own only early season victories over Western Maryland and Penn Military College, had previously lost lopsided affairs to Ursinus and Moravian by identical 26-8 scores.

Gerry Greiner, 167-pounder now in academic trouble, had been the Jays' lone undefeated grappler. He had chalked up eight consecutive wins.

Baum's wrestlers had only two meets remaining at this writing: February 17, against Lycoming, here and February 24, against Albright, here.

WOMEN START LATE

The women's basketball team was merely getting started at mid-February. Coach Allegra Hess's gals had split even in their initial encounters, tripping Millersville, 33-21, and losing to Gettysburg, 42-29.

The Jaygals were scheduled to play three road games—Bridgewater, Shippensburg, and Lebanon Valley—between February 16 and 22 and were to play at home (high school gym) for the first time on February 27 against Gettysburg.

Alumni Cage Twinbill Slated For March 10

An Elizabethtown College alumni basketball double-header, pitting the Blue Jay cagers of the past against the men's and women's varsity basketball teams of 1961-62, will be held in the Elizabethtown Area High School gymnasium, Saturday, March 10.

The women's alumni game will begin at 7:00 p.m.; the men are slated for 8:30 p.m.

Sponsor of the twinbill is the Varsity "E" Club, a campus organization for letter-winning athletes.

Sam Gruber, club president, announced that part of the games' proceeds will go to the National Basketball Hall of Fame, Springfield, Massachusetts, as payment of Elizabethtown College's lifetime membership.

The alumni squad for the opening contest will be comprised of former Jaygals from the teams of Miss Julia Risser, coach here from 1955 to 1961.

During her six seasons as coach, Miss Risser's teams ground out 36 wins and 27 losses. Best of those teams was the 1956-57 outfit, which posted an 8-2 record.

The 1962 Jaygals had a 1-1 mark prior to their February 16 encounter at Bridgewater.

Representing the alumni in the nightcap will be an assortment of graduates who have worn the blue and gray since Don Smith took over the coaching reins here in 1954.

Smith's seven previous teams racked up a total of 86 wins and 68 losses. They suffered losing seasons only twice. The best record (18-6) was carved out by the 1955-56 crew.

This year's cage squad, captained by the team scoring leader, Barry Boyer, had piled up a 11-3 record as of February 15.

Coach Lester C. Baum, sponsor of Varsity "E", noted that future alumni games are doubtful because of the new ruling of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which will prohibit member institutions from holding alumni games as of next year.

one. We will see some good results in forthcoming chapter meetings.

Beyond all this, as alumni show an increased willingness to help our college with its needs, alumni influence and participation in important decisions on the campus will increase. Increasing interest and support will not be ignored. It will be heard.

We have been thrilled with the advances at Elizabethtown on the educational front. Dean Hershman has great plans afoot in an acceleration program that allows gifted high school students to advance to college at the end of their junior year. Also, physics and music majors are now planned for the college. These are straws in the wind. Much more is to come.

Here is a great opportunity for us to do more than lip service to our faith in private, non-tax-supported Christian higher education. Let us in this generation give support to the great vision of our founders that the Lord Jesus Christ shall be honored and served in the getting and using of an education. We can help to guarantee this to the next generation that follows us on campus.

Please respond to your class agent when he makes his appeal!

Eight New Courses Available During Second Semester

Elizabethtown College is offering eight new courses that will be available to students for the first time during the second semester, 1961-1962. These courses cover a wide range of subjects. Following is a brief description of each course as explained by the Registrar, Miss Emma Engle.

Mathematics Department: Survey of Mathematics, 10:05-10:55, (M.W.F.); 12:05-1:55, (M.W.F.); 4:05-4:55, (M.T.T.), Mr. Wycoff—This course is available mainly for those students who must complete six hours of required math for their degree without specification of an advanced course.

Business Department: Statement Analysis, 7:00-8:45 p.m. (Tues.)—This course is now a senior requirement for Accounting majors.

Intermediate Macro-Economic Theory: 7:40-8:30, (M.W.F.)—This is second semester course following Micro-Economic Theory.

International Trade: 9:40-10:30, (T.T.)—This course is another elective for business majors.

Biology Department: Plant Physiology, 1:05-4:55, (Fri.), taught by Dr. Rao.—This course is the study of the physical anatomy of plants.

Genetics: 8:40-9:30, Lect. (T.T.), 9:30-11:30, Lab. (Tues.) also taught by Dr. Rao.—This is a course involving hereditary factors.

Psychology Department: Psychological Statistics, 1:05-1:55, (M.W.F.), taught by Dr. Lasky.—This course involves technical data used in experimental psychology. It is recommended for the Psychology Major.

Bible Department: New Testament Thought, 10:05-10:55, (M.F.) taught by Dr. Byerly.

S & B Casts 'Laura'

Casting for the Sock and Buskin play, "Laura," to be presented March 3 in the Elizabethtown High School Auditorium, has been completed, according to Mrs. C. G. Enterline, associate professor of English and dramatics instructor.

Those holding roles in the play are Phil Bufithis, Neil Cunningham, John Mumment, John Eshelman, Marjorie Hollinger, Arlene Thomas, Nancy Johnson, and Chester Rose.

Student director of the play is Elizabeth Hershberger.

Baltimore Symphony Orchestra To Play At High School March 22

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Peter Herman Adler, will present a community concert at the Elizabethtown Area High School auditorium, March 22. This concert is the second in a series of cultural programs sponsored by the Elizabethtown College Lyceum Committee and The Patton School.

Consort Of Viols Slated For Apr. 11

By MARGE HALES

Visiting Elizabethtown College campus on April 11 will be the English Consort of Viols, a group devoted primarily to performing a branch of chamber music in which this country attained a preeminence that all Europe once recognized.

They will present two recitals in Elizabethtown, the first on Wednesday morning (9:40) in the Fellowship Hall, Church of the Brethren, and the second in the evening at 8:00 in the auditorium of the Elizabethtown Area High School.

The Consort's United States itinerary begins April 7 with a recital at Princeton University; then the Philadelphia Museum of Art; after this, two recitals at Elizabethtown College. They will also perform in New York City; Washington, D.C.; Williamsburg, Va.; Wellesley, Mass.; Yale University, Hartford, Conn.; New London New Hampshire and also in Ohio and Kentucky.

Dr. Henry Hood visited England in 1956 and 1960, and became acquainted with the Consort. He is credited with arranging the entire United States itinerary, and more specifically is responsible for the Consort's performance at Elizabethtown College.

Marco Pallis, son of a Greek poet, and an authority on Tibet and its traditions, as well as a viol-player of great skill, is the leader of the English Consort. He has written two books on Tibet Peaks and Lamas, (Alfred Knopf, New York) and The Way and the Mountain (Peter Owen, London).

Marco Pallis is assisted by Elizabeth Goble, who performs bass viol solos with the Consort. Elizabeth Goble is the Received here enthusiastically in their first local concert last year, the Baltimore Symphony will present two major works in the program. These include a piano concerto by Sergei Rachmaninoff and Anton Dvorak's famed "New World" Symphony.

Featured piano soloist will be Ruslana Antonovicz, a three-year prize winner at the International Piano Competition in Geneva, Switzerland. An honor graduate of the Music Academy in Vienna, she also received the "Mozart Medal 1956" for her performance at the opening concert of the 1956 Mozart Festival in Vienna.

Formed in 1916 the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra has sixty members for the current concert season. Its director, Peter Adler, is well-known for his direction of the N.B.C. Opera Company Orchestra.

Chairman of the Lyceum Committee is Dr. Carl N. Shull, assistant professor of music at the College.

In November, 1961, the committee brought to Elizabethtown the Dublin Gate Theatre with its presentation of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew."

To date the bookings for the next academic term include the Cleveland Playhouse and the Vienna Choir Boys. The former will present "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde.

wife of Robert Goble, England's leading maker of harpsichords.

Richard Nicholson, the third founding member of the Consort, like Marco Pallis, has travelled extensively in India and Tibet. He is the son of the famed yacht-designer and builder who built Sir Thomas Lipton's four contenders for the America Cup.

Dietrich Kessler, the fourth member of the Consort, is considered by many to be the finest maker of viols in the world.

Marjorie Lempert, the fifth member, is a professional player of various stringed instruments, including the viols.

Kenneth Skeaping, a musicologist of distinction, plays not only several modern stringed instruments, but also the viols.

College To Cooperate In Alcohol Studies

Elizabethtown College, in cooperation with the Pennsylvania School of Alcohol Studies, will offer for college credit a two week summer course on alcohol problems beginning July 23.

The course, "Alcohol Problems in Modern Society," will include an academic session and the regular session of the PSAS.

Dean of the school is Dr. Roy E. McAuley. Chairman of the Pennsylvania Council on Alcohol Education is the Rev. George I. Evans, Jr., executive secretary of the division of social relations, Pennsylvania Council of Churches.

Founded in 1945, the Pennsylvania School of Alcohol Studies lists as one of its purposes, "to contribute to the general welfare of society by helping individuals and groups to understand more fully the nature of human problems relating to the use of alcoholic beverages."

The course will carry credit for teacher's certification at Elizabethtown College.

Comprehensive costs for the entire course will be $115; tuition and fees for day students will be $65. Total charges for people attending only the regular PSAS session (July 30 to August 3) will be $50; day students, $25.

Harry K. Gerlach, '33 Grad, Candidate For Lancaster Co. Superintendent Post

Harry K. Gerlach, a member of the Class of '33 of Elizabethtown College, has announced his candidacy for the position of Superintendent of Lancaster County (Pa.) Schools.

Gerlach, whose career in public education started in 1934, is currently the assistant to Superintendent Reeder L. Eshleman, who announced plans to retire this July.

An affable, interested alumnus, Gerlach is serving as the representative of his class in the alumni phase of the College's Fourth Annual Giving Fund.

After taking his B.S. degree at Elizabethtown, he went on to earn his M.S. degree in school administration at the University of Pennsylvania in 1938.

Gerlach has worked as a teacher and principal of Fulton Township Schools, 1934-41; supervising principal of East Lampeter Township Schools (Lancaster Co.), 1941-47; supervising principal, Spring City Schools (Chester Co.), 1947-51; and supervising principal, Solanco Area Schools (Lancaster Co.), 1951-58.

He assumed his current post in 1958.

Religious Drama To Go On Road Tour With 'Way Of Cross'

"The Way of the Cross," a religious drama by Henri Gheon, will be presented by drama enthusiasts as the traveling play for the second semester, according to Mrs. C. G. Enterline, director of the play.

Included in the cast are Linda Logan, Margie Hollinger, Doris Weir, Henry List, and Herbert Smith.

The group, also known on campus as the Chancel Players, presented "The Prodigal Son" during the first semester.

College Seeking ECAP Applicants

Elizabethtown College, under a grant from the Hershey Chocolate Corporation, is seeking applicants for teaching positions in the secondary schools of Ghana and Nigeria.

Directory To Be Ready This Month

The postal service will deliver to each alumnus soon an Alumni Directory. The first directory appeared in 1953.

The directory will list graduates and non-graduates alphabetically. Graduates will be listed also by classes. Another division will list married women; another, the men and women who received honorary degrees.

Included also will be the past presidents of Elizabethtown College and the Constitution of the Alumni Association.

Alumni are encouraged to report omissions and errors so that the basic records in the files may be corrected. Omissions and errors there are. Through the co-operation of alumni, records can be more accurately kept.

A number of other colleges are cooperating in the project, which is known as the Elizabethtown College African Program (ECAP). The African-American Institute, a private non-profit organization is serving as the field liaison agent for the project.

Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of Elizabethtown College, and Dr. John Hershey, a member of the ECAP committee, are in Africa this week discussing the program with the ministries of education in Ghana and Nigeria.

The Hershey Chocolate Corporation is underwriting the program to better relations between the people of Africa and the United States.

To qualify, applicants must have a degree, either Bachelor's or Master's, in one of the following subjects: physics, chemistry, mathematics, natural sciences, English, or French. Teaching experience is not required.

Only single candidates or married couples without children will be considered. All applications should be sent to Dr. A. C. Baugher, ECAP director, at Elizabethtown College. Deadline for applications is April 15, 1962.

Accepted applicants will receive an intensive one-week orientation program at Elizabethtown College. Teachers going to Africa under the ECAP project will be given contracts for two to three years, depending on the area in which they will be employed.

Transportation to and from Africa will be provided by ECAP.

Other colleges cooperating in the project are Albright, Bridgewater (Va.), Eastern Mennonite (Va.), Franklin and Marshall, Goshen (Ind.), Juniata, Kutztown State, LaVerne (Calif.), Lebanon Valley, Manchester (Ind.), McPherson (Kan.), and Millersville State.

The program is developing as a "pilot project for small colleges," Dr. McAuley said last week.

"Up to now, large universities have always had the backing for something like this, while small colleges did not. We hope to show that small colleges can make contribution and be of world service."

"If we can prove to these countries that small colleges are preparing as adept scholars as the big universities, then we will have made a breakthrough for all small colleges."

Only six teachers will be sent this fall, but there are plans to expand the program once it gets on its feet.

"We are looking for people who are above average academically, who are emotionally stable and mature and in excellent physical condition," Dr. McAuley said.

"They must be graduated from a college, but don't necessarily need teaching certificates nor teaching experience. Teaching in these countries is associated with the major course of study and the degree a graduate possesses."

"The educational standards of these countries are very high," he commented. "These countries are really moving and there is a crying need for teachers there."

Campus Radio Station Given 'Go Ahead' Nod

The College has officially given its approbation to the proposed student radio station, slated for the 1962-63 college year.

There remains only one obstacle in the path of the long-planned station. A poll must be taken, and two-thirds of the students must find the proposed program favorable but the costs will be shared by the entire resident student body.

The station may not be used for any commercial purposes, it is stipulated, and the College will not pay any student salaries for the station. The College will provide the necessary facilities which are expected to cost over $3,500.

Education & Literature

Russian Writers Still Find Free Expression Difficult

By E. VIRGINIA WILLS

"We are not born with equal intellectual potential, yet we accept this postulate in running our schools." Thus Dr. Ernest Simmons, Danforth Visiting Lecturer who visited the campus February 21-22, summarized the growing tragedy in American education.

Dr. Simmons, an authority in Russian literature, has had ample opportunity in his lecturing trips to observe the American college student of today. He feels that there is too much emphasis placed on the degree itself as a status symbol. Prospective students would prefer to be second-rate philosophers or mathematicians rather than first-rate bricklayers or carpenters.

With such emphasis on the degree there has naturally been a lowering of standards to bring the degree within the reach of all.

Today education is a secondary goal of the majority of college students. Students are distracted by the multiplicity of extracurricular activities and athletic and social events. By a Gresham's Law effect the good standards of education are driven out by the lower standards.

Today a college degree is so common many feel that an advanced degree is necessary to distinguish the holder from the "ordinary" college graduate.

Dr. Simmons agrees that all have an inalienable right to an education, but emphasizes that the student should prove his ability before going on. Students should be educated to the limit of their ability, but the schools should not be cluttered with those who have achieved their potential and are merely occupying seats in the classroom.

He realizes that there would have to be a complete change in public attitude to effect this change. The blue collar worker should receive the respect due him, and degrees should be reserved for those who will most profit themselves and others. Otherwise the situation will continue to worsen as more and more attend college for little reason beyond obtaining a degree.

Dr. Simmons, turning to a comparison of Russian and American literature, pointed out that the Communist Party tends to regard literature as a political tool to educate people in the ideals of Communism. For this reason authors are not permitted to choose either topic or form, as all literary works must be planned for and be comprehensible to the masses. Free expression, such as in formalism or abstract painting, is not encouraged as it is inaccessible to the masses.

Dr. Simmons reminded that writers as a general class would find no more restraint in Russia than in the United States. In Russia and America writers produce that which will sell. Publishing houses thus exercise censorship in both countries. In Russia publishing houses are under the control of the government, and thus there is pressure to propagandize.

The chief difference, Dr. Simmons pointed out, is that the genuine artist in America has the freedom of selection of topic and form of his art. Sooner or later he will get a hearing; in Russia a genuine artist will probably never be heard.

There has been a noticeable lightening in the literary atmosphere in Russia since Stalin's death. Today there are no real punitive measures taken against writers. The worst that can happen to a recalcitrant writer today is loss of his job or expulsion from the writers' union.

For two steps forward, there is still one backward, but this is progress nonetheless. Dr. Simmons noted that the reading public in Russia is becoming fed up with the stereotyped stories offered. There is increasing interest in classical Russian writers of the nineteenth century and in Western writers.

Post-World War II plays by Russian writers were so stereotyped that they drew no audiences, but plays by Western writers, performed by both Russian and foreign actors, drew capacity crowds.

Many Western writers' works are being translated into Russian, and the spectrum of choice is quite wide; perhaps, according to Dr. Simmons, too wide. He commented that the control of the Party is not so stringent with foreign as with native writers.

Dr. Simmons observed that many Western people feel that if Russian writers were given complete freedom they would undoubtedly attack the present Russian government. He warned, however, that while there is a definite desire among writers for greater freedom of expression, this should not be equated with political unrest. In conclusion, Dr. Simmons reminded that "There is a good deal of pride in the regime."

From The Secretary's Angle

By C. G. ENTERLINE, Alumni Secretary

PROSPECTING

With the increasing size of graduating classes and the relative limited facilities for holding senior-alumni dinners, the alumni association and the college administration are obliged to modify programs in the near future.

Alumni Day, as presently conceived, developed at a time when graduating classes were small and alumni lived close to the school. What are some prospects for change?

One change is apparent; it is that of shifting the emphasis of mass activity from the college itself to chapters and classes themselves.

Conceivably, interest groups could still meet at the college at various times throughout the year to review and explore the latest in literature, science, (religious) drama, social studies, music, and the like. In fact, alumni are encouraged to visit the campus.

An opportunity exists, however, for chapters and classes to promote projects and to get a larger number of alumni involved in activities on their home fronts.

Here is a possibility for classes. As presently organized, the officers of the graduating class constitute the leaders for that class. Through a process of education on the part of the alumni association, the alumni secretary, and the college, class leaders can be made conscious of their opportunities for leadership in their post-college days.

One way to get a given class involved is to plan to meet somewhere once a year. The selection of a theme and a related project for the class carries many possibilities. This suggestion was the burden of a representative group of Elizabethtown College alumni which met early this year.

An examination of the chapter programs, which are scheduled for this spring, shows that faculty, alumni talent, outside speakers, carry the larger part of the program. These are good. The geographical gatherings encourage togetherness.

The programs, however, are largely of monetary design and purpose. A theme, a project involving alumni in a geographical area over a year's time or longer, would provide incentives and motives with long-time values.

The minutes of the Alumni Association are replete with suggestions from the Public Relations Committees for chapters and classes to pick up, adapt, and use. Cullings from the minutes of the last ten years will be presented in the next "Secretary's Angle."

On the horizon appear many themes and projects to involve alumni by classes and geographical areas. Alumni have the potential to capitalize on them. The prospects lie within the alumni. In astronomical terms, the sign is "GO."

Dr. Charles E. Weaver, '26, Manheim, was recently elected president of the Lancaster County Men's Christian Temperance Union. He will also serve as chairman of the organization and public relations committee.

Especially For Alumni . . .

DR. NORMAN F. REBER
President, Alumni Association

Remember how some of our parents used to say, "Don't talk back!" Some still do. We recall the commands, expressed in blunt Berks County Dutch, "Schwetz nat tsurick!" Or sometimes "Halt di Maul! (Shut up)" (Never mind the spelling. Nothing is standardized in this dialect. Each writer makes up his own rules!)

While we could hardly argue that such talk from parents was not at times richly deserved, we firmly hold that the frequent and indiscriminate use of such language has a repressive effect on both user and victim. It darkened both minds from the light of reason. Discerning parents of all generations have known or discovered that such talk generates more heat than light.

Repression of "contrary" thoughts or "gripes" does not erase them. They will show up somewhere, many times in violent explosions that can leave irreparable damage to personalities.

Although we have unfortunately used such talk at times as a parent, we have tried to keep it to a minimum, so we admit without regret there has been considerable "talking back" in our family. Disagreements, even family squabbles, should be brought to the light of reason, and this can't happen unless there is two-way communication.

We are serving on a school board committee that is trying to implement this principle on a school - system - wide basis. Our committee on internal and public relations early this month charted a procedure to encourage and channel "back talk." The plan is for patrons, school employees, public groups, in fact everybody living in our school system.

It is the policy to guide "gripes," starting at the teacher level and going all the way up to a full dress hearing before the school board, if necessary. The idea is to resolve problems at the lowest levels possible, but to keep open the right of appeal, if dissatisfaction persists.

The purpose is to keep problems and suggestions for improvement in the open, to build strong and friendly relations among school personnel and with the general public. It is our fond hope and urgent desire that channeled and carefully considered "back talk" can lead to better things.

Repression pushes such talk outside the realm of consideration where it is not heard by the very people who are in a position to do something about it. This does not mean that decisions will necessarily favor the "back talk" even half of the times, but at least the thoughts have been exposed to the light of reason in discussion.

Such procedure may already be in force within the Elizabethtown College Administration, but our particular concern at this writing is not with that so much as it is with alumni and college relations. Here we need vastly more "talking back" than we are having at present.

We feel that comment from alumni even in a critical vein is far better than hearing nothing at all, for the latter is an indication of repressed feelings or complete lassitude. Criticism at least shows interest, which many times can be channeled into usefulness to the Alumni Association and

CAMPUS LECTURER SAYS

Russia-Red China Schism Rooted in Economic Imbalance Similar to U.S. and Latin America

(Ed. Note: Dr. Ernest J. Simmons, who qualifies as an expert on the Soviet Union, delivered several lectures on various phases of Russian life here as part of the College's cultural program series.)

The ideological schism between Soviet Russia and Red China, the giants of the Communist camp, may be likened to the economic gulf separating the United States and Latin America.

That's the conclusion of Dr. Ernest J. Simmons, who ranks as one of the West's foremost students of the Soviet Union.

Dr. Simmons suggested that Red China is extremely envious of Russia's economic prosperity. This coupled with ideological political differences on whether or not to follow a policy of peaceful coexistence with the West has caused the split between Moscow and Peiping.

He cautioned, however, that, while significant, the split is not irredeemable. He believes both Russia and Red China have too much to lose by a complete rupture of cooperation.

Art and Politics

Russian art and literature experienced their greatest period of experiment and discovery in the early years of the Communist revolution, 1923-24, before the Kremlin discovered their political value.

During Stalin's regime the arts either became a tool of the government or were severely repressed. Then, in the years from 1953-57, there was a rebirth when many restrictions were relaxed. It was during this period, according to Dr. Simmons, that Boris Pasternak and others wrote their controversial works.

He feels the restrictions that were again placed on the men of arts and letters were a direct result of the satellite uprisings in Poland and Hungary.

In the Future

Looking to the future, Dr. Simmons thinks the impatience of Soviet youth may be an instrument for changes in Soviet life. However, he added, the number of "angry young men" is relatively small.

Dr. Simmons is an outspoken critic of relations between the Soviets and Western Allies which are based on "summit meetings" rather than traditional diplomacy.

Profs Represent College

Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh, head of the department of sociology, represented Elizabethtown College at the 17th Annual Conference on Higher Education in Chicago, Ill., March 4 to 7. Theme of the conference was "Higher Education in an Age of Revolutions."

Prof. C. G. Enterline, associate professor of business and alumni secretary, attended a meeting of alumni secretaries of independent liberal arts colleges in Eastern Pennsylvania at Albright College, March 19.

In the past, for example, a good many alumni have been interested in the building of a Field House on campus. Your Alumni president was directed by the Alumni Council to learn the status of the funds Alumni contributed for a building that is not yet a reality.

We have done this and a detailed report will appear in the Alumni Bulletin. The funds, rest assured, are still on hand for a Field House.

Our point is that contributors to that fund, as well as additional ones interested, should be encouraged to speak their thoughts on a Field House—perhaps set up a time table for its achievement. This can be done, as we see it, only by working closely and intelligently with the College Administration.

In short, we need an alumni relations procedure recognized and endorsed by the administration, whereby alumni "gripes" and suggestions, are heard and answered, even to a hearing and decision before the Board of Trustees, if not satisfactorily dealt with at lower levels. Such a policy and procedure would help to focus attention on areas in College-Alumni relations that may need improvement.

Already the College administration has given alumni a tool to "talk back" in the Alumni Edition of the Etowanian. This is a wonderful privilege for all alumni to speak their thoughts and is bound to have good results, if the administration gives at least careful consideration to the thoughts expressed. Not all are necessarily practical, but our point is that all should be heard.

Another way to get two-way communication going between the Alumni and the College Administration is in the Alumni Bulletin. There is no reason why our Alumni Association Public Relations Committee should not sit as an editorial board outlining the contents of this magazine. In fact, Jim Yeingst, College Director of Public Relations, has suggested this in a recent letter we have had from him.

Yes, talking back in fact is nothing more than two-way communication—College to Alumni, Alumni to College. It should be encouraged, channeled, heard and answered.

July BulletinTo Feature
'Moonshooter'

"The College of Tomorrow," a special 16-page report, is appearing in alumni magazines of more than 300 colleges and universities this spring. Estimated circulation is 2½ million. This article is referred to by the contributors as "The Moonshooter."

The Moonshooter under the title, "The Alumni US/A," appeared in the Elizabethtown College Bulletin, alumni edition, in July 1960. Alumni responded to this article with mixed feelings. The alumni council, consequently, did not encourage its use.

This year's report, however, seems to have much to say to all colleges and alumni. Consequently, the public relations office, the college administration, and the alumni office decided to use "The College of Tomorrow" in the 1962 issue of the alumni Bulletin.

This is the fifth report of its kind and the second time the Bulletin used the report. It was prepared by a group of alumni-magazine editors, working without pay, to bring information about higher education to a broader audience than they could reach through their individual efforts.

Accuracy of information in the report is reasonably assured through research and editing on the part of outside authorities. Statisticians of both the Independent Council for Financial Aid to Education and the U. S. Office of Education generously performed this service before the editors permitted the report to go to press.

Alumni everywhere are encouraged to read "The College of Tomorrow," which will appear in the alumni Bulletin soon, and report their reactions.

Lancaster Meets First

The Lancaster County Chapter of the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association will be the first of the chapters to meet this spring. The chapter will converge on the General Sutter Hotel, Lititz, on Saturday, March 31, 1962, for a 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting.

Baltimore Group Announces Plans For May 5 Event

The Baltimore Chapter of the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association announced details of its program for May 5, 1962.

The chapter meeting will be held at the Messiah United Church of Christ, 5615 The Alameda, Baltimore 12, Md. The dinner, which is scheduled at 6:30 p.m., will be followed by a program of music, comedy skit, and movies.

Baltimore's alumni are also planning a summer activity in the form of a picnic. This chapter of approximately 100 members has the forward look and reflects vigor and vitality.

Officers of the chapter are: president, Rev. David J. Markey, '47, 3610 Mohawk Ave., Baltimore; secretary, Mrs. Arthur Jerel Risser, '40, 6236 The Alameda, Baltimore; vice president, Rev. Clyde Shallenberger, '49, 309 Woodlawn Road, Baltimore; treasurer, Leon E. Henise, '50, 850 Edgedale Road, Towson, Md.

Mrs. Risser, the secretary, is requesting dinner reservations early.

Two College Profs On Lebanon Program

The Lebanon Chapter will meet on Friday evening, April 6, 1962, at 6:30, at the Blue Star Diner, Route 422, near Myers-town.

R. Lee Byers, assistant professor of mathematics, and Dr. Carl N. Shull, assistant professor of music, will tell Elizabethtown College alumni in the Lebanon area of the expanding programs in their respective departments.

The program committee is working diligently to harness the talent of the "Roosters," faculty augmented male quartet. Group singing and entertainment are also planned.

Reservations are to be made through Mrs. Gerald Seiler, '57, Bethel, Penna. President Paul Baschore, Jr., '54, and vice president, Rev. William Gould, '39 anticipate a larger attendance this year than last.

York Chapter Plans 34th Annual Affair

The York Chapter of the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association will be holding its thirty-fourth annual meeting on Saturday, May 5, 1962.

The York Countians will meet at the Avalon Dairy, Whiteford Road, York, at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Apgar, professors of Biology at the College will present a travelogue, "The Alcan to Alaska," growing out of their own experiences.

Talented alumni will further spice the program with instrumental and vocal music.

Reservations at $2.50 per person, payable at the meeting, may be made through the secretary, Mrs. Weldon E. Poff, R. D. 1, Windsor, Penna. Other officers are: president, Elmer Gleim, '39 and vice president, Dr. Glen Hamme, '53.

Dr. Baugher To Teach At Messiah College In '63

Messiah College, Grantham, has announced five additions to its next year's teaching staff. One of the new members of the staff will be Dr. A. C. Baugher, president-emeritus of Elizabethtown College. Dr. Baugher, who has had 26 years of experience in chemistry teaching, will teach organic chemistry at Messiah College.

Dr. Norman J. Baugher To Speak At June Commencement Exercises

Dr. Norman J. Baugher, general secretary of the General Brotherhood Board of the Church of the Brethren and the vice president of the National Council of Churches in the United States will be the speaker at the June commencement exercises. Dr. Baugher is a 1940 graduate of Elizabethtown College.

According to Dr. Roy McAuley, after consultation with senior class president, Dale Kilhefner, and the administrative committee, because of scheduling difficulties, it was decided that the baccalaureate service will be combined with the commencement exercises this year.

The combined exercises will be held, Sunday, June 3 at 2:30 p.m., in the Elizabethtown Area High School auditorium.

A lunch for students and guests will be provided in the dining room after Sunday church services. The meal will be served cafeteria style from approximately 11:30 a.m.

A president's reception will be held for graduates and guests, faculty and wives, and attending dignitaries after the ceremony in Myer Hall lounge.

Alumni Secretary Now A Year-Round Campus Position

The post of alumni secretary has been made a full-time, year-round administrative post in an effort to maintain a vigorous program of alumni relations, President Roy E. McAuley announced recently.

Prof. C. G. Enterline, who has held the post since 1956, will expand his program to include alumni relations activities over the summer months. Previously, the alumni secretary was on duty only during the regular academic year, September through May.

President McAuley said the move to make the alumni secretary a full-time administrator was needed because of the growing diversity and general expansion of the College's program of alumni relations.

"We hope to have our alumni take a more active interest in the College, to be a part of the institution's on-going program. There are a number of specific activities in which alumni can help promote the College. Year-round direction and assistance by the alumni secretary will help alumni chapters in broadening their programs," Dr. McAuley said.

Prof. Hoover To Serve On Executive Committee

Prof. Elmer B. Hoover, head of the department of education, has been elected to the executive committee of the Liberal Arts Colleges for the Advancement of Teaching.

The organization held its annual meeting recently in Harrisburg. In addition to Prof. Hoover, Elizabethtown College representatives included Dean Jacob E. Hershman and Prof. Eugene R. Eisenbise, assistant professor of physics and director of audio-visual services.

Put May 12, June 2 On Your Calendars

Two special occasions on the busy, year-end college calendar are currently the objects of extensive campus preparation.

May Day, which will be held this year on May 12, and Alumni Day, scheduled for June 2, will see "College Hill" decked out in full dress and humming with activity.

Prof. Donald Johnson

To begin with the annual queen crowning ceremonies in The Dell at 1:30 p.m., May Day activities will feature a baseball game—Elizabethtown vs. Lebanon Valley—and an evening Spring Music Festival in the Elizabethtown Area High School Auditorium.

Special events on the Alumni Day docket include class reunions, baseball, and an honorary luncheon for Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Schlosser.

Reigning as Queen of the May on May 12 will be Brenda Craddock, a senior chemistry student from Philadelphia. Her maid of honor will be Ruth Ann Geiselman, of Jacobus.

Attendees on the May Court include Seniors Lois Herr, Elizabethtown, and Elaine Showalter, Marietta; Juniors Mary Zug, Lebanon, and Janet Bauser, Northport; Sophomores Jean Zarfoss, Elizabethtown, and Sue Wade, Merrick, N.Y.; and Freshmen Phyllis Gladfelter, York, and Sandra Young, Chester.

Thirty New Student Government Personnel Take Oath Of Office

Thirty students at Elizabethtown College took the oath of office April 18 as recent campus election winners officially took over the reins of student government.

Sworn in as president of the student association was Gerald H. Risser, Elizabethtown. He succeeds Park Mellott of Harrisburg.

Other student senate officers inducted included Thomas Pinnel, Philadelphia, vice-president, and Bonnie E. Guinter, York, secretary-treasurer.

In addition to student senators, members of the Committees on Men's and Women's Affairs, and editors of the campus publications took office.

In the absence of Pres. Roy E. McAuley, who was recovering from an illness, Prof. Edward L. Crill, director of student personnel services, was in charge of the induction ceremonies.

Included in the induction ceremonies were the following:

Joint Choir

Concert Set

Elizabethtown College's concert choir will host the Juniata Choir this year for the annual combined choir concert sponsored by the two colleges on an exchange basis, according to Prof. David P. Willoughby, director of the Elizabethtown group.

Site of the joint performance this year will be the Lower Dauphin Joint High School, on route 322 between Hummelstown and Hershey. It will be held May 5 at 8 p.m.

For the Juniata Choir, directed by Prof. Donald Johnson, the concert will begin a week-end tour which will take them to Frederick, Md., Westminster, Md., and Gettysburg, Pa.

Featured in the program will be a motet by Bach and two choruses from "The Messiah."

For the convenience of students, buses will transport them from the campus to the concert and back without charge.

Chemists To Hold Conference Here

Dr. Lester Kieft, chairman of the chemistry department at Bucknell University, will address the 1962 meeting of the Inter-collegiate Student Chemists, to be held at Elizabethtown College, May 5.

Approximately 70 representatives from seven colleges in Pennsylvania and Delaware are expected to attend the meeting.

Ten student papers will be presented during the morning session and judged by professional chemists. Awards will be presented to three outstanding papers.

Miss Virginia Wills, senior at Elizabethtown, won first prize at last year's meeting, held at Drexel.

Colleges to be represented this year include University of Delaware, Gettysburg, Ursinus, Temple, Lebanon Valley, Haverford, and Franklin and Marshall.

Crozer Professor To Spend Two Days Here Next Month

Jessie H. Brown, associate professor of Old Testament and Hebrew Studies at Crozer Theological Seminary, Chester, will spend two days on campus next month as a chapel speaker and counselor.

A graduate of Elizabethtown College in 1950, Prof. Brown will deliver chapel addresses May 2 and 3. He will also present a public address in the Brinser Lecture Room, Gibble Science Building, at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday.

His Wednesday chapel address will be given on the topic, "The Lion Has Roared; Who Will Not Fear?" Thursday's talk will be entitled "In The Strife of Truth."

The Wednesday evening program will be sponsored by E. C. C. A. Following Prof. Brown's talk on "The Dialogue Between Doubt and Faith," there will be a question and answer session.

Prof. Brown is an ordained Baptist minister. He received his B.D. degree from Crozer and is presently a candidate for the Ph.D. degree at Duke University.

He has contributed articles to various magazines, chiefly on the Dead Sea Scrolls.

Prof. Brown's visit to the campus is made possible through the Hollinger-Kilhefner Memorial Fund. Persons interested in conferring with him may arrange for an appointment with Dr. Robert A. Byerly, director of religious activities.

Taiwan—Where and Why

Ed. Note: In an effort to present varied materials which students would not get normally in the course of their college career, the ETOWNIAN presents a series of articles on Taiwan by Dr. James Berkebile of the chemistry department.

By DR. JAMES BERKEBILE

The question has frequently been asked, "Where is Taiwan, and why is the United States so interested in the place?" The answer to the first part is simple. The later part is more complex and only a few main points can be elucidated here.

Taiwan is an island about 300 miles long and 100 miles wide located about 100 miles off the coast of China, 225 miles north of the Philippines, and 665 miles southwest of Japan. It is on the Tropic of Cancer and thus has a semi-tropical climate. Most Americans know it by the Portuguese name, Formosa.

The island is larger than Israel and Lebanon combined and has a land area about one-third the size of Pennsylvania. There are more than 80 islands included in the Taiwan complex along with the most familiar Kinmen group (Quemoy) and the Matsus.

Taipei (Tie-pay), the largest city on the island, has over 1 million people. The population of the island is over 11 million and consists of about 200,000 aborigines; 1,500,000 Chinese who have migrated from the mainland because of the Communist invasion; and Taiwanese who came as early settlers as far back as 600 A.D.

There are 13,000 foreigners on the island—11,000 of whom are Americans. About 1,300 are American missionaries or business men and the remainder are military and diplomatic personnel.

The United States became vitally interested in Taiwan because it historically has been a part of China. It is interesting to note that the first railroad constructed in China was built from the north to south end of this island.

In 1895 after the first Sino-Japanese war, Taiwan was ceded to Japan. The Cairo Declaration of November, 1943, recognized Taiwan as a Chinese possession and at the Potsdam Conference of 1945, the understanding was reaffirmed, and Taiwan was restored to the Republic of China.

The Communists came into active conflict with the government of the Republic of China after WWII. United States representatives made an effort to bring stability by creating a coalition government but it failed and the Communist forces moved south across the face of China.

Eventually the government officials, the army of the Republic of China, and local followers withdrew to Taiwan. When the Communists had consolidated their gains on the mainland, they threatened to envelop Taiwan. At this point the U.S. State Department saw that this was a major step in the envelopment of all southeast Asia. The Seventh Fleet, therefore, was ordered into the Taiwan Straits to neutralize the situation.

As it now stands, the Republic of China has effective control over Taiwan and the areas of Quemoy and Matsu; the Communists have effective control over the Chinese mainland.

The United States is in the China area to contain the expansion of the Communist control; to prevent the violent overthrow of the governments that have evolved in these southeast Asian territories; to strengthen the economies of these countries; and to provide a climate where more representative governments can develop without violent upheavals.

The American government has taken this stand because we believe that in a free society, man not only has the opportunity to develop to the limits of his capacity, but is given the highest incentive to do so: a sense of dignity in planning as well as implementing his progress and development—a sense of commendable pride in private ownership and responsibility—an open door for freedom of movement—a firm conviction that the state is a tool of man and not man a slave of the state—that the rights of the individual are inviolate. Despite imperfections in accomplishing the ideal, we do not give up our goal; and it can best be accomplished where men are free to associate themselves together in a common government without threat to life, limb and property.

We are in at least 62 foreign territories with technical assistance and financial aid for our own self interest, which is not to their disadvantage, but to their great advantage. The interest we seek is that they may have the same open doors of development, freedom and growth that we have, becoming sober, responsible, and mature states in a peaceful world; for if they do not have this, the enveloping forces of Communism in these countries threaten it for all.

Especially For Alumni . . .

DR. NORMAN F. REBER
President, Alumni Association

Regular luncheon get-togethers based on mutual interests and common concerns do build strong friendships and help to increase the effectiveness of each participant in his own work.

For example, each week a group of men who work in the field of agriculture in Harrisburg meet over a sandwich and a cup of coffee. None of us has yet given up the habit of eating at noon, so we decided we might as well do it together and exchange information in the process.

This is not only good economy of time but also aids digestion. This "institution", if you can call it that, is not about to die, for a goodly number continue to show up every week.

If this sort of program can draw interest in one field, why can't it work in another? And this leads us to the thought that Elizabethtown College alumni working in a particular city or area might agree to have lunch together each week or month. There need be no reservations, only a common agreement to eat lunch at a particular restaurant on a designated day.

If this is not possible, perhaps such affairs could be put on a quarterly or twice-a-year basis. Our suggestion is that Elizabethtown College Alumni, wherever they are, would find it quite stimulating to meet on an informal basis. Such meetings would provide tremendous enjoyment and incidentally build a stronger common loyalty and interest in Elizabethtown College.

These meetings, we believe, would strengthen the annual chapter dinners. Perhaps, if this suggestion were discussed at the chapter meetings, plans could be made for such get-togethers.

The more informal contacts we can make, the better. A mere exchange of information is many times helpful. Alumni will find out, too, how very helpful they can be to one another in their life pursuits.

CHAPTER HOMEWORK

The first recorded minutes of the Alumni Association appear under the date of June 12, 1906. First problems consisted of organizing the association. This involved the writing of a constitution and appointment of committees.

Among the early decisions were these: planning annual banquets; admission of the graduating class into the association; assessing and collection of dues. The annual alumni senior banquet is still a vital part of association activities.

The association recognized very soon its opportunities to serve the college. Listed below are suggested activities from the Association over the years. For instance, the Class of 1915 donated $50.00 for an auditorium.

Some suggestions relate to the association as a whole; others relate directly to chapters. These are submitted for the chapters to consider, adopt and adapt, and execute for the good of the Association as a whole; for quickening the pulse of alumni chapters and for helping the College to fulfill its purpose.

1. Establish a scholarship by means of which the Alumni Association may give definite and practical aid. (1910)

2. Build up an endowment fund. (1910)

3. Distribute the Alumni Constitution among the membership.

4. Encourage "sectional conferences"—College Reunions—in the different areas. (1925)

5. Alumni Association pledge itself to $25,000 to match prospective gifts for the college as an endowment for Auditorium-Gymnasium and Athletic Field. (1926)

6. President of the Association and the President of the College appoint an alumnus to serve on

Ball Team Has 4-1 Mark; Netmen, 1-3; Jaygals, 1-0 At Easter Break

Two teams were working on three-game streaks and the other finally opened its season as spring athletic action slowed to a stop for the Easter break at Elizabethtown College. All three were scheduled to be back in action by April 24.

Coach Owen Wright's baseball nine captured win number four and the third in succession April 17 with a 6-2 decision over Dickinson at Carlisle.

Added to victories over Washington (2-1), Dickinson (13-2) at home, and Western Maryland (12-8), and a loss to Temple (8-1), the win put the Jays at four wins and one loss. Their 4-0 mark in the northern division of the Middle Atlantic Conference was good for first place.

Sophomore Al Hershey and Junior Fred Seltzer, last year's team batting champ, continued a hot spree at the plate in the Dickinson triumph. In the last two games both pounded out a total of seven hits. Seltzer at .526 was leading the hitters after five games.

Ray Diener, the junior left-hander, was pacing the mound corps with a 2-0 won-lost mark and 31 strikeouts in 16 innings pitched.

Remaining in April for the stickmen were games with Scranton (home, April 24), Franklin & Marshall (away, April 27), and Drexel (home, April 28).

NETMEN FALTER

The tennis team was also working on a streak, but it was going the wrong direction. After serving up a 6-3 victory in the season's opener with Washington College, the Jay netmen lost three consecutive shutouts.

They went down 9-0 to Dickinson, Franklin & Marshall, and Dickinson again and were hoping to snap out of it in their post Easter matches with Ursinus (April 23) and Gettysburg (April 28).

The final match of the month for the Smithmen was slated for April 30 at Muhlenberg.

JAYGALS COP FIRST

Rained out in their first scheduled match at Millersville on April 11, the women's tennis crew opened with a win over Gettysburg on the home courts.

Linda Eshelman, Sue Wood, and Betty Markley picked up singles victories while doubles points were captured by the Joyce Mease-Linda Eshelman and Charlotte Emich-Betty Markley duets.

The Jaygals were figuring on two more games in April: Dickinson here the 24th and Millersville away the 25th. The Millersville tilt was rescheduled from the rainout.

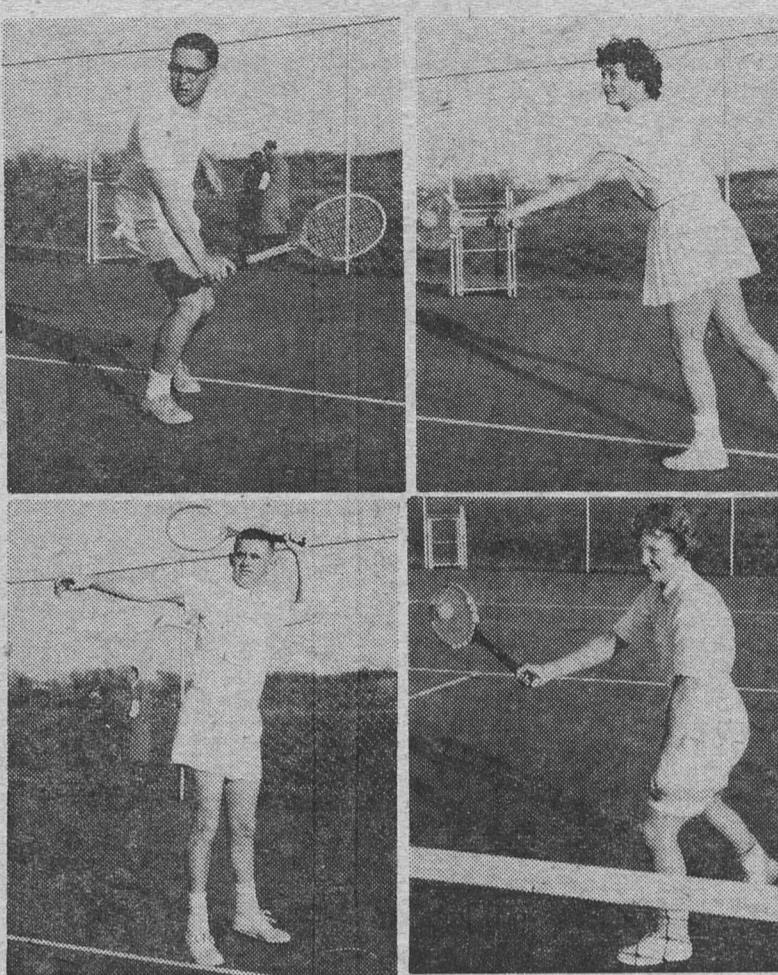

Six From College At Phi Delta Kappa Chapter Meeting

Six members of the College staff attended the Harrisburg field chapter meeting of Phi Delta Kappa, a professional fraternity for men in education, held in Camp Hill, April 12.

Included in the group, designated as the Gamma Rho Chapter, are Pres. Roy E. McAuley; Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean; Edward L. Crill, director of student personnel services; Elmer B. Hoover, director of teacher training; Clarence G. Enterline, alumni secretary, and Wilbur E. Weaver, assistant to the treasurer.

Dr. McAuley was elected vice-president for next year. He had been serving as treasurer this year.

Debate Team Shows Big-Time Promise

While the College's athletic teams have been chalking up wins, along with defeats, the College debate team has been quietly chalking up a name for itself and the College by pursuing a busy road schedule and hard practice.

The College debate team yesterday, Thursday, April 12, hosted Messiah College for several simultaneous rounds of debate.

Trained and advised by Prof. Jobie Riley, the debate team shows big-time promise. Prof. Riley is particularly enthusiastic of his teams and aspires to have them enter "Championship Debate," a new nationwide TV program on NBC stations. Locally it can be seen on Channel 8, Saturdays at 12:30 p.m. "If the program continues it is always possible that we could participate sometime," he said.

On Monday, April 16, the team presented a demonstration debating session before the Business and Professional Women's Club of Elizabethtown. On Monday, May 7, the basic speech class will present a semesterly speech recital during the regular Eta Phi Sigma, campus debate club, meeting.

Only One AGF Gift Is Asked

If you are among those alumni who answered the general introductory appeal of the College's Fourth Annual Giving Fund, please don't think you are being bombarded with another appeal when the class representative's letter arrives.

One contribution from each alumnus or alumna is all the College is asking. And, if you were an early bird in giving, we thank you.

On the other hand, if you haven't gotten around to sending your gift yet...

By FISKE MARTIN

Do you know what we have if we take the major men's and women's sports, and put them together?

If we stop there, no doubt we have holocaust. But, if we total the records of these teams, we have what may be the best record ever for fall and winter sports at E-town.

Through the soccer, hockey, women's basketball, and men's basketball seasons, the Jays have compiled a record of 33 victories, 12 losses, and one tie. In other words, the Blue Jays are winning at a .637 clip.

Needless to say, this doesn't speak badly for a school that doesn't emphasize athletics.

Elizabethtown finds itself in the perfect position of being able to turn out winning teams, yet admit only intelligent athletes, and keep athletic scholarships at a minimum.

This is a situation all of us may point at with pride. Other area schools, notably LVC and F&M, pattern their athletic policies along the same lines.

In recent years many schools have jumped on the "deemphasize sports" band wagon. Some schools have even gone so far as to make a winning season a crime.

President Roy E. McAuley, we feel, has taken a very realistic view toward athletics. After a little more than a semester, it looks like his athletic philosophy is—important in the overall picture of college, yet a winning team must not be the main goal of an athletic program.

Yes, the students of Old E. C. have every reason to be proud of our athletic administration, the coaches, and our athletes.

We know that we try to get the best athletes, but we'll never sacrifice brains for a strong foot or a deadly jump-shot.

Profs Attend Meetings During Spring Break

Members of the chemistry department attended several meetings during the spring vacation.

Dr. James Berkebile was in Washington, D.C., at a meeting of the American Chemical Society, March 26 and 27.

Dr. O. F. Stambaugh, department head; Dr. Berkebile, and Prof. Zoe Proctor attended sessions of the Pennsylvania College Chemistry Teachers Association at Dickinson, March 30 and 31.

Dr. Stambaugh was elected an executive officer for next year at the Dickinson meeting.

Apgars Present Greek Sculpture To Zug Library

Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Apgar, head of the department of biology, have presented to the College library a reproduction of a marble bust, "Portrait of a Literary Man," according to a recent announcement by Miss Anna Carper, librarian.

One of the 40 copies made from the original, the person depicted in the bust is either Virgil or Menander, founder of the new Greek comedy, or the comedy of manners. Experts disagree on the identity.

Unearthed in Pausola, near Rome, the original bust is in the collection of the museum of the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. and Mrs. Apgar have already donated two art reproductions to the College in an effort to bring about an emphasis on fine arts on campus. Both earlier gifts are displayed in the science building.

The latest gift is displayed left of the fireplace in the main reading room in the library.

Area Woman Donates Botanical Photos

A collection of botanical photographic prints has been given to the College, according to Dr. Charles S. Apgar, head of the department of biology.

The collection was donated by Mrs. M. C. Colt, a guest at the Masonic Homes, Elizabethtown. It consists of about 150 prints.

Described by Dr. Apgar as "a most valuable collection of pictures of wild and cultured flora," the prints will be used primarily for instructional purposes by the biology department.

Referring to the prints, Dr. Apgar said, "They will be most helpful. They are a nice size for student use. Previously, all we had were 2x2 color slides. These are much better."

A onetime writer and producer of several children puppet plays, Mrs. Colt, a native of Harrisburg, also made the plaster figures for a diorama in the State Museum, Harrisburg.

Senate To Host Alumni

The Student Senate will sponsor a dance in the Starlight Ballroom, Hershey, on Friday, May 18, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., according to Tom Pinnel, chairman of the senate social committee. Semi-formal dress with corsages will be in order.

Alumni are invited as guests of the Student Senate.

Alumni Day, Commencement End Term

Two distinguished alumni will receive honorary doctor's degrees during combined Baccalaureate-Commencement exercises at Elizabethtown College.

The combined services will be held June 3, starting at 2:30 p.m., in the Elizabethtown Area High School Auditorium.

Approximately 95 students will receive bachelor's degrees during the ceremony, according to Miss Emma R. Engle, registrar. Fifteen students will be granted two-year certificates.

Dr. Norman J. Baugher, '40, general secretary of the General Brotherhood Board of the Church of the Brethren, will receive the degree, doctor of letters.

Harry K. Gerlach, '33, superintendent-elect of Lancaster County Schools, will be granted the degree, doctor of pedagogy.

Dr. Baugher, also vice president of the National Council of Churches in the United States and a member of the central committee of the World Council of Churches, will deliver the Commencement address. His topic will be "The Thunder of Dawn."

Gerlach, who served as supervising principal in three Lancaster County School districts before taking his present position as assistant superintendent in the County, will take office as Superintendent on July 2, 1962.

President Roy E. McAuley will preside during the graduation exercises and confer all degrees. Student degree candidates will be presented by Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean of the College.

Also participating in the program will be the Reverend S. Clyde Weaver, '23, Dr. Frank S. Carper, '24, the Reverend Noah S. Sellers, and the Reverend Chester H. Royer, '23. All are members of the College's Board of Trustees.

Music for the combined Baccalaureate-Commencement will be provided by the College Choir. The ceremonies include a formal academic procession by members of the College faculty, trustees, and graduates.

Following the program there will be a President's Reception for graduates and guests, faculty and wives, and attending dignitaries in the lounge of Myer Hall, on the campus.

N. J. Art Museum Buys Oil Painting By E. C. Instructor

An Elizabethtown College English professor, Henry M. Libhart, has sold one of his paintings, "Souvenir of the Blue Jay," to the Montclair Art Museum, Montclair, N.J.

The work, done in trompe l'oeil, a hyperrealistic technique, represents objects attached to an old cupboard door. One of the objects in the painting is a blue and white feather.

An assistant professor of English and the director of Freshman composition at Elizabethtown, Prof. Libhart also conducts a course in art appreciation. In addition, he gives instruction in oil painting in his home, Mount Joy road, Marietta.

His paintings will be shown at the college on Alumni Day, June 2, in Room 168, Zug Memorial Library, beginning at 10:30 p.m.

Grant Reynard, president of the Montclair Art Museum Association, saw Libhart's "Souvenir of the Blue Jay" during a recent stay at the college as a visiting lecturer.

Dr. Schlosser Still Imparts Much Enthusiasm In Campus Classroom

BY RICHARD LYTHE

A Shakespearean drama in Pennsylvania Dutch! They said it couldn't be done, but he did it. Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser of Elizabethtown College did, that is.

Translating Shakespeare into the Pennsylvania German dialect, however, is only one of the many activities of Dr. Schlosser, an educator at Elizabethtown for 57 years. His days are filled with teaching, churchwork, and speaking engagements.

The College and the Alumni Association will honor him for his countless contributions to the institution on Alumni Day, June 2.

Dr. Schlosser, at seventy-five, is a full professor at Elizabethtown College and teacher part-time. At present he has a course in English Literature and one in Shakespeare.

His enthusiasm for his classroom antics is only exceeded by his enthusiasm for his church work and lecturing. He averages 15,000 miles a year as he travels to and from his many speaking engagements.

He finds his speaking engagements especially interesting since they give him a chance to reacquaint himself with many former students from years past. His students today are found in

Taiwan Story-Part Three

Rigid national examinations are given to screen out those who would be least likely to profit from an academic education. At the conclusion of the ninth grade a second screening exam is given to designate those who will be allowed to enter the senior high schools.

Almost all those graduating from senior high schools desire to advance into college and university training. Institutions of higher learning, however, are unable to accommodate more than one-quarter of those who take the national examinations. Those who fail the examinations go into business or the trades either through apprenticeships, or vocational school training along with apprenticeships.

An interesting result of this continuous preliminary sorting process is that not many college and university students fail to complete their training. One disadvantage is that the external pressure is off the college student, a much different situation than in the United States, where the college and university level seems to be a major sorting level. An advantage, however, of the periodic testing program at the elementary and secondary school levels is that of conserving valuable high level teaching time for those who are capable and eager to pursue a college program.

Since there is also limited facilities and personnel for graduate school work, the same situation exists to those who would pursue this program.

The Chinese language is one requiring considerable memory, and this procedure of memorization is carried over into all the other arms of education. Often dozens of students will be walking or standing at almost any conceivable place, each with an open book before him repeating the contents, trying to make it a matter of memory. Through tedious practice they develop an excellent pattern for memorization.

The curriculum of the schools is not a matter for each school or county to decide, but is established by the national department of education. Books can be authored by any person, but must be approved for official use and must adhere to the national curriculum.

At what points in this program are the United States and China interested in cooperating? Below the college level the main areas of concern in the mutual aid program involve the up-grading of in-service teachers and the improvement of pre-service teacher training. Also included is the expansion of facilities for the training of more teachers and the providing of improved facilities for teachers to become most effective, especially at the secondary school level. Since it is not possible to do these things across the board, three key areas were designated which had direct ties with the rapid industrial and agricultural development sought for the country as a whole.

The three areas of education supporting the general objectives were vocational agriculture, vocational industry, and science education, which was my field. The science education phase was established to create a minimum corps of high level scientists to operate successfully the laboratories and research units of the Republic of China; to provide adequate equipment and facilities to the already established institutions of education and research; and to develop an adequate program of science education at all levels of instruction from the first grade to senior high school so that a well-informed public could underlie the scientific advancement of the technically trained personnel.

The program in science education started largely with the secondary education area, since it seemed to touch a large number of key young people who would in a relatively short period of time be able to underlie the total industrial activity. This also involved the training facilities for teachers of science in the secondary schools.

As the United States aid is slowly discontinued, the in-service training program will continue, the four experimental centers will continue, and the pattern of training conferences and wide spread publication of helpful teaching aids and information will proceed under local support.

EVALUATION AND THE FORWARD LOOK

The chapter calendar for 1961-62 is now largely history. The past, however, has a forward look. An examination of the recent programs reveals plans for 1962-63.

Lebanon, York, Lancaster, Harrisburg, Baltimore chapters have met and elected officers for the forthcoming year. Some chapters have set dates for the next regular meetings.

In addition, some have planned extra activities for the late summer. Some chapters have involved sons and daughters of alumni in their activities in anticipation of development of talent and recruiting prospects for the college.

Having met, the chapters are now in a position to evaluate their programs. A neighboring college suggests the use of the following "self-rating sheet" for evaluating chapter activities.

Especially For Alumni . . .

DR. NORMAN F. REBER
President, Alumni Association

When these lines appear in print we shall be looking forward to what we choose to call "Alumni Time." This is that bewitching period in late May and early June when Nature's artfulness has decked out the campus in its loveliest.

Shade and sun, glade and run, beckon "old grads" and new alumni to hallowed ground where life-long friendships have their beginnings and are renewed on occasions like the forthcoming spring alumni weekend.

For us old grads alumni time is more a time of renewal than one of beginning. It is a time of anticipation, for we look eagerly for the familiar faces of old friends. And remaining ones become more precious as their number dwindles with the on-going years.

For the new alumni—and we are thinking now specifically of the "new grads," the Class of 1962—the dominating note of "Alumni Time," despite all the flowers and congratulations and greenery, is one of anxiety, concern about new positions and places, break-up of campus associations and pleasures, and a vague fear of the unknown as new careers move out into uncharted waters.

As we celebrate "Alumni Time—1962" both old graduates and new can be grateful that their friendships and associations were formed in the atmosphere of a Christian college.

To us who graduated some

thirty years ago this environment can best be described as a personal example and a concern of Christian faculty members that students accept Christ as Lord and Savior and lead a life of service for Him.

Such teachers were never despair-mongers; they instilled in their students faith that they would succeed in some undertaking with this service as motivation. Many times this message failed to filter through to our minds, due to a lack of spiritual insight, but most of us did not get "so far out" in orbit that we did not sooner or later feel its gravitational pull.

So for old alumni to come back to campus it is both, inspiration and renewal to speak again with dedicated men and women of the faculty.

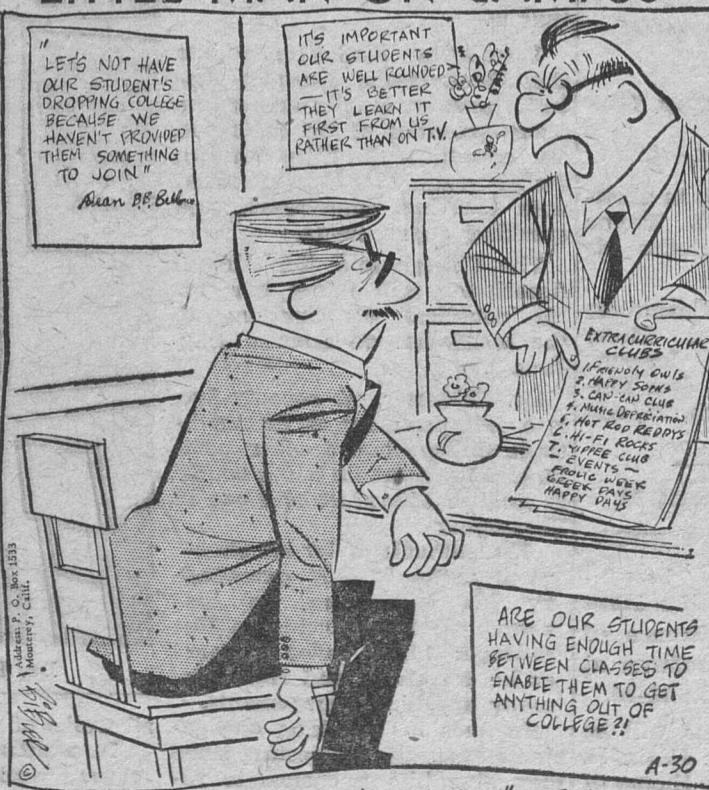

New graduates at "Alumni Time" find appreciation of a Christian college atmosphere more difficult. For one thing, they have not been away from it long enough to appreciate it. For another, youth tends to be cynical and impatient with almost anything, even the good. Some, at their present stage of spiritual insight, will tend to dismiss the Christ and His message as something to take or leave, as you like it.

We hope, trust, and pray that especially such will remember

2,000 Attend Annual May Day Event; See Jays Down Flying Dutchmen, 5-2

Approximately 2,000 students, friends, and alumni attended the annual May Day activities on the campus of Elizabethtown College, Saturday, May 12.

Threatened by leaden skies and cool, damp weather May Day for the Blue Jay campus seemed doomed for rain and disappointment. By mid-morning, however, the early morning fog lifted and opened up to a bright, blue sky. With the dogwoods in full bloom over the verdant grass, the queen's white wrought-iron throne nestled snugly in the campus dell among the towering trees and awaited the coming of the queen and the festivities.

By 1:30 p.m., the program was under way. The queen and her court proceeded to the throne and platform to the accompaniment of Scottish bagpipes and drums.

Miss Brenda Craddock, a senior science major from Philadelphia, was crowned Queen of May by last year's queen, Mrs. Ruth (Risser) Price, Manheim.

Other highlights of the day included a baseball game with Lebanon Valley College and a spring music festival at the Elizabethtown Area High School auditorium.

The Jays won the baseball game over the Flying Dutchmen, 5-2, on the strength of a four-run rally in the bottom of the third inning. John Sufel, a freshman from Millerstown, received credit for the pitching win.

A portion of next year's freshman class also was on hand for the day's activities. A special slide program on the college was conducted for the class of 1966 and their friends in the Brinser lecture room, Gibble science building.

The evening music program featured the college's concert choir, band, and ladies' chorus, all under the direction of Prof. David P. Willoughby, instructor in music.

Weaver Attends Meeting For College Store Heads

Prof. Wilbur E. Weaver, assistant to the treasurer and book-store manager at Elizabethtown College, attended the 39th annual meeting of the National Association of College Stores in New York City, April 23-26.

Two Early Grads Expire In April

In the passing of Clayton R. Frey, '04, and Willis S. Heisey, '02, within one week, recently, the number of survivors of the early classes was greatly reduced.

John K. Boll, 2 America Avenue, Wheeling, West Virginia, is the sole survivor, according to college records, of the original enrollees of the College.

Samuel R. McDannel, R. D. #3, Elizabethtown, Penna., enrolled shortly after the opening of the College and is listed with the Class of 1902. Mrs. Franklin J. Byer (Elizabeth Eby), R. D. Shelocta, Pa., and Mrs. Bessie (Rider) Harley are survivors of the Class of 1903.

Of the Class of 1904, which numbered seven, the following persons survive: John Henry, Rheems, Pa., Edgar R. Herr, 464 Bainbridge St., Elizabethtown, Pa., and H. H. Lehman, 787 S. Euclid Avenue, Pasadena 5, Calif.

Clayton R. Frey died of a heart attack on April 22, 1962 and Willis S. Heisey died of injuries sustained earlier in an automobile accident on April 18. Mr. Frey was 75 years of age and Mr. Heisey, 79.

Bulletin Distributed To Students, Faculty

The 1962 Alumni Bulletin, to be mailed to alumni in late May or early June, has been distributed among the total student body and faculty for the first time, according to Prof. C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary.

"The purpose of this," Prof. Enterline added, "is to allow the Association to relate itself more intimately to the student body."

Directory Corrections Recorded

The release of the Alumni Directory has triggered "feed-back" to the alumni and public relations offices. Errors in THE ETOWNIAN and the DIRECTORY about people, titles, positions, and the like resulted in increased communications between the alumni and the college. This communication is good. The errors are regrettable.

Dr. S. R. Heisey, '51, was listed in the Etownian as being associate professor of physiology at Harvard. "Harvard has an extra rank in their academic ladder—associate is between an instructor and assistant professor," reports Dr. Heisey. He prefers "associate in physiology."

In the Directory, Miss Patricia Wentz, '61, Atglen, Penna., is listed as Mrs. Frederick Leppo of Hanover, Penna. It just isn't so. 'Tis Miss Patricia Wentz, Atglen, Penna. (p. 53).

Add Mrs. Richard O. Wenger's name (Yvonne E. Cosner) to the Class of 1959, page 129 of the Directory.

Katherine T. Moyer, '10, at 624 Delaware Avenue, Lansdale, Penna., is very much among the living, (p. 61).

The home address of Foster Grosh, '41, is 422 Sulgrave Road, Pittsburgh 11, Penna.

Rhoda (Nissley) Longenecker, '45, p. 122 of Directory, should appear as Rhoda (Nissley) Brandt.

Add the name Robert P. Peters, '62, to the alphabetical listing in the Directory, p. 66.

Add the name F. J. Byer, R. D. #1, Shelocta, Penna., to the class list of 1906, p. 113.

Change A. Dorothy Strickler to A. Dorothy Hostetter, under 1954 class listing, p. 127.

Miss Wills Receives Chemistry Award

Members of the Chemistry Department faculty as well as Elizabeth Peacock, Linda Kranch, and Virginia Wills, attended the April meeting of south-eastern Pennsylvania section of the American Chemical Society meeting at the American Legion home, Palmyra.

At this meeting, Miss Wills received an award naming her the outstanding Chemistry student at Elizabethtown College.

Meet The Professors'

Room Schedule Arranged

Alumni will have an opportunity to meet department heads and professors on Alumni Day, June 2. Apparently this is the first time that alumni have had the opportunity to meet professors at a scheduled time to inquire, confer, or listen to the latest developments in specific subjects.

As the college administration and the association view the future, this activity portends the setting up of lectures, panels for interest groups on Alumni Day. This is another evidence of an expanding program of activities.

The interviews are scheduled for 11:00 a.m. In case of rain, the interviews will be held in the afternoon from 2:30 to 3:00.

Alumni are encouraged to meet the professors in the classrooms or offices. Activity in this direction will indicate the degree of interest in this project and suggest refinement in scheduling for future years.

YORK

The York Chapter made a long trip with Dr. and Mrs. Apgar in sight and sound over the weekend of May 5. The Apgars captured the interest of York alumni as they showed colored pictures of their trip to Alaska by the Alcan.

Approximately seventy York alumni and friends met in the banquet room of the Avalon Dairy, York. Also from the college, were President and Mrs. Roy E. McAuley, who brought alumni up-to-date information about the college grounds, its curriculum, and future plans. Group singing added warmth to the period of fellowship.

Officers for the year 1962-63 are: president, Dr. Glenn Hamme, '53, Hellam; vice-president, Rev. Earl Ziegler, '51, Brodbeck; secretary-treasurer, Richard Merritt, '60, York. Elected to the executive council is Harvey Jacobs, Jr., '60, of York.

BALTIMORE

Baltimore opened its second annual chapter meeting with zest and spice. Approximately thirty alumni and friends shared in a program of music, comedy, and fellowship.

Toastmaster, Clyde R. Shallenberger, '49, sparked the meeting with appropriate wit and humor. The local pastor, Rev. Harry C. Carolus, gave the invocation. Mrs. E. G. Meyer demonstrated her skill at the piano and Professor Meyer reviewed college days.

The Youth Fellowship of the Messiah United Church of Christ, 5615 The Alameda, presented a comedy skit, "Memories." School days were traced in a humorous and a nostalgic way from kindergarten through college. At points in the skit, alumni helped to set the mood by singing appropriate songs.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Enterline brought the chapter up-to-date information about curriculum growth and expanding physical facilities at the College. The meeting concluded with colored campus slides and the singing of the Alma Mater.

David J. Markey, '47, conducted the business meeting. Arthur J. Risser, '39, had charge of door prizes. Mrs. Arthur (Brock) Risser, '40, assisted by her family—Thomas, Keith, Deana, and Alexander—set the pace for the comedy skit. Leon E. Henise, '50, was co-ordinator of visual aids.

The fall picnic was set for September 22, 1962, at the Meadow Branch Church of the Brethren from 2:30-6:00 p.m. Officers elected for 1962-63 are: president, Clyde Shallenberger, '49; vice-president, Harvey S. Kline, '43; secretary, Pearl (Brock) Risser, '40, and treasurer, Leon E. Henise, '50.

Prof. To Attend Summer Institute

Dr. David I. Lasky, head of the department of psychology at Elizabethtown College, is one of 50 college psychology professors selected to attend an eight-week summer institute at the State University of Iowa.

Representing 24 states from coast to coast, the professors will attend the Summer Institute for College Teachers of Psychology on the Iowa City campus June 12 through August 8.

Purpose of the SUI institute is to improve the quality of college instruction in general, experimental and theoretical psychology and in psychological statistics.

The institute is supported by the National Science Foundation.

The President Speaks

We are in the last weeks of one of the most successful athletic years the College has ever known. This, in itself, is a commendable feat, but becomes even more astonishing when we realize that because of our building program even our previous limited facilities were not available or were extremely taxed and in terribly sub-standard conditions.

Thus it is that the participating athletes and the entire coaching staff are to be heartily commended for so excellently representing Elizabethtown College.

I want to say one more thing. The majority of people do not realize the sacrifice and effort it takes to be a top athlete. Remember, an athlete must not only meet the academic and other requirements the same as all other students—the athlete must also spend valuable hours in practice, traveling, and playing the game. He must train and work himself up to a physically and emotionally competent machine—and remain a cool-headed sportsman at all times.

I am sure you share with your president pride in our athletic teams.

TEACHING AID—Dr. Charles S. Apgar enjoys inspecting a microscope recently acquired by the Biology Department while Jim Oberholzer, Anita Black, and Rose Ann Lewis observe. The Biology Department on campus possesses a well-equipped laboratory and impressive display cases on the second floor of Gibble Science Building. A visiting professor stated that this Biology Department has more teaching aids than some of the largest universities of the East.

SECOND SESSION — JULY 23-AUG. 24

- Courses offered in English, history, mathematics, education, literature, philosophy, business administration, music, and social studies.
- Workshops in Developmental Reading, Remedial Reading, Special Education, and Alcohol Studies.

Registration for courses will take place on the first day of each session. Room and board for each five-week session is $110. Tuition rates are $75 for one three-hour course per session, $135 for two three-hour courses per session. Most courses carry three hours of credit.

Further information on specific course offerings and other details may be obtained by writing the Director of Summer Sessions at the college.

Tennis Teams Complete Contrasting Campaigns

The men's and women's tennis teams at Elizabethtown College were wrapping up contrasting seasons late in May.

Coach Allegra Hess's Jaygals closed out a successful season (5 wins, 2 losses) on May 17 when they dropped a 4-3 nod to Wilson College at Chambersburg. The day before they had swamped Shippensburg 6-1 on the E-town courts.

Dickinson was the other team to defeat the Jaygals this year. They chalked up a 5-2 triumph early in the season.

Chief point producers for the Gals were Linda Eshelman, Joyce Mease, Betty Markley, Charlotte Emich, and Sue Wood.

Coach Don Smith's netmen, experiencing the most unsuccessful season in the history of the sport at Elizabethtown, were to end things with a road match at Albright on May 26.

On May 14 they dropped their eighth consecutive decision when Susquehanna drubbed them, 8-1. The Jays' one point marked the first time in those eight matches that Elizabethtown has managed to score. Dave Yost, Coatesville, was the Ione Jay victor.

On May 17 they lost a rescheduled match at Lebanon Valley, 7-2. It was their ninth loss.

Except for a 6-3 win over Washington College in the season's opener, the Jay netmen were winless.

REBER

(Continued from page 2) their Christian teaching on and off campus, name Christ as their life pilot, and experience the joy of unselfish living for Him. He will enhance the beauty and significance of the commonplace as well as guide new careers in uncharted waters.

Then, too, as we celebrate "Alumni Time—1962" there is a global relevance and urgency of the life and message of Christ that did not exist back in 1930, when some 60 of us got our sheepskins.

The Great Depression of that period was like a mole hill beside Mt. McKinley when compared with the threat of atomic holocaust. World destruction may be God's will in our time, but if it does come it will be because of willful and unregenerated hearts at the seats of earthly power.

Owning Christ as Lord and Savior will remove the fear of destruction and enable Christians to labor that the Prince of Peace may conquer the territory of the Human Heart. Against this victory death and destruction have no power.

This sword of Democles has probably made our new graduates a more sober, mature and zealous lot than we were when they "turned us loose" in 1930. So much the better.

As we recall that John H. Glenn is a product of a Christian college, let us be thankful for our Christian influences at Elizabethtown and put it to work in our careers. When Col. Glenn was asked how he felt about his dangerous ride into space, his reply is one worthy to be remembered. He observed that he had made his peace with his Maker long ago.

With this peace we can venture into space, go to the moon, visit the stars—but more productive, practical, and important—we can launch careers to the glory of God.

SCHLOSSER

(Continued from page 1) Schlosser likes to go tuna fishing. He says he has caught tuna weighing anywhere from 5 to 75 pounds. He is also an admirer of roses and has at least one hundred different varieties surrounding his Mt. Joy street home.

He served as college president from 1927-1941, after having served previously as dean and professor of English and foreign languages.

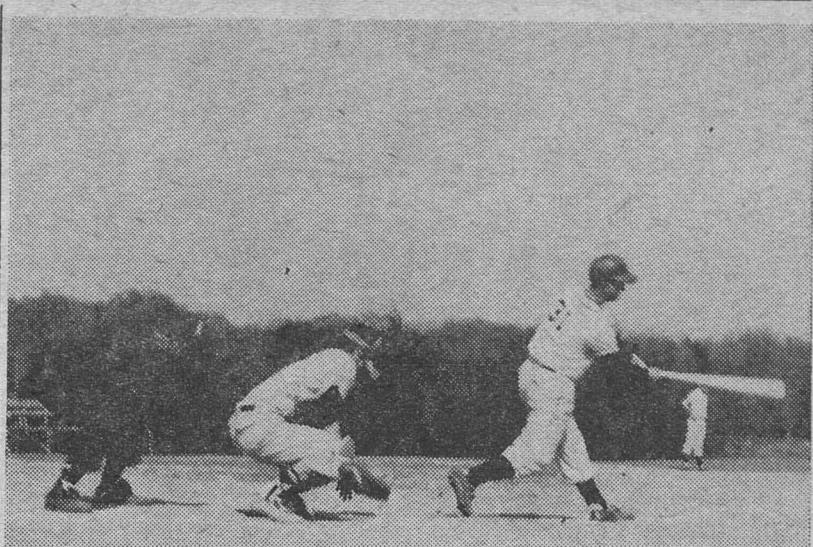

His degrees include a Bachelor of Pedagogy (1907) Elizabethtown College; A.B. (1911) Ursinus College; A.M. (1912) Columbia University; Litt.D., Ursinus College.

At 75, Dr. Schlosser is still going strong; he is a very familiar figure hustling around the Elizabethtown Campus going about his many duties. After 57 years, Elizabethtown College will not be the same if and when Dr. Schlosser decides to slow down. But, then he probably never will.

Baseball '9' Enters N. A. I. A. Tourney

Coach Owen Wright's Elizabethtown College Baseball nine lost an important game on May 14 and immediately had to prepare for more crucial action against California State College for the District 30 championship of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

The Jays were virtually bounced out of the running for Middle Atlantic Conference honors when Moravian, now 8-0 in the Northern Division, cracked out a 7-1 victory at Bethlehem.

The loss put Elizabethtown at 12-2 in the league and in a seemingly distant second place behind the Greyhounds, who won the Conference crown in 1960.

Moravian climbed on ace lefthander Ray Diener for two runs in the third inning and three more in the fourth and led 5-0 after six. Jim Gano, Greyhound hurler, fanned 16 while closing the door on the Blue Jay hitters.

Elizabethtown's single run was scored in the seventh when Ger-

Wright and his men are now turning their sights on the N. A. I. A. playoffs.

District 30 will be decided by a best two-out-of-three series with California State College. The Jays were to face the Western Pennsylvanians in a double header on the Bedford (Pa.) High School field May 17.

According to Coach Wright, there is a possibility that there would be no area playoff in the N.A.I.A. this year.

This would mean that the winner of the Elizabethtown-California set would go directly to the eight-team national playoff at St. Joseph's, Missouri, June 5 to 9.

Six Graduated With Honors

Among the 106 who received diplomas during the College's Baccalaureate - Commencement exercises June 3 were six who graduated with honors.

Magna cum laude graduates included Janet L. Espenshade, Elizabethtown, Bachelor of Science in Education; Mary K. Gladfelter, New Cumberland, Bachelor of Arts; and E. Virginia Wills, Secane, Bachelor of Science.

Graduating cum laude were Martha A. Eppley, Harrisburg; Marjorie E. Ferster, Hanover; and Dale Z. Kilhefner, Elizabethtown. All three received the Bachelor of Science degree.

Miss Espenshade, an elementary education major, was co-editor of the 1961-62 yearbook, the Conestogan. She has accepted a position as second grade teacher at the Londonderry Township Elementary School beginning in September.

Miss Gladfelter, a Spanish major, has begun a program leading to a master's degree in education at the Pennsylvania State University this month.

A chemistry major, Miss Wills was recently awarded a Graduate Fellowship by the National Science Foundation for next year. She will begin her work toward a Ph.D. at the University of Washington, Seattle, in September.

Miss Eppley majored in accounting. She will enroll in the graduate school of business at Indiana University in September.

Miss Ferster will begin a graduate program in mathematics at the University of Maryland in the fall. At Elizabethtown she also majored in mathematics.

Kilhefner, president of his class for four years, will act as a teaching assistant in mathematics at Purdue University in addition to beginning his work for a graduate degree there in September. He also majored in mathematics here.

Magna cum laude graduates must earn a minimum quality-point-ratio of 3.75 out of a possible 4.0. To be graduated cum laude one must have a quality-point-ratio between 3.5 and 3.74.

Another Student Joins 'Colleges Abroad' Program

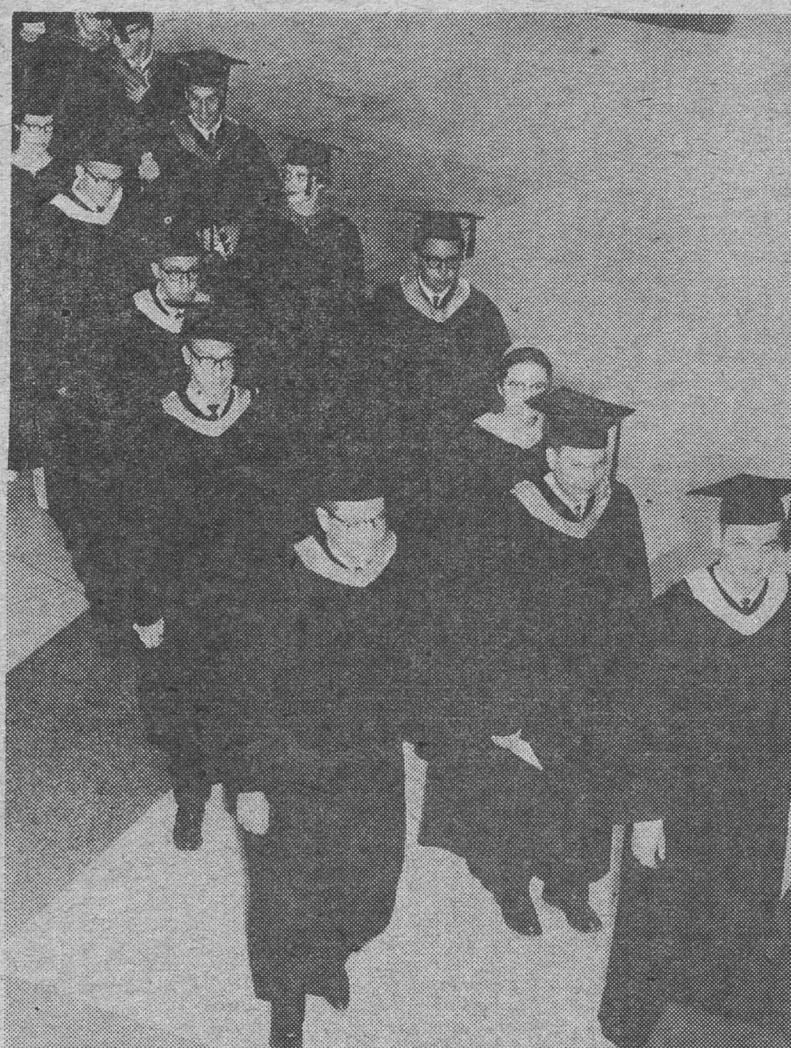

A third Elizabethtown College student has been accepted for study at Marburg University, Marburg, Germany, as part of the "Brethren Colleges Abroad" program.

Sue K. Bucher, Biglerville, will spend the entire 1962-63 term in Germany. She completed her third year as an English major in the liberal arts curriculum last month.

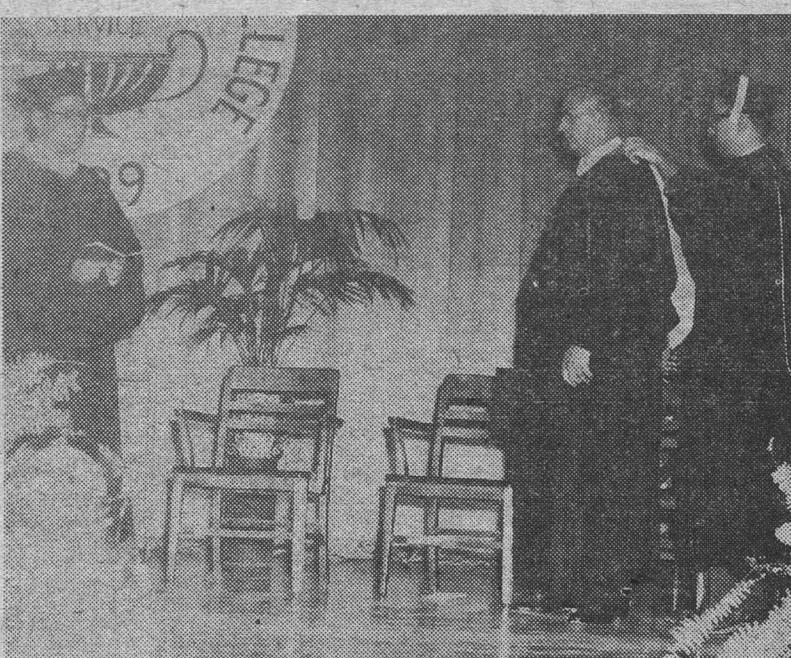

Two other Elizabethtown Students were previously selected for the program. They are Phyllis Ann Lachman, Shillington, and Janet K. Risser, Mohrsville.

"Brethren Colleges Abroad" is a cooperative attempt by the six colleges of the Church of the Brethren to provide an opportunity for study in a foreign university for students whose academic interests will be strengthened by it.

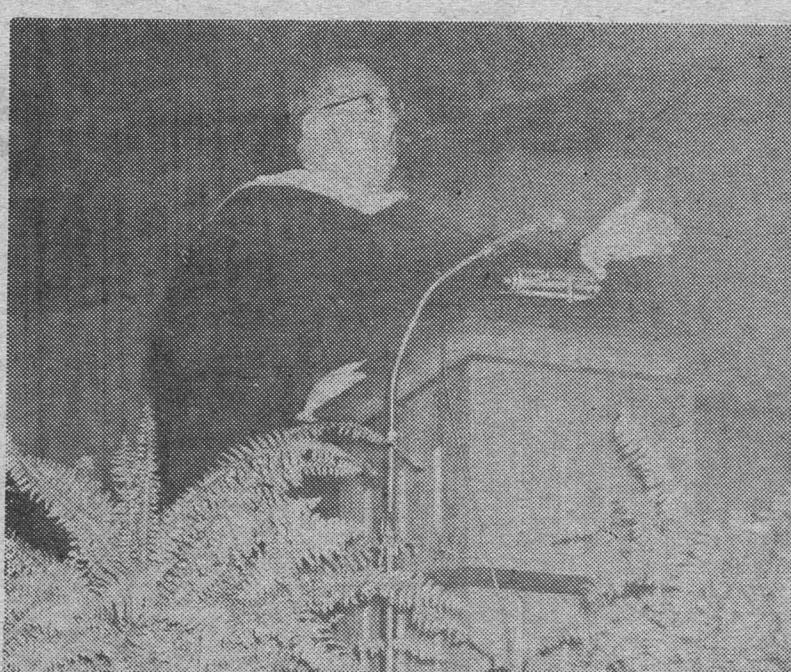

Prior to beginning regular course work at Marburg all students will attend an intensive nine-week language institute there. This will be held during September and October.

GRADUATES ON PARADE—Members of the graduating Class of 1962 march to their seats at the start of Commencement exercises, June 3. In all 106 received certificates or degrees and officially became members of the Alumni Association.

HONORED ALUMNUS—Harry K. Gerlach, '33, superintendent-elect of Lancaster County Schools, receives the honorary degree, Doctor of Pedagogy, during Commencement exercises June 3. Pres. McAuley (left) conferred the degree; hood was adjusted by Dr. Lasky (right).

ADDRESSING THE GRADUATES—Dr. Norman J. Baugher, Class of 1940, delivers the Commencement address during June 3 ceremonies. Earlier in the program the College had honored Dr. Baugher with the degree, Doctor of Letters.

Summer Sessions List 4 Workshops

Summer Session I Enrollment At 285

Registration for the first summer session totaled 285, according to Miss Emma R. Engle, registrar. This is exclusive of workshops, the first of which was to begin June 25.

Of the 39 regular courses offered the first session only three had to be dropped because of insufficient students.

The 285 registrants include eight practice teachers.

Exchange Student Christel Fischer Registers Here

An exchange student from Darmstadt, Germany, Miss Christel Fischer, began eight months of study at Elizabethtown College with the beginning of the first summer session, June 18.

Miss Fischer, of Jugenheim Institute, docked in New York on June 11 and is living at the Lancaster R3 home of Connie Nissley, a sophomore who has been to Germany and speaks the language fluently.

The exchange began when Wilbur Gibble, York, enrolled at Juggenheim Institute in February. He will remain there until November.

Juniata Valley Chapter Plans July 8 Picnic

Esther (Leister) Tennis, '27, secretary of the Juniata Valley Chapter reports that the officers of her chapter met on June 10 to formulate plans for a July 8 chapter meeting.

The group's yearly informal gathering will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira (Martha Oberholtzer, '22) D. Brandt, '24, McAlisterville, with a picnic basket lunch to begin at 5 p.m. A program and business session will follow the meal.

Featured in the program will be a vocal number by Marie Schroyer, '50, a report of the November alumni meeting, a reading by Mrs. C. G. Enterline, and messages from alumni secretary C. G. Enterline and other representatives of the College. Luke Buffenmyer, '37, will lead group singing.

Current officers of the Juniata Valley chapter are Mervyn W. Mensch, '19, president; Dorothy (Brungard) Kipp, '31, vice president; and Mrs. Tennis, secretary.

Mrs. and Mrs. Brandt are house parents in Ober Hall, a men's residence on the campus.

Programs Available

Alumni Secretary C. G. Enterline has a supply of extra programs of the Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser honorary Luncheon held on Alumni Day. Copies can be obtained by writing him at the College.

Large Distribution

This issue and the July issue of the ALUMNI ETOWIAN will be mailed also to the student body.

Reading June 25-July 6 July 9-July 20

Two reading workshops designed for teachers wishing to meet new requirements of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction are being offered at Elizabethtown College this summer.

The first, a Workshop in Developmental Reading, began June 25 and runs through July 6. The second, a Workshop in Remedial Reading, will run from July 9 through July 20. Both are for secondary teachers.

Mrs. C. G. Enterline, associate professor of English here, will be director of the workshops.

Each workshop will carry two hours of credit. A third credit may be earned through successful completion of a special project.

Special instructors for the workshops will be:

Dr. Grace B. Cox, chief of Psychological Service, Office of Mental Health, Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare.

Dr. Raymond Stine, reading specialist, Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction.

Mrs. Kathryn A. Kline, director of reading services, Developmental Reading Program, Reading High School, and teacher of developmental reading classes for high school and college students at Albright College.

Beginning October, 1963, six hours of developmental and remedial reading courses will be required of all junior and senior high school English teachers who teach reading in Pennsylvania.

Special Education July 23-Aug. 3

Workshop director will be Miss Ethel M. B. Wenger, instructor in education at the College.

The course will include the teaching of specific and proven techniques, a film theatre, and field trips. It will carry two hours' credit with an optional third credit possible by completing a special project.

Featured participants in the workshop include:

Dr. Jack Dinger, psychologist and supervisor of special education of the Altoona School District and president of the Pennsylvania Federation of the Council for Exceptional Children.

Mrs. Edna B. Smith, director, Extension Service, The Primary Day School, Inc.

Mrs. Anna Mae Gallagher, a teacher at the Thad Stevens School, Penn Hills.

Dr. Dinger will lecture on a sequential curriculum for special education which he developed for the Altoona Public Schools. Mrs. Smith will present the Phonovisual Method; Mrs. Gallagher will demonstrate the Keyboard Town Story, a method of teaching typewriting to the mentally retarded.

The sessions will be held from 1 to 4 p.m.

Alcohol Studies July 23-Aug. 3

The course, "Alcohol Problems in Modern Society," will include an academic session and the regular session of the PSAS. Two semester hours of college credit will be given. An additional hour

As we see it...Molding Tradition

Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser, who has been around the College since the days when Alpha Hall was the only building on the campus, was visibly touched on Alumni Day when he was given the title "President-Emeritus" by action of the Board of Trustees.

In a very real sense, this action is as much an honor for Elizabethtown College as it is for Dr. Schlosser.

Since the College is still a relatively young institution, it is still in the process of moulding traditions that will serve as guidelines for the decades ahead. Anything, therefore, that contributes to this process has great intrinsic value for the College.

The trustees have honored two men with the title "President-Emeritus": Dr. Schlosser and Dr. A. C. Baugher, who retired as president last year. Both men have given their lives to Elizabethtown College. Together, they represent more than a century of service to the institution.

The talents, devotion, and philosophies of both men have, over the years, been blended into the process of making Elizabethtown College the unique institution it is today. Thus, they become a permanent part of the tradition of our College. And the College is enriched by their service.

A Worn Cliche

Did you know that for the average college graduate each day spent in class is worth about $240? According to a U. S. Census Bureau report, the average college grad earns $175,000 more than a high school graduate in his lifetime. This comes to $44,000 for each year of college or $240 per day.

Obviously there are countless exceptions to this generalization, but it does point out a stark reality in terms that are interesting to all of us, monetary terms.

Most of us shudder at the thought of college tuitions today and wince when we compare them with the tuitions we paid only a few years ago. Our first thought: "How can they need my money?" Maybe we forget that at the same time professors are shuddering at the thought of comparing their salaries with those being earned by many corporate employees, many of whom hold positions no more responsible or significant.

How many of us think of the hard work we poured into the four year struggle for a degree and then rationalize: "Do we really owe the college anything?" Yet we don't especially relish an outsider's critical comments about our alma mater; and we do want its reputation to improve continually because on the shoulders of that improvement rides the prestige of our own degrees.

And then there's our own little circle. We might be looking for a place to send our youngsters when they reach college age. In fact we realize that they will need an education with greater dimension than our own.

It really isn't simple to divorce ourselves from an institution that was an integral part of us for four years and has not so indirectly remained so ever since.

This leads to the ageless but valid cliche that colleges need alumni support. It also reminds us that Elizabethtown College alumni, as a body, are apparently emerging from a seemingly unproductive status quo. According to Public Relations Director James L. M. Yingst, alumni giving during the current Fourth Annual Giving Fund drive has already almost doubled that of last year.

Confidence is a great thing, especially when it is a two way proposition between a small but growing church related, liberal arts college and its alumni association.

Especially For Alumni...

DR. NORMAN F. REBER
President, Alumni Association

It is fitting that we devote this "swan song" of ours as alumni president to a very important piece of unfinished alumni business. We refer to the fieldhouse which is not yet a reality on the campus.

The fieldhouse first came to our attention at last fall's session of the Alumni Council when this body directed your president to find out the exact status and future plans of the word "Alumni" in the old gymnasium now that this building is being absorbed and will lose its identity in the new Student Union building.

In carrying out this assignment we contacted Dr. Roy E. McAuley, our college president, and received the assurance that the more than $38,000 contributed by many alumni for an Alumni Memorial Fieldhouse is not forgotten, but kept in a separate account of the College.

President McAuley also stated that the sum will be used for construction of the fieldhouse when it becomes a reality. As to the alumni name, it will be carried on the old gymnasium until the fieldhouse is constructed, the president assured us.

The exact wording of the president's assurances appear on page 3 of the 1962 alumni edition of the Elizabethtown College Bulletin. Every alumnus interested in upgrading our offerings to students in the field of physical education should read the president's message, which is entitled, "Fieldhouse Not Forgotten." A copy of this bulletin should be in the hands of all alumni. If it has been mislaid, we suggest writing to Clarence Enterline, Alumni Secretary, for a copy.

To get the complete picture of alumni effort from away back we felt it would also be worthwhile to get the amount that was contributed by alumni for the old gymnasium built in 1927, a generation or more ago. The President of the College is in the process of investigating all the facts in this connection and will inform the alumni at a later date.

It is sufficient to say here that those alumni of a generation ago were very active in making the old gymnasium a reality. The old minute book indicates that the alumni took the initiative in raising money for this endeavor.

Now as to the Alumni Memorial Fieldhouse Fund, as nearly as we can determine, it was started back in 1948. The fund grew to something like $32,000 when it was turned over to the college. The sum has since grown to more than $38,000.

At one time the fieldhouse was third on the list of projects for campus development. Since then various other buildings have been constructed. At the present other building projects are on the boards, but there is currently no indication of their order of priority. The alumni are certainly interested in having proper consideration given to the fieldhouse project.

In this connection your See REBER—

CAST BREAD RETURNS

On June 2, Alumni Day, friends honored Dr. and Mrs. Schlosser at luncheon. Tangible evidence of appreciation of their years of work, instruction, sacrifice, and service was shown in orchid, alumni chair, book of memoirs, professional citation, and portrait.

Words of praise hailed Dr. Schlosser as a teacher, parent, professor, president, Christian statesman. Frequent reference was made to the work of Dr. and Mrs. Schlosser during the "lean years" of the college. Not only was praise evident at this honors luncheon, but also a depth of sincerity, a togetherness, a warmth of fellowship which suggested reverence and respect. In this setting we see a message for alumni and friends of Elizabethtown College.

It is said that the real test of a personality lies in the behavior pattern of one under stress. The walk through a farmer's field to approach a father about his son's educational welfare or a visit to industry to collect funds for the college attest to broad concerns.

These approaches were difficult because they were made during the depression years. These were not only lean years but also stressful years for the college and the family. The implication here is that alumni and friends who are interested in the perpetuation of Christian higher education must work with unflagging zeal and sacrifice to bring an idea into fruition.

Although an "institution is the lengthened shadow of one man," the development rests on more than one man over a long period of time. This calls for alumni and all kinds of supporters to build on the foundations previously laid. This makes for continuity. Herein is a task involving public and alumni relations.

An alumni association can do much to encourage the spirit of building and in developing and maintaining a zeal among its members. It is important, however, that zeal be directed toward a common goal; it is important, too, that the spirit be unified rather than divided. For this reason communication of master plans, "next steps," and needs on the part of the administration to alumni gives focus to vision.

Communication on the part of alumni as individuals, as chapters, as a larger association in terms of pledged support of projected goals strengthen relationships. Here we have a togetherness not merely for a particular occasion, moment, or event, but for the long pull which translates hopes into reality.

Fortunately, Dr. and Mrs. Schlosser have lived long enough to see some of their fondest hopes and dreams become realities. Enriching and satisfying it is also for those who have had the faith in projecting an institution of Christian higher education. Orchids and alumni chairs are for a day. Work and sacrifices made sincerely over the years come in satisfactions as bread cast upon the waters, returning in many days.

SPECIAL REPORT

Publications, Chapters, Fieldhouse Chief Topics At Council Meeting

BY C. G. ENTERLINE

Ed. Note—In keeping with the action taken a year ago that the council summarize the proceedings of its meetings, the alumni secretary hereby submits a brief report of the June meeting.

The Alumni Council met at the residence of Professor Edgar T. Bitting on Friday evening, June 2 at 7:30. Members present were Shirley Uhazie, Edwin Boll, Dr. Benjamin Musser, Dr. Ralph Weirich, Prof. Edgar T. Bitting, Charlotte G. Garman, Dr. Norman F. Reber, and Jean R. Moyer.

Also present was James L. Yeingst, public relations director of the college, and C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary. Absent but accounted for were Anne Lucille Snowden, Donald E. Ruhl, Margaret Rose Lehman, and Carlos Ray Zeigler.

President Reber opened the meeting and C. G. Enterline gave the invocation. Prof. Bitting reported on Alumni Day activities. Dr. Weirich reported on the results of the election: president, Edgar T. Bitting, '50; vice president, Hiram Frysinger, '29; male council member, D. Paul Rice, '55; female council member, Beulah (Barnthouse) Ebersole, '49; alumni trustee, Jay H. Eshelman, '32; secretary, Elsie (Ziegler) Kilhefner, '33.

Among the suggestions made by the public relations committee and the council as a whole were the following:

1. The public relations committee serve as an editorial board in the preparation of Alumni Magazine and the alumni edition of the Etowanian.

2. The alumni association reach underclassmen more effectively through chapters in which college students reside; make more of a ceremony for enrollees who are admitted to college.

3. Alumni secretary send lists to graduates to the local chapters.

4. The public relations committee evaluate the Alumni Magazine and The Etowanian as a whole and separate items such as the "President's Column," the "Secretary's Angle" and the like.

5. Supply more campus information in the alumni edition of the Etowanian.

Mrs. Garman, as chairman of the sub-committee on Public Relations, reported on student loans. She indicated that accommodation endorsers for needy seniors were difficult to find. However, Mrs. Garman did report that she had a confidential list of prospects from Lancaster County.

Under new business, Dr. Reber called attention to President Roy McAuley's article, "Field House

"Not Forgotten" in the Alumni Magazine, 1962. In discussion, the point was made that alumni would appreciate knowing the sequence of building construction if not the timing of construction of buildings. A question arose, too, whether alumni who were "sports-minded" held a keener interest in a field-house than others.

Council passed a motion that a committee be appointed to seek out the possibility of meeting with the college board of trustees to review college needs and to determine the sequence of buildings to be constructed. Instructions on procedure are to be received at the next council meeting.

Council also approved the suggestion that alumni trustees be encouraged to attend the council meetings so that they be in a better position to communicate effectively on the college board.

The council encouraged the alumni secretary to form new or activate old chapters. Areas to be considered are Washington, D. C., Schuylkill Valley, New Jersey (northern and southern divisions), Cumberland Valley.

Among the suggestions for Chapters to act on are:

- E. Chapters sponsor bus loads of alumni who have not seen the campus for ten years.

2. Chapters send representatives to special campus activities; campus views, on orientation activities and plays.

3. Chapters send biographical sketches of distinguished alumni in their area to alumni office.

The alumni secretary announced the meeting of the Juniata Valley Chapter at McAlister's on July 8. A vote of thanks was given the retiring president Reber.

Dr. Reber turned the meeting over to the new president, Professor Bitting. He pledged his untiring effort for the good of the Association and asked for council's support and cooperation.

Meeting adjourned at 9:00 p.m.

WORKSHOPS

Dean of the school is Dr. Roy E. McAuley, president of Elizabethtown College. Chairman of the Pennsylvania Council on Alcohol Education is the Rev. George I. Evans, Jr., executive secretary of the division of social relations, Pennsylvania Council of Churches.

Participating faculty for the course will include the following:

Dr. Joseph Alestein, director of the Bureau of Community Mental Health, Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare.

Dr. Russell E. Youngberg, associate director of the Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in the Reading Hospital.

Dr. Frank W. Young, assistant professor, Department of Anthropology, University of Pittsburgh.

Dr. John Pasquitti, director of alcohol education, Department of Public Instruction, State of Vermont.

Founded in 1945, the Pennsylvania School of Alcohol Studies lists as one of its purposes, "to contribute to the general welfare of society by helping individuals and groups to understand more fully the nature of human problems relating to the use of alcoholic beverages."

The course will carry credit for teacher's certification at Elizabethtown College.

Spring Teams End A 19-17; Year's Slate Is 57-45-1

Elizabethtown College closed out its spring sports docket May 26 when the baseball team picked up a 3-1 victory and the tennis team dropped a 6-3 decision at Albright.

In so doing the Blue Jay baseball nine snapped a three-game losing streak and posted a 13-5 mark on the season. Coach Don Smith's netmen merely ended their misery at ten successive losses to finish at 1-10.

Coupled with the women's tennis squad, whose season was completed earlier at 5-2, the College's spring athletes racked up 19 victories and 17 defeats.

With a winter log of 19 and 19 and a fall composite of 19 wins, nine losses, and one tie Elizabethtown shows a total of 57 victories, 45 defeats, and one tie for the academic term.

Besides baseball, the winning margin was fortified by the successful seasons of the soccer (8-1-1), field hockey (8-0), and basketball (14-6) teams.

Coach Owen Wright's baseball crew, which had a nine-game winning streak going in the core of the season, saw its luck wear thin at the campaign's end.

The Jays were bounced out of the northern division championship in the Middle Atlantic Conference by Moravian and shortly after were outdistanced for District 30 honors in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics by California (Pa.) State College.

John Sufel, a freshman right-hander from Millerstown, paced the Jay mound corps with four wins in five decisions. Gene Marderness, Reamstown sophomore, and Ray Diener, Fredericksburg junior, finished with identical 4-2 seasons.

Alumni Council meeting on June 1, 1962, unanimously passed a motion to have a committee consisting of representatives of the Alumni Council, the Administration, and the Board of Trustees sit down together, examine overall College needs, determine where the fieldhouse fits into these needs, and fix a new priority. President McAuley has indicated that Alumni should not only have a voice in this particular matter but on all matters of campus development.

Such consultation and cooperation could lead to a great new era in E.C. college-alumni relations. This should challenge alumni to greater efforts and interest in their college. We have good reason to believe that alumni will play a more significant role in policy making and planning.

We believe alumni have to earn this right and privilege by giving much greater support than we have in the past. We are on the way, for giving to the Alumni Fund was significantly higher this year. The figure is now $14,104.01.

In fairness to the present situation, the Student Union Building going up on the campus will provide some of the physical education facilities needed. Among these important features are a swimming pool, bowling alleys, and men's and women's locker rooms. This is all to the good.

However, we alumni cannot forget the people in whose memory the Memorial Fieldhouse was to be built. We have a pledge to keep with those who have already contributed in their memory and for the betterment of physical education facilities at the College. We have a national physical fitness program to support. We have unfinished business on our hands. Let's press on with it and get the job done!

Jan. 3, 1931 — First meeting of Faculty Club. Held at home of Rebekah Sheaffer at Bareville. Dr. Schlosser, speaker.

By FISKE MARTIN

All good things must come to an end. So this year's record books will soon be gathering dust in a far corner of the athletic department.

Even though this was perhaps the most successful year in the athletic history of the school, it will soon be forgotten by all but a few of us.

The faces of a new college generation will neither care nor want to hear about the performers of '61-'62.

Like everything else, they will have new teams, new stars, and new records. Why should they care about us?

You know, they're right.

Why should they care about the teams before or after them? No matter what the records, no teams will be as good, no games more exciting, no nothing more nothing, than during each student's own college days.

We know that no teams will ever compare with the Jays that we've cheered for in our own college career.

As the years go by, our defeats will be forgotten and only the victories will remain clear in our memories.

And, when we tell the story of '61-'62, gradually the facts will become entangled with a varying degree of spicy fiction.

But, that's all right too. Building up our college teams is as much a part of American life as is the hot dog or the peanut butter and jelly sandwich.

Yes, we'll remember this year for many reasons.

We'll remember the soccer game against Bucknell. Anyone who was there couldn't forget it.

What a day that was! The student body became one monstrous voice somewhere around 12:30 at Ober Hall, and didn't stop yelling until 4:30 in the middle of the town square. It will take a great effort by some future group to match that exhibition of spirit.

What about the basketball game at Millersville? It took a '61-'62 boy to pull that one out.

We'll remember the night when Barry Boyer stood staring at the floor as the fans heard how he had become the fifth person in Jay history to score 1,000 points.

Dame Fortune was on our side in most cases this year. Why, only this spring, after receiving almost no space in the Harrisburg papers all year, one of the Jays almost took up the whole sports page.

This year has been a good one—and next year looks like it might be an even better one. But no matter how good this year's teams were, in five years, only we will remember them.

We'll always remember our Jays. We'll be proud when we open our yearbooks and reminisce in the years ahead.

Oh, yes, we'll always want the Jays to win—always hope they're number one in all the standings, but it can't be the same as when our boys were playing.

We laughed and cheered in the winning moments—we suffered through the losses—we were truly a part of them.

Al Hershey, Nine Others Cited On M.A.C. All-Division Team

Virtually every regular on the Elizabethtown College baseball squad was honored this month when the Middle Atlantic Conference announced its All-Northern College Division Baseball Team.

In addition to placing four men on the first team, three on the second, and three in the honorable mention category, the Jay ace second baseman, Al Hershey, Gordonville sophomore, was named the Division's most valuable player.

Representing Coach Wright's nine on the first team are two pitchers, Ray Diener, of Fredericksburg, and Gene Marderness, Reamstown. Hershey got an infield berth and Fred Seltzer, Annville, was named to the outfield.

Catcher Gerry Botdorf, Millerstown; Shortstop Bob Teufel, Elizabethtown; and Outfielder Ben Wenger, Quarryville, were named to the second team.

Blue Jays receiving honorable mention include Pitchers John Sufel, Millerstown and Tom McGlaughlin, McClure, and Outfielder Bob Deitrich, Elizabethtown. McGlaughlin, who threw a no-hitter against Lycoming, also played several infield positions.

Hershey was the offensive leader of the team that finished second to Moravian in the Northern Division with a 13-2 mark. His MAC statistics include 22 hits, 25 runs, 19 stolen bases, 13 bases on balls, and three doubles, all team highs. He hit .387 in the Division.

Seltzer, the team batting leader a year ago, slumped to .295 this year in the MAC, but he was one of the Jays' most consistent hitters in all departments.

Wenger and Teufel were also among the team's best stickmen. Both hit .323 over the whole season; Wenger hit .400 in the MAC and had 20 RBI; Teufel had a MAC batting mark of .377.

Diener, who was 4-2 overall (4-1 in the MAC), continued to rack up strikeouts at a record pace. The big lefthander added 93 in 56-2/3 innings pitched to hike his three year strikeout total to 264 in 172-2/3 innings.

Marderness was 4-0 in the Conference and 4-2 in all games. His MAC earned run average of 1.70 was .01 point above Diener's.

Alumni Beaten By 1-0 Margin

A successful squeeze play in the bottom of the seventh inning spelled victory for the Blue Jay baseball nine over a stubborn alumni team in a closely contested pitchers' duel on Alumni Day.

The game's lone run was pushed across in game-ending fashion when Jeff Bensing squeezed in the run after a single and two walks had filled the bases.

Sheldon Dent, '59, the second of two alumni hurlers, was touched for the run and took the loss. Glen (Cannonball) Crum, '59, hurled the early innings for the alumni.

Going the route and receiving the shutout victory was Fred Seltzer, normally an outfielder. He held the Alumni to five hits, three of which were pounded out by Dent.

Other members of the Alumni lineup included Carroll Hershey, '61; Harvey Jacobs, '55; Bill Pensyl, '60; Warner Cheeks, '61; Ken Fasick, '61; Don Witman, '58; and John Glazier, '61.

Eight Faculty Members Gain Promotions For Next Term

Eight members of the Elizabethtown College faculty have received promotions in academic rank, Pres. Roy E. McAuley announced this week.

Those promoted include Dr. Donald R. Vosburgh, head of the sociology department, who was promoted from associate professor to professor; Irvin L. Bossler, head of the mathematics department, from assistant professor to associate professor; Mrs. Austin H. Fellenbaum, of the education department, from assistant professor to associate professor.

Dr. Carl W. Zeigler, of the bible and philosophy department, from assistant professor to associate professor; Patricia J. Barr, of the mathematics department, from instructor to assistant professor; R. Bruce Lehr, of the sociology department from instructor to assistant professor; David P. Willoughby, of the music department, from instructor to assistant professor; and Norman L. Wykoff, of the mathematics department, from instructor to assistant professor.

Dr. Vosburgh, also the director of summer sessions, joined the faculty of Elizabethtown College in 1958. He holds degrees from Utica College of Syracuse University (A.B., 1951), and Syracuse University (M.A., 1953; D.S.S., 1958).

Bossler joined the staff in 1959. He holds degrees from Hanover College, Indiana, (A.B.) and the University of Louisville (M.A.).

Purdue University (M.S., 1951). Mrs. Fellenbaum became a member of the staff in 1957. She received degrees from Gettysburg College (A.B., 1921) and Johns Hopkins University (M.A., 1957).

Dr. Zeigler has been teaching here since 1959. He holds degrees from Elizabethtown College (A.B., 1931; D.D. honorary, 1951), and The United Theological Seminary (B.D., 1947).

Miss Barr joined the faculty here in 1961. She is a graduate of The Pennsylvania State University (B.S., 1957; M.S., 1962).

Lehr joined the staff in 1961. He holds degrees from Bucknell University (A.B., 1955) and Mexico City College (M.A., 1960).

Willoughby has been a member of the faculty here since 1960. He is a graduate of Lebanon Valley College (B.S., 1955) and Miami University, Ohio (M.M., 1959).

Wykoff joined the staff in 1961. He holds degrees from Hanover College, Indiana, (A.B.) and the University of Louisville (M.A.).

Nine ECAP Teachers, Thirty Others To Get Orientation Here

American teachers selected to work in Africa will undergo a period of orientation by the African-American Institute at Elizabethtown College, August 5 to 14.

Included in the 30 to 40 teachers will be the first nine to be selected as part of the Elizabethtown College African Program (ECAP). Following the orientation program, the teachers will go immediately to New York enroute to various African countries, including Ghana, Nigeria, Sierra Leone, Ginea, and Tanganyika.

In addition to the teachers selected as part of ECAP, others from colleges and universities in various parts of the United States will be briefed on customs and social conditions in Africa. The orientation will be conducted by personnel of the American-African Institute and diplomatic officials of the African nations involved.

ECAP, a project of Elizabethtown College and the Hershey Chocolate Corporation, is designed to procure teachers for service in Ghana and Nigeria.

Church Sponsors Workshops Here

Three special, week-long programs sponsored by the Eastern Region of the Church of the Brethren will be held at Elizabethtown College in August.

An accredited laboratory school for church school youth workers and a workshop for adult leaders will be conducted August 5 to 11.

Dean of the laboratory school will be the Rev. Glenn H. Bowley, Johnstown; executive secretary of the Western District of the Church of the Brethren. Associate dean will be Mrs. Charles E. Weaver, Manheim, eastern regional director of children's work.

A summer extension school, sponsored in cooperation with the Bethany Theological Seminary, Chicago, will be held on the campus August 6 to 11.

This program is part of the Eastern Region's in-service training for ministers and lay church leaders.

Course instructors will be Dr. Graydon F. Snyder and Dr. Donald E. Miller, both of Bethany Seminary.

Registration for the laboratory school and the adult workshop will begin at 1:30 p.m., August 5. Extension school students will register at 7 a.m., August 6.

Music Department Seeks Instruments

The Music Department of the College is seeking instruments to be used as part of the expanded program in music education to be initiated this fall.

Prof. David P. Willoughby reports the need of almost all band or orchestral instruments "from drums to piccolos."

Specifically, here's what's needed: flutes (2), clarinets (5), alto saxophones (2), bass horns (2), violas (4), cellos (4), string bass (1), bass clarinet (1), snare drums (3), trumpets or cornets (5), trombones (3), violins (5), oboes (2), tenor saxophones (2), baritone saxophones (1), bassoons (1), and French horns (2).

Nine New Members Join College Staff

Nine new faculty members have joined the staff at Elizabethtown College for the 1962-63 term, according to Pres. Roy E. McAuley.

Four will take the place of departing members of the faculty. The others will fill new positions, Dr. McAuley stated.

Former President D. C. Reber Dies

Dr. Daniel C. Reber, former president of Elizabethtown College, died July 10 at the age of 90. He had been hospitalized ten days prior to his death.

Dr. Reber, president of the College from 1903-04 and 1909-18, received the honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree during Commencement exercises here in 1957. He resided in North Manchester, Ind.

His educational background included degrees from Juniata College (A.B.), Ursinus College (A.M.), and New York University (P.D.).

Survivors include three children: Mrs. Ralph Paetz, Minneapolis, Minn.; Paul Reber, Warsaw, Ind.; and James Reber, Chevy Chase, Md. Dr. Reber was an uncle to Dr. Norman Reber, last year's president of the College's Alumni Association.

Plan Eight New Alumni Chapters

Plans are underway for the organization of eight new alumni chapters, according to C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary.

Various members of the alumni association in areas now having a relatively large concentration of Elizabethtown College alumni are being contacted.

Should all eight chapters materialize, it would bring to 16 the number of chapters in operation.

The tentative chapters and the approximate number of alumni in those areas include Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton (Lehigh Valley), 43; Cumberland Valley, 114; Schuylkill (Reading), 81; Johnstown-Pittsburgh, 75; Northern New Jersey, 65; Southern New Jersey, 130; Washington, D.C., 117; and Altoona-State College, 40.

Existing chapters include Baltimore, Boston, Harrisburg, Juniata, Lancaster, Lebanon, Philadelphia and York.

1962-63 Cultural Programs To Offer Music And Drama

Music, drama, and academic lectures highlight the series of Community Cultural Programs to be presented by the College during the coming academic year.

Major attractions include a recital by the famed Curtis String Quartet (Oct. 11), a performance of "The Importance of Being Earnest" by the Cleveland Playhouse (Nov. 3), and a concert by the Vienna Choir Boys (March 21).

Lectures scheduled to appear on campus during the year include Dr. Jesse Brown, theologian (Oct. 24-25); Hon. R. S. Garfield Todd, specialist in Afican Affairs (March 25-26); and Dr. George Buttrick, theologian (April 24-25).

Dr. Carl Shull, chairman of the College's Lyceum Committee, indicated that one or more other programs are under consideration. Other members of the committee arranging the programs are Dr. Henry Hood, Mrs. C. G. Enterline, Prof. Henry Libhart, and Prof. J. L. M. Yeingst.

Students are admitted to all Cultural Programs by presentation of their identification card. Alumni are invited to attend whenever possible.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS*Especially For Alumni . . .

EDGAR T. BITTING
President, Alumni Association

It doesn't seem appropriate for your Alumni Association president to begin his first letter to the membership with a pitch about money. However, this is the thought foremost in his mind as the 4th Annual Giving Fund campaign is drawing to a close.

Before me is a letter from the committee responsible for carrying on this important campaign. You have received an identical letter stating that you have set a record in this 4th campaign by contributing over $14,000 as of June 16. This is an excellent achievement and you are to be commended.

The report by classes which was contained with the above-mentioned letter shows that the latter classes could do much to have the 4th Annual Giving double the giving in any previous campaign. I find that the post war classes have the lowest participation, with 7 of the classes in the 50's having less than 10% participation.

I sharpen my pencil and note that 10 classes x 100 class members equals 1,000 potential gifts. The facts show that an average of about 10% of these members gave; that leaves 90% or 900 persons who could help us really set a record. If just half these 900 gave $5, we could boast that we more than doubled any previous year's record.

So I encourage all you members who have not contributed to do so—no matter how small the amount. And don't forget to come back to campus and see the many places where those dollars are going.

From The Secretary's Angle

HARVEST

The approach of August reminds us of the quotation, "The harvest is past, the summer is ended . . .". The close of the academic year and varied alumni activities indicate a veritable harvest. Reflection on the past reveals accomplishments.

There has been a real harvest of good-will in gatherings, fellowships, and meetings from alumni and friends at Ocean Grove, N. J., to the latest alumni gathering, Juniata Valley Chapter at McAlister, Pennsylvania.

Local associations are reaching an increasingly larger number of alumni. The honors luncheon, Homecoming Day, and Alumni Day appeal to the younger and the older alumnus.

Almost every class was represented on campus in May on Alumni Day. Visits to the campus on the part of alumni and friends enlarge the sense of appreciation, meaning, and purposes of Elizabethtown College.

Through the ETOWNIAN, alumni BULLETIN, alumni DIRECTORY, and literature and brochures from the public relations office, there comes a flood of information, suggestions, appeals, and ideas. Readership of alumni materials is increasing. Communication is at a new height. Response to the fourth

As we see it . . .Student Union Center
Shaping Up For Fall

One of the fringe benefits accruing to members of the College's faculty and staff is the pleasure of being constantly on the scene, seeing the College grow, feeling the throbbing development of the campus, watching new buildings take form.

This is especially apparent in these weeks when two new buildings — a dormitory for women and a student union center — are in their final stages of construction.

In taking a walk through the student union building these days one must be careful to avoid odd pieces of building material, fresh cement or wet paint in the long corridors. Persons taking a tour of the building invariably comment on the big cleanup needed when the workmen are finally finished.

But the building has taken form; it is no longer a series of rather meaningless lines on a tablet of blueprints.

One can now walk through the huge rooms that will become conference centers, or lounges, or a snack bar this fall. The lay out of the room that will be the campus post office with all students' mailboxes is apparent.

The space for four bowling lanes has been readied for the laying of the alleys and the installation of pin setters.

Shuffle boards have been marked off in a huge games room on the second floor. A publications room for preparation of the ETOWNIAN and CONESTOGAN is ready for final touches. A darkroom is nearby.

Adjoining the publications room on the second floor will be the campus radio station. The extra power lines needed for the station have been installed.

A walk down the hall of the first or second floor brings one to the huge swimming pool, where tile is now being placed. This is, perhaps, the most impressive portion of the building, especially if viewed from the second floor overlooking the pool.

And alumni coming back to campus for Homecoming Day, October 20, will probably say in all honesty, "Boy, the old place sure has changed since I was here."

In fact, the addition of a new dorm and the facilities of the student union building will bring changes that will be evident even for those students who left here in early June.

Things have been happening here this summer.

Federal Placement For College Grads?

If there was ever any doubt concerning the need for college-trained personnel in the American economic structure, it should be erased by a story in a recent issue of the magazine, Nation's Business.

The story concerns a plan whereby the Federal Government would take over the job of placing college graduates through the U.S. Employment Service.

Should the plan become fact, the Government would (1) register graduating classes, (2) make available information on job opportunities without identifying employers, (3) station a staff member at the college before graduation to arrange for recruitment and impart information on the labor market, (4) assign a staff member on a year-round basis, if warranted, and (5) handle placement activity for the college in the local employment office.

To quote the magazine:

"Many educators and employers consider the expansion of college graduate placement not only a threat to institutionally supported placement offices, but also as having long-range implications of federal control of employment of professional and non-professional personnel."

WHITHER BOUND

Class of 1962

Of interest to the college administration, placement office, faculty and friends is the final job location of each member of the graduating class. As far as the placement office has been able to determine, most all of the graduates have accepted positions or are pursuing higher education degrees in a number of institutions.

Approximately 20 percent of the members of the class of 1962 will be enrolled in graduate work or divinity schools. Of interest, too, is the fact that the number of men and women pursuing graduate work are about equally divided. Many of the teachers will be enrolled in graduate schools also as they pursue courses for permanent certification.

Sidelights On Alumni Day

By C. G. ENTERLINE

On the basis of registrations on Alumni Day, June 2, we gather the following information:

1. Every class, beginning with 1905, was represented on Alumni Day except the years '44, '42, '36, '20, '19, and '18.

2. The classes with largest representation were '59 and '37.

3. The second largest representation in numbers was the class of 1924.

4. Two classes tied for third place: class of 1930 and 1935.

5. The classes of the first decade were represented unusually well:

1913—2	1912—2	1911—2
1910—1	1909—3	1908—1
1907—3	1906—1	1905—2

6. Among the comments appearing on the registration forms were these:

a. "Happy to be here; improvements wonderful!" — Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Cashman, '14, 1801 Orange Avenue, Eustis, Florida.

b. "Let's have more honors luncheons" — Louise K. Knight, Linwood, Maryland.

c. "I am 84 years of age. I have always enjoyed Mr. Schlosser's talks." — Graybill Minnick, Neffsville Home.

d. "It's always good to be back. Everything is most enjoyable." — Pearl M. (Brock) Risser, '40, Baltimore, Maryland.

e. "Very wonderful — I enjoyed every minute" — Mrs. S. Margaret McSparran Long, '25, Lancaster, Penna.

7. Alumni reported from New York, Florida, and California and points between.

The exhibits — art and wood carving — were an excellent attraction. Alumni with hobbies or skills of any kind which can be appropriately displayed are encouraged to contact the alumni secretary. The Alumni Day Committee is looking for ideas for an exhibit. The association has featured exhibits of some kind for a number of years and would like to continue attractive exhibits.

The Public Relations Committee has been honoring individuals with an alumni chair annually. This year Mrs. Ralph W. Schlosser received the chair. No sharply defined criteria determine who should receive a chair. Sometimes alumni outside the Public Relations Committee have suggestions. Send your suggestions to the alumni secretary.

Alumni Luncheon At Ocean Grove Attended By 170

Some 170 alumni and friends attended the alumni luncheon held at the Seaside Inn in Ocean Grove, New Jersey, June 23, during the Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren.

A brief and informal program featured commentary on the Jones Report on the College by Pres. Roy E. McAuley. The report was compiled as a result of a comprehensive study of Elizabethtown College made during the past academic term by Dr. Thomas Jones, administrative consultant for the American Association of College and Universities.

Also participating in the program were the Rev. Noah S. Sellers, vice chairman of the Board of Trustees, who pronounced the invocation; the Rev. Kenneth Miller, '57, who led the singing of the alma mater; and C. G. Enterline, alumni secretary, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Plans for the luncheon were made by Enterline; James L. M. Yeingst, director of public relations; and Robert S. Young, administrative assistant.

Fourteen Students Accepted Under Acceleration Program

Elizabethtown College will initiate this fall a program under which carefully selected students will move directly from their junior year in high school to the freshman year in college.

Fourteen students have been selected to launch the program in September. They were screened from forty original applicants representing thirty-five high schools. Most of the applicants came from the four counties constituting the College's prime service area: Lancaster, Lebanon, York, and Dauphin.

The program is designed to allow qualified students to progress educationally according to their own outstanding academic abilities.

Dr. Jacob E. Hershman, dean of the College, stated: "The students who will enroll as freshmen under this acceleration program have been carefully selected on the bases of academic ability, social maturation, and desire to participate in the project."

"In making the selections, we gave heavy consideration to the recommendations of the various high school principals and guidance counselors. The complete approval of the parents is an integral part of the program."

Dr. Hershman added that the quality of all the applicants screened during the selection process reflects credit upon the school systems which produced students of such high calibre.

D. Paul Greene, director of admissions at the College, termed the response to the project "terrific, especially in light of the fact that we did not solicit the students. They made the first move in contacting us."

The selection process included a battery of tests, review of the students' academic records, and extensive interviews with the applicants, parents, and high school officials.

The fourteen students starting college this fall will remain anonymous in relation to other first-year students.

"We don't want to single out these students," Dean Hershman commented. "We want them to be a normal part of the educational and social processes here."

The fourteen selectees will enroll for a variety of course programs, ranging from the sciences to the liberal arts.

Dr. Hershman explained that the program was undertaken by Elizabethtown College as a service to high schools and to the exceptional student who wants to progress educationally at a faster pace.

Pensyl & Boyer, Ex-Jays, Rivals Next Season

Bill Pensyl, who ranks as one of the top basketball players ever to represent Elizabethtown College, was named head basketball coach at Bangor, Pa., High School recently.

He joins another EC alumnus, Barry Boyer, '62, in the Lehigh-Northampton League. Boyer, who led the Jays in scoring last year, recently signed as coach at Nazareth, Pa., High School, where Blue Jay Coach Don Smith served prior to coming here.

Pensyl, who was graduated here in 1960, won little All-America honors during his days with the Blue Jay court squads. He formerly taught at Middlebury, Pa., High School, where he was assistant court coach for the past two seasons.

Dr. Eshleman Joins College Trustee Board

Dr. Jay H. Eshleman, first vice president of the American Dental Association, has been elected to the Board of Trustees of Elizabethtown College by the College's Alumni Association.

A member of the Class of 1932, he will begin a two-year term on the Board on January 1, 1963.

Dr. Eshleman was recently named president-elect of the Pennsylvania Dental Association. He has practiced dentistry in Philadelphia since 1934.

A native of Elizabethtown, he graduated from the Temple University Dental School in 1934 and has been a lecturer there since 1948. He also attended the University of Michigan as a post graduate.

Since 1958 he has traveled widely as a lecturer in the United States and Canada speaking to local, state, and national dental associations on dental care and dental practice administration.

Elizabethtown College honored him with an alumni citation in 1954. He received the honorary degree, Doctor of Science, from the College in 1956.

Meet The New President...

Ed. Note—Edgar T. Bitting, '50, assumed duties as new president of the Alumni Association in June. For those who don't know Prof. Bitting personally, it is hoped that the following biographical brief will serve as an initial introduction.

Edgar T. Bitting was born and reared in Marysville, Pennsylvania, where he attended the public school and received his high school diploma. He was graduated from Elizabethtown College in 1950 and received his master's degree in finance from Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania in 1952. He is now preparing for Certified Public Accountancy. He has worked for Price-Waterhouse & Co., New York City and Pittsburgh, and Fishel, Baskin, and Dinn, Harrisburg.

Prof. Bitting has been teaching accounting and allied subjects at Elizabethtown College since 1952. He is acting head of the Business Department and has the rank of associate professor. He holds membership in American Accounting Association, National Association of Accountants, and Americans for Competitive Enterprise System. He sponsors a program of Society for Advancement of Management on campus.

In spite of intensive activity on campus, he does have time to grow trees in Perry County and play the flute on many occasions. He is first flute player, Harrisburg Symphony. During World War II, he served in the United States Navy as member of the band of the battleship, California. He is also a member of the Harrisburg Consistory orchestra, Tall Cedars Band, and Zembo's Shrine Band.

He married Doris Kopp, member of the class of 1952.

Campus SAM Chapter Gets Commendation

The Elizabethtown College Chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management was commended recently for dynamic leadership and effective organization and planning by the University Division and the Lancaster Senior Chapter of the Society.

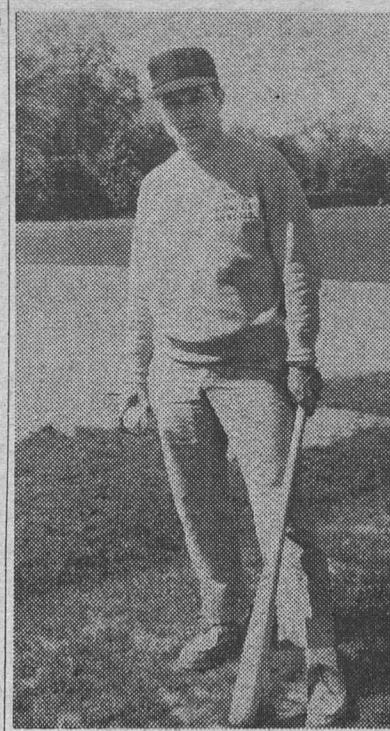

In a letter to Pres. Roy E. McAuley, Harold Fischer, president of the University Division said, "In recognition of their success the Chapter received the Membership Growth Award. This was the result of their outstanding program and the desire on the part of the members to go beyond the classroom in their efforts to 'learn by doing' and thus better prepare themselves for the responsibilities of the business world."

Fischer also paid tribute to Prof. Edgar T. Bitting, head of the business department of the College and advisor of the club, for the inspiration and stimulating leadership which he has provided and which is reflected in the record of the Chapter.

"We are proud to have Elizabethtown College in our International Society," Fischer added.

Campus Prayer

Almighty Father, give us of Wisdom which is deep and true. Grant us the spirit of mind which makes us workers in thy Kingdom. Open our eyes to the challenge of our lives. Never take from our sight the goal which should be our delight. Be with us in times of prosperity, and comfort us in times of despair. This be our prayer one for another. Amen.

David I. Myers

We Salute

Class of '52 Grad Active in Delaware

A member of the Class of '52, David I. Myers, has successfully blended teaching, graduate study, coaching, music, and social service into a full schedule at Claymont, Delaware.

Myers is a teacher of American history and coach of baseball and football at Claymont High School. His baseball squad racked up a record of eight wins, two losses this season, the best in New Castle County and second best in the state of Delaware.

Since leaving the EC campus, Myers has earned a master's degree in guidance and special education at Temple University. He is now working on his doctorate.

Aside from his educational pursuits, Myers has been active in social work. He organized a youth canteen in Claymont four years ago and assisted in organizing a baseball league for youngsters. His squad became state champions the first year they competed.

Working through the local Kiwanis club, of which he is president, Myers initiated a clinic for football coaches which was attended by more than a hundred coaches from Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey.

Under the sponsorship of the local Council of Churches, he conducted a pilot program for religious education for the mentally retarded in Wilmington and New Castle County.

And, to top off his weekly activities, he is a soloist at the Old Swede's Episcopal Church.

S.A.M. Lists Two Speakers

The Society for the Advancement of Management of Elizabethtown College has engaged two prominent men in the field of business to serve as guest speakers during the fall semester of 1962, according to Donald R. Raber, publicity director of the society.

Dr. Harold Fischer, president of the University Division of S. A. M., has consented to speak at the October 2 meeting, which has been scheduled as a social gathering to be held at the home of Pres. Roy E. McAuley.

At the meeting scheduled for November 13, Mr. Edward A. Aff, assistant vice-president of the Federal Reserve Bank in Philadelphia will speak.

Juniata Valley Chapter Holds Annual Picnic

By C. G. ENTERLINE

The Juniata Valley Chapter rung up its tenth consecutive year of alumni meetings on Sunday afternoon, July 8.

Alumni from the Juniata River Valley met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brandt, '24, '22, McAlister, R. D. The setting is just right for an alumni gathering, especially for a picnic. The babbling mountain brook, the assortment of tall mountain oaks, pines, and maples, a covered pavilion, cool breezes, and ample parking space, make a coveted spot for picnickers.

Representation of Elizabethtown College at the meeting was very broad. Mr. and Mrs. Brandt were not only host and hostess, but also are house parents of Ober Hall at the College. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kipp, '28, '31, Newport, are not only parents of an incoming freshman, James E. Kipp, but represent a second generation of "E.C. ers."

Another second generation was represented in Mr. and Mrs. John C. Boone, '22, and daughter, Mrs. M. E. Heggstaller (Laura Mae Boone) '53, Logan-ton.

Gilbert Rinehart, '64, and Miss Dianna Dick, R.N. '63, represented the student body at Elizabethtown College. Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Enterline represented the alumni office and the instructional staff.

Present also were President and Mrs. Roy E. McAuley. James Buffenmyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luke H. Buffenmyer, Newport, was a visitor from Gettysburg College.

The program featured President Roy E. McAuley who pictured growth on the E. C. campus in enrollment, extension and refinement of the curriculum, facilities and service. C. G. Enterline commented on alumni activities, and Mrs. C. G. Enterline gave a humorous reading, "Run Hamlet Run." Miss Olive Jameson reported on the chapter officers meeting which was held on the campus early in the school year.

President Mervin Mensch, Middleburg, presided, assisted by Mrs. John Tennis, the secretary. Officers for 1962-63 are:

President, Mrs. Earl S. Kipp, '31
R. D. #1, Newport

Vice President, Rev. Luke H. Buffenmyer, '37
35 N. Third Street, Newport

Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. John Tennis, '27
R. D., McAlister

Juniata Valley Chapter plans to meet at Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brandt's residence, McAlister, the first Sunday in July, 1963.
